LATEST AIRLINE
STRIKE DEADLINE
PASSES WITH NO
SIGN OF ACCORD

Carriers Had Set Time Limit — Goldberg Hoping to Bring Last Holdout, Western, Into Line.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The latest deadline for settlement of the flight engineers' airline strike passed today with no immediate sign of an agreement.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg had arranged a two-hour delay in the hope that by that time Western Air Lines could be brought into line for ending the strike. Western was the last holdout and the engineers' union, whose walkout has caused the worst air traffic tie-up in history, was adamantly refusing to send its men back to work without the Pacific coast operator in the picture.

The Labor Secretary had an appointment at the new deadline to report to President Kennedy on settlement efforts.

But an hour after that time he still had not left the Labor Department, a fact that led to speculation on a late hitch in the program.

All the strike-bound airlines except Western, a Pacific Coast operator, had agreed to temporary settlement terms.

Western, however, had announced discharge of its striking flight engineers and plans to replace them with pilots.

The other affected carriers had said they would pull out of the settlement unless the men were ready to go back to work at noon.

Industry Agrees.
White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger announced that Goldberg had won an agreement from the industry for an extension of the deadline. At the time of his announcement, Salinger said Goldberg was attempting to reach the president of Western Airlines by telephone in an effort to persuade Western to go along with the other companies.

Salinger said it was his understanding that if Western were to make such a commitment, the strike could be settled swiftly.

Goldberg had planned a late morning visit to the White House to report to President Kennedy on settlement efforts. That was then put off until after the new deadline.

White House sources said earlier that Mr. Kennedy had been told of the prospect that a settlement could be reached if Western joined in.

Similar to Outline.
The report coincided almost precisely with an outline given by sources in the Flight Engineers International Association.

Mr. Kennedy had been told that a settlement today was practically certain if Western Airlines agreed to let its striking flight engineers go back to work without reprisals while a three-man presidential fact-finding commission, appointed earlier this week, attempted to work out a long-range settlement. That probably would take about 90 days.

Western has fired its 130 striking engineers and has announced it will hire pilots to take their place.

The walkout, which has created the greatest air traffic snarl in history, started last Friday in protest against a ruling by the National Mediation Board that engineers and pilots of

BILL WOULD GIVE COUNTY
AUTHORITY IN 8 FIELDS

Powers Would Supersede Those of Municipalities in Police, Health, Other Services.

A bill sponsored by the St. Louis County Council to give it broad authority superseding the present jurisdiction of county municipalities for eight types of public services has been prepared for introduction in the Legislature, it was announced today.

The measure proposes a Missouri constitutional amendment authorizing the county to have power in any of the following fields if the transfer of authority is approved by a majority of all county voters:

Public health and welfare. Parks and recreation. Police. Traffic, roads and highways. Planning and zoning. Building construction. Garbage and refuse disposal. Public water supply.

Chairman Russell A. Grantham of the council said copies of the bill have been distributed to members of the county's delegation in the Legislature. They are being urged to substitute it for a similar measure now pending in a House committee. The pending bill was introduced by Representative F. Neil Aschmeyer (Dem.), Olivette.

The bill being proposed by the council "is a bipartisan measure, unanimously approved by all members of the council and county supervisor (James H. J.) McNary," Grantham said.

The measure is the keystone of the council's legislative program to obtain authority it believes is needed to provide adequate public services throughout the county, Grantham said. The council can legislate now only for the unincorporated areas. With governmental powers diffused among the 98 county towns, public services now are uncoordinated and vary in quality and kind in various parts of the rapidly-growing county.

Grantham said the council hoped that all nine state Representatives from the county would join in offering the bill as a sub-

MEN BLOWN OUT TO SEA IN A RAFT

SAN NICOLAS ISLAND, Calif., Feb. 23 (UPI)—Four Navy men blown out to sea on a rubber raft were found today by a patrol plane. They were picked up 14 miles from here in good condition by a helicopter.

The seamen, including a would-be rescuer, were blown out to sea yesterday while skin diving 200 yards off this island.

The carrier Ticonderoga, a flotilla of smaller ships and planes joined the search early today. The helicopter was dispatched from the Point Mugu naval station. It picked up the men and ferried them to the carrier. Their names were not disclosed immediately.

BRITAIN OPENS ITS FIRST LEGAL GAMBLING CASINO

LONDON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—Britain's first legal gambling casino was open for business today and night club owners hoped it would blossom into a challenge to the gambling supremacy of Monte Carlo and the French Riviera.

The first of the British casinos to go in operation under the new betting law is in a small salon behind the Mayfair Club on Berkeley square. It is operated by John Mills. He is importing equipment and experienced French croupiers for a large-scale gambling operation scheduled to open in April.

The new British betting law permits games of chance in private homes (membership clubs technically are classed as private homes) providing all players have an equal chance to win. The club cannot operate a bank to collect a share of the betting. Instead gamblers will pay Mills a service charge for the privilege of playing.

COMPLAINT TO KHRUSHCHEV
PUTS DRUNK IN PRISON CELL

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP)—The first prison sentence in Premier Khrushchev's drive against alcoholism was announced yesterday.

Pravda said Alexei Smyrnov, named by Khrushchev in a speech last week, was sentenced to a year and a half in prison for drunkenness. Mrs. Smyrnov complained in a letter to Khrushchev that her husband, a collective farm truck driver, was drunk more often than sober and that he drank up all of the family earnings.

Khrushchev read the letter at a farm meeting and later proposed that Russia establish cure camps for drunks.

East St. Louis Trustee Checking on Alleged Padding — Private Use of Public Garage.

About 40 of the 103 persons on the payroll of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District failed to report to work today, Thomas F. (Skip) Hennessy, a district trustee, said.

Hennessy said he will attempt to dismiss workers who have no valid reason for not showing up. Hennessy and two other trustees, Lawrence E. Tolar and John E. Molla, have charged that the district payroll has been padded with the names of friends and supporters. Of East St. Louis Mayor Alvin G. Fields. Two other trustees aligned with Fields control the district's operations.

Checking for Two Weeks.

In an attempt to prove payroll padding, Hennessy, Tolar and Molla made secret spot checks for the last two weeks of how many men reported to work each morning. They counted an average of about 35 workers a day, they said.

The spot checks were made from parked automobiles and other hiding places. The trustees resorted to binoculars to watch the levee district office and garage in the 2600 block of McCasland avenue, East St. Louis, and two pumping stations. This morning, Hennessy went to the office and garage, and Tolar and Molla went to the pumping stations. The board's Granite City office was checked by another man who is not connected with the board.

By mid-morning, Hennessy reported, about 63 workers had reported. The payroll as of Feb. 1 listed 103 employees. Hennessy said six to eight workers have been added each week recently.

To Continue Watching.

Hennessy said he will spend tomorrow and all of next week as a self-appointed time-checker of district employees. He intends to determine who reports for work and how many hours each man labors.

Hennessy also was critical of the use of the district garage for free storage of privately owned boats. A reporter found six outboard motorboats owned by an East St. Louis firm in the garage, and about 10 other boats of varying sizes owned by private individuals.

The owner of the firm moved his boats when asked to do so by

SENATE UNIT OK'S
TO PAY HALF ON SURPLUS FOOD

Measure Limiting Aid in Program for Jobless to One Year Has Governor's Approval.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23 — A bill proposing that the state share the expense of a surplus food distribution program in Missouri for one year was approved by a Senate committee last night, with the indorsement of Gov. John M. Dalton.

The Senate Committee on Economics and Major Expenditures, after consultation with the Governor, amended the proposal to provide that the cost-sharing program must expire one year after the bill takes effect.

A member of the committee reported that Gov. Dalton said the measure was acceptable to him with the one-year limitation.

Not Convinced of Interest.

"When I talked with the committee member," Dalton said, "I was rather insistent that the bill contain the limitation provision. That makes the bill more palatable to me."

He said he was not convinced that there is statewide interest in surplus food distribution. Only nine counties in the state now operate food distribution programs, including St. Louis county, which is paying the entire cost of its program, he noted. Since the recent unemployment crisis, he said, only five counties have made inquiries about setting up similar programs.

"I realize they have a very acute situation in St. Louis," the Governor continued, but "it is a local problem and St. Louis should assume it. If it cannot, however, then the Legislature should consider aid for the city."

"Spokesmen for St. Louis say this problem is upsetting the city's budget. I told them it is upsetting our budget too."

Gov. Dalton said that if a critical situation should develop in the state after the expiration date of the bill, he would call a special session of the Legislature "to take action in the emergency."

The bill provides that the state share equally with St. Louis and the counties the costs of distributing surplus commodities to needy unemployed persons. Under the original proposal, as introduced by 20 of the Senate's 34 members, the cost-sharing plan would have been set up on a permanent basis without an expiration date.

Some Opposition.

The estimated cost of the distribution program, if St. Louis and all of the state's 114 counties participated, is $967,400 a year. The state's share would be $483,700.

It was reported that there was considerable opposition to the measure in the economics committee when the bill was first considered at a mid-afternoon executive session. Because of the state's fiscal problems, some members expressed the fear that Missouri could not afford the added expense.

The committee then recessed until the Governor could be consulted. Dalton had previously told reporters he was not ready to recommend passage of the measure until he was absolutely sure that it was necessary and that the state had sufficient revenues to share the food distribution costs with the local governments.

Committee members conferred with the Governor, and discussed the plan to limit the life of the authorization to one year to meet the present recession. The Governor reportedly said that plan was acceptable to him.

Could Be Extended.

The full committee met later and decided, after learning the Governor's views, to approve the measure with the one-year limitation.

Some of the Senators said that if economic conditions worsen after the bill expires, the Governor can call the Legislature into special session to vote additional funds to continue the program. Several expressed the opinion that if unemployment increases substantially, the Federal Government probably will step in and pay the entire costs of food distribution.

The economics committee, headed by Senator John W. Joynot

U.N. ASKS CONGO
LEFTIST TO HALT
REVENGE KILLING

Eight Belgian Soldiers Held by Gizenga Are Reported Alive and Well.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—The United Nations disclosed today a new appeal to leftist leader Antoine Gizenga in Stanleyville to stop political revenge killings in the Congo.

The U.N. released a letter to Gizenga from Rajeshwar Dayal, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's special representative in the Congo, taking note of reports that 16 political prisoners in Stanleyville had been shot in revenge for the killing of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

"I refer in this connection," Dayal said, "not only to all the Congolese political prisoners, but also, and in particular, to the eight Belgian soldiers now imprisoned at Stanleyville, who, it is also alleged, have been or will be executed for the murders committed at Bakwanga."

Refers to Executions.

He referred to six associates of Lumumba who were executed earlier this month at Bakwanga, in south Kasai province.

Hammarskjöld said later he had received assurances from Stanleyville that the eight Belgian soldiers are alive and well treated.

The assurance was contained in a message from Dyal, who said a U.N. representative in Stanleyville talked to a French diplomat who saw Gen. Victor Lundula. The rebel army chief, the diplomat said, gave his word of honor they were alive.

There was no confirmation here or in Leopoldville of rumors

BEER SUPPLY CUT

CALL OFF STRIKE

LONDON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—About 200 striking brewerymen returned to work yesterday because their walkout cut off their own beer supplies.

The strike was called Friday because of the firing of two workmen at the Coope's brewery in Romford, Essex. The workers set up strike headquarters in the New Mill Inn near the brewery. Business boomed as pickets dropped in for a pint or two of mild and bitter.

Then the pubkeeper announced: "Sorry, gentlemen, we've run out of beer. You've drunk it all—and until you go back to work we can't get any more."

Similar announcements were made in pubs all over town. The strikers met, and then announced: "We've decided to return to work immediately."

SNOW - REMOVAL
OUTLAY BY CITY
$199,927 SO FAR

St. Louis has spent $199,927 for removing snow and slush from city streets thus far this winter, Acting Director of Streets Frank Kriz announced today.

A breakdown of the total, prepared by Street Commissioner Charles G. Gilmore, showed that labor cost $122,340; salt, $64,242 and private contractors hired by the city, $13,345.

Kriz said that the city used 4390 tons of bulk salt plus 4000 bags of salt containing 100 pounds each.

"We still have 711 tons of bulk salt and 771 bags of salt on hand," Kriz said. "One good snowfall would wipe that out in a hurry. Let's hope spring is here."

New Under Secretary Among Eight Rescued When Craft Skids Into Bay.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 23 (UPI)—A Navy plane carrying Navy Under Secretary Paul B. Fay crashed into a bay after overrunning an airstrip in an emergency landing at Atlantic City early today. All eight persons aboard were rescued.

With Fay on the twin-engine plane were his wife, Anita, and their 4-year-old daughter. Fay's aide, Comdr. William A. Golden of Falls Church, Va., suffered a broken leg, but there were no other injuries.

Fay was en route from New York to Washington, where he was to be sworn in as Under Secretary of the Navy today.

Harry Patterson, pilot of the Convair R4Y, said the plane lost power and he could not make his destination, the Anacostia Naval Station in Washington. So he headed for the nearest airport, Bader Field at Atlantic City. Fay said Patterson made a good landing, but the runway was slippery from an all-day rain. The plane rolled to the end of the runway and skidded off into the water.

The plane came to rest in about 15 feet of water. About 10 minutes later the six passengers and two crewmen were picked up by a police launch. Later the plane was towed to shore.

Personal Staff Signs Pledge
To Keep Quiet About Kennedys

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—All members of President and Mrs. Kennedy's personal staff have signed documents promising not to sell or tell any details of their relationships with the presidential family, the White House disclosed today.

The news got out indirectly as reporters questioned press secretary Pierre Salinger about reports that Mrs. Kennedy had attempted to hire a cook, Bui Van Han, from the French embassy in London. The White House said this report was inaccurate because, after the inauguration, the President and his wife found the existing White House staff was excellent and no new cook was needed.

Salinger was asked to identify the White House chef who was held over from the Eisenhower Administration. He declined, saying he understood it was traditional not to give out the name of the man so employed. A reporter observed that this anonymity lasted "until a cook or a valet decides to sell his story to a magazine."

Salinger quickly interjected that all members of the personal staff had signed documents since Jan. 20 promising "that they won't sell their stories to magazines or other publications." Those signing the documents included domestic workers at the White House, most of whom are government "civil service employees, and Mrs. Kennedy's three secretaries.

Asked whether the documents covered telling their stories without being paid, Salinger said, "They agreed not to discuss any of their personal relationships with the President or Mrs. Kennedy."

Veteran reporters knew of no parallel in the past for such an agreement.

CALLS FOR BIG

Rejects Policy of 'No New Starts'—Pollution Research, National Park Expansion Among Plans.

(Text on Page 4A)

By THOMAS W. OTTENAD
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—President Kennedy proposed today a far-reaching program designed to accelerate development of the nation's natural resources, backed by expanded research and conservation efforts to see that the needs of future generations are met.

In a 4000-word message to Congress this morning, he outlined a long list of executive orders, legislation and other actions that he said would do the job.

Principal measures included a substantial increase in flood-control programs, expanded research into causes and cures for air and water pollution, increased emphasis on development of hydroelectric power projects, improvement of timberlands, better development of federally-owned lands and expansion of the national park system.

In addition, he said he would send Congress later a proposed program of research in oceanography aimed at greater eventual utilization of sea-borne minerals, foods and other resources.

Co-ordination Sought.

The President said his message was intended to eliminate confusion among national resources policies which, he added, "have overlapped and often conflicted." Lack of co-ordination, he asserted, has resulted in wasteful expenditures and lack of long-range planning.

Administration spokesmen declined to estimate the cost of the programs outlined by the President. They said they viewed his proposals as modest in scope. The emphasis, they said, was on the acceleration of current resource programs in a broad variety of fields rather than on the initiation of new types of undertakings.

Mr. Kennedy rejected a policy of "no new starts" on flood-control projects and said he already has ordered the scheduling, within financial limitations, of "a progressive, orderly program of starting new projects to meet accumulated demands." In last year's presidential campaign, Mr. Kennedy and other Democrats charged that President Eisenhower had adopted a policy of "no new starts" on flood-control developments. The charge was denied by Republicans.

Platform Reflected.

Mr. Kennedy's message reflected in many areas promises contained in the platform adopted by the Democratic party at its national convention last July. Proposals by the President for accelerated construction of dam projects, preparation of comprehensive development plans for major river basins, increased federal aid for construction of sewage treatment facilities and expansion of the park system all followed closely the pattern of party platform planks.

The message indicated that the President already has started some phases of his program. This has been accomplished through executive orders and directives to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and other members of his administration.

The document, the fifth special message Kennedy has sent to Congress since his State of the Union message Jan. 30, concentrated its most extensive recommendations in the field of water resources.

Other Phases.

In addition to his plan for developing a schedule of new flood-control works, the President urged Congress to enact legislation that would:

1. Authorize the creation of planning commissions for all major river basins. The goal is to develop comprehensive water development plans for all major river systems by 1970.

2. Make it possible for fed-

U.N. WARNING TO KATANGA TO STOP ITS FIGHT ON TRIBESMEN

President Tshombe Told That Continued Operations Conflict With Latest Council Resolution.

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo, Feb. 23 (UPI)—United Nations officials warned Katanga President Moise Tshombe today that continued operations by his troops against rebellious Baluba tribesmen conflict with the latest U.N. Security Council resolution.

Nigerian Brig. Paul Ward, the local U.N. military commander, and U.N. civilian chief Ian Berendsen of New Zealand delivered the warning to Tshombe at a meeting.

Katanga officials refused to say what Tshombe replied. A government spokesman disputed reports that U.N. and Katanga authorities had come to an agreement on halting all troop movements in Katanga to "prevent possible incidents."

He said the reports arose from misinterpretation of a local agreement between U.N. troops and Katanga gendarmes guarding Elisabethville airport.

Ward's Next Move. Informed sources said Ward planned to fly next to Manono, in central Katanga, to get anti-Tshombe forces there to comply with the Security Council resolution, adopted Tuesday.

In neighboring Kivu province, a former aide of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba appeared to have been deposed in a power struggle. A broadcast from the provincial capital of Bukavu last night announced that a new government, headed by Adrien Omari, had been approved by the provincial assembly.

Amice Kashamura, who took over control of the province two months ago with the help of Lumumba lieutenants in Stanleyville, announced he was going to take a rest.

Kashamura was a close colleague of Lumumba's but he broke recently with the Lumumba faction in Stanleyville. Today's announcement indicated Stanleyville had Kivu back under its control.

Possible Tactical Move. Political observers in Leopoldville said the announcement could have been a tactical move to give the Lumumbists a stronger bargaining power in forthcoming talks with the government of President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo.

Ileo disclosed yesterday he has been in touch with political authorities in Stanleyville and hoped to bring some of the Lumumbists there into the central government.

He said he was not sure whether one of them would be Communist-trained Antoine Gizenga, who has proclaimed himself premier of the Congo and won the support of Communist governments.

Recent reports from Stanleyville have indicated that Gen. Victor Lundula, Lumumba's former commander in chief, is the real power in Oriental province.

Ileo said he planned to come to Elisabethville March 1 for the opening of a conference of Congolese political leaders. Tshombe suggested Tuesday the conference be held in Geneva but Ileo said he saw no sense in this.

Ileo backed Tshombe's earlier statement that the new U.N. Security Council resolution violates the sovereignty of the Congo.

President of Ghana Hopes for Meeting With Kennedy. WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana hopes to meet here soon with President Kennedy on the Congo and other world issues, informed sources said today.

Nkrumah, who conferred last week in Accra with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, wants a meeting with Mr. Kennedy to seek support for creation of an all-African U.N. command in the Congo and to tell him he challenged the President's statement last week that Joseph Kasavubu is the only legal authority in the Congo.

Nkrumah hopes to assure Mr. Kennedy that Ghana wants private capital on a permanent basis and will not socialize private industry.

THEATER STAND-INS, WHITES CLASH AGAIN IN NASHVILLE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 23 (AP)—White youths tangled with Negro theater stand-in demonstrators last night for the second consecutive night. A Negro minister was among those roughed up.

No Negroes were admitted to the four downtown movie houses. The 120 demonstrators were mostly college students. Chinese and Mexican youths and several white girl students were among them.

The mob, dispersed by police at the downtown location, attacked the demonstrators after they had headed for their church meeting place three blocks away. There were no arrests.

G.O.P. TO SEND VOTE-STUDY UNITS TO 14 BIG CITIES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Republican study groups will be sent to 14 big cities to try to find ways of cutting Democratic urban majorities in future elections, the Republican National Committee announced yesterday. A special committee headed by Ohio state Chairman Ray C. Bliss will meet in Washington March 17-18 to work on the G.O.P. city problem.

The Bliss committee will look into the makeup of city populations and the structure of Republican organizations, particularly to learn whether these organizations have large enough representation of minority groups.

Albert B. Hermann, National Committee campaign director, said the study groups will concentrate on Boston, New York, Newark, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Buffalo. All of these went Democratic in 1960, Chicago, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Buffalo and Los Angeles were Republican in 1956.

FANFANI'S PARTY APPROVES TIES WITH NENNI SOCIALISTS

ROME, Feb. 23 (AP)—Amid grumbling by conservatives, the National Council of Italy's ruling Christian Democrat party gave its approval last night to the party's new local alliances with Pietro Nenni's left-wing Socialists.

Premier Amintore Fanfani appealed for party unity and said the Christian Democrat leadership is trying to pull Nenni's Socialists away from their old Communist allies.

The three-day council meeting was called after the Christian Democrats entered into local coalitions with the Nenni Socialists to govern Milan, Genoa and Florence. Following inconclusive local elections in November, the choice in those cities was between a Communist-Socialist coalition or a Christian Democrat-Socialist one.

LINCOLN PAPERS TAKEN, RECOVERED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23 (AP)—A letter and documents of Abraham Lincoln are missing from the University of Chicago rare book section. This was disclosed yesterday after the valuable missing papers had been turned over to San Francisco police.

The Lincoln pieces were among 40 priceless documents and manuscripts handed to police by James Murray, 29-year-old San Francisco poet. Included in the material were 30 handwritten poems by D. H. Lawrence, author of "Lady Chatterley's Lover," the letter by Lincoln, another by his wife, one by his son, Robert Todd Lincoln, military commissions signed by Lincoln and deeds to property in England owned by Lincoln's ancestors.

Murray, who turned over the documents Monday, said they were handed to him for safekeeping by "a very confused kid" the poet had befriended.

The university, after a search, confirmed that the documents were missing. So were some autographed manuscripts by Carl Sandburg.

Curator Robert Rosenthal said Murray's description of the youth was similar to that of a library employee who was discharged last fall for incompetence.

San Francisco police are searching for him and a girl friend who had been given shelter by Murray.

SCENE - STEALING AID FOR PRESS AT TV CONFERENCES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—President Kennedy's televised press conferences may have opened up a new line of work.

Roll Call, a weekly Capitol Hill publication, today carried a notice offering the services of a "highly qualified political speech writer" to help Washington reporters prepare "speech questions" for the press conferences.

"I firmly guarantee my ability to stretch the simplest, most routine little questions into punchy, highly involved three-to-five-minute speeches, complete with epigrams, redundancies and appropriate gestures," said the advertiser, Patrick McMahon of the Baltimore News-Post.

"My speech-questions are calculated to baffle not only the President but also the entire press conference. Moreover, my modest fees are scaled according to the number of seconds those lovely TV cameras focus on the beaming faces of my happy clients."

8 BRITISH CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM PRISON; 7 RECAPTURED

NEWPORT, England, Feb. 23 (AP)—Eight convicts clubbed their guards Tuesday night and broke out of Parkhurst prison.

Four of the convicts were captured almost immediately. A fifth was caught after a struggle about a mile from the jail. A police tracker dog brought down another. David Maunton, described as "a most violent and dangerous criminal," gave himself up quietly this morning.

That left at large only William (Foxy) Fowler, who once broke out of Dartmoor and rode a horse bareback across the surrounding moor to escape. Parkhurst prison is on the Isle of Wight, five miles off the south coast of England.

HOUSE COMMITTEE OK'S EXTENDING PAY FOR JOBLESS

Floor Vote Expected Early Next Week—Billion in Extra Relief.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—The House Ways and Means Committee today approved President Kennedy's one-billion-dollar emergency proposal to extend unemployment compensation benefits for jobless workers.

After three days of closed hearings, the committee approved this first part of Mr. Kennedy's program to help the unemployed. The anti-recession bill would provide almost a billion dollars in extra relief to the 3,125,000 persons whose benefits either have run out or will expire in the next year or so.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem.), has promised quick consideration by the House. A vote on it was expected early next week.

Up to 13 additional weeks of benefits would be authorized, depending on eligibility in various states. However, a worker could not receive more than 39 weeks of the combined federal-state payments.

Rise in Payroll Tax. Employers would pay its cost through a temporary two-year rise in the federal payroll tax. It would be increased from 3.1 to 3.5 per cent.

The committee was expected to take separate action later today on a companion bill which would provide millions of dollars to help the needy children of jobless parents. The measure would make them eligible for federal-state public assistance.

Mr. Kennedy had asked for a $350,000,000 program for needy children but this was tentatively scaled down by the committee yesterday when it set stiffer qualification requirements. New estimates on the cost are not yet available.

G.O.P. Civil Rights Bill. Meanwhile, G.O.P. congressional leaders announced today they will put forward their own civil rights bill because President Kennedy did not include this issue in his 16-point priority legislative program.

Senate G.O.P. leader Everett M. Dirksen told a press conference "there is no clear and immediate indication the administration is going to introduce something." He said he will offer a Republican civil rights bill "in a couple of weeks."

Dirksen said his bill would include, among other things, giving the President's committee on government contracts statutory authority in working for equal job opportunity, and federal financial aid to school districts which are trying to integrate.

Another of Mr. Kennedy's proposals—a higher minimum wage—will be taken up by a House Labor subcommittee at a closed-door session this afternoon. The group hopes to finish drafting a bill early next week.

Smith Asks Kennedy to Withdraw Name as Envoy to Switzerland

Relieves President of Embarrassment Over Reluctance of Bern to Accept Him Because of Services in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Earl E. T. Smith, Palm Beach financier, asked President Kennedy last night to withdraw his name as ambassador to Switzerland. He thus took Mr. Kennedy off a diplomatic hook.

Smith's appointment, never formally announced, was criticized strongly in the Swiss press, and drew some adverse comment at home.

Smith, a Republican, was ambassador to Cuba in the Eisenhower Administration until just after Fidel Castro took over. He was replaced there by a career diplomat.

Castro said Smith was too friendly with Fulgencio Batista, the dictator Castro overthrew.

Since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba the Swiss have been handling United States interests in Havana at the request of the United States. Much of the Swiss criticism apparently centered on the belief that the appointment of Smith might cause embarrassment and difficulty in carrying out these duties for the United States.

Smith's appointment to Havana was regarded as a political appointment. In his election campaign, Mr. Kennedy often struck out at political payoffs in the naming of ambassadors.

There was some astonishment when it became known here that Smith was Mr. Kennedy's choice for the Swiss post. Smith is a long time friend and neighbor of the Kennedy family at the Florida resort.

Last week several members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee let it be known that they thought a happier choice could be made for the Swiss post, but there was no open opposition.

The Swiss government did not openly oppose Smith either, but its cabinet delayed approval of him and made it clear it would rather have someone else. Ambassadorial nominations are not submitted to the Senate until the host government has indicated the nominee is welcome.

This presented Mr. Kennedy with a problem. If he withdrew Smith's name himself, he would have risked charges that he knuckled under to Castro.

Smith provided the graceful way out by his announcement that he had asked the White House to withdraw his name "because of the controversy that has been stimulated."

Mr. Kennedy said in a statement, "I nominated Mr. Smith because I felt he had the qualities to be an effective representative of our country. It is still my view. I therefore accept his decision with real regret. I hope that at some future time he can be again of service to our country."

There was no official comment from Bern, but reliable informants said the Swiss government would have accepted Smith's nomination if the United States had insisted on it.

TUNISIAN RULER, DE GAULLE WILL TALK ON ALGERIA

Bourguiba's Visit May Be Prelude to Direct Negotiations With Rebels.

PARIS, Feb. 23 (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba will meet Monday to explore the chances for peace in Algeria.

The meeting at De Gaulle's country residence, the Chateau de Rambouillet, was arranged here yesterday by French officials and Bourguiba's information minister, Mohammed Masmoudi.

A meeting between de Gaulle and Bourguiba, whose country has sheltered the headquarters in exile of the Algerian nationalist rebels, is regarded as a possible prelude to renewal of direct negotiations between France and the rebels to end the six-year-old Algerian war.

Direct preliminary negotiations collapsed last year when each side insisted on what the other considered to be impossible conditions for a cease-fire.

Bourguiba recently has been active in attempts to persuade both sides that the time is ripe again for another attempt. He has described himself as a buffer rather than a mediator, because neither the rebels nor the French want any third party interference with eventual peace talks.

Tunisian government sources viewed the meeting as a chance to ease French-Tunisian relations as well as hasten the end of the Algerian war. French-Tunisian relations have been strained by such matters as Tunisian support of the rebels and the maintenance of the French naval base at Bizerte.

An Algerian rebel source said "with this meeting will begin the pre-negotiations necessary to insure the success of direct negotiations between the French government and the provisional Algerian government—the only way that can lead to peace."

WILLIAMS SAYS REFERENCE INCLUDED ALL IN AFRICA

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 23 (UPI)—Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams said today he was referring not only to Negroes when he said the United States supports a policy of "Africa for Africans."

Williams drew a rebuke from the white-race East African Standard, Nairobi's largest paper, for making the remark here yesterday.

"What I meant was that Africans includes all races—black, white, Asian," Williams said today. "I have been most impressed by the remarkable good will among races in Africa. . . . I used the word African not in the indigenous sense—I meant everyone living in Africa."

KENNEDY ORDERS INQUIRY INTO HIS BANK NOMINEE'S POLITICAL PAST

Reviewing Appointment of Meriwether to Export-Import Facility — Opposition to Him Mounts.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 — In the face of growing opposition, President Kennedy is reviewing his decision to appoint Charles M. Meriwether of Alabama as a director of the Export-Import Bank, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

Under orders from the White House, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation are checking into Meriwether's political activities in Alabama, it was learned. The appointment is being held up in the meantime.

If he is named to the international banking post, Meriwether would succeed George A. Blowers, the Export-Import Bank's recognized authority on Africa. Blowers, former financial adviser to Ethiopia and Liberia, has handled much of the bank's increasing business with African nations.

Meriwether, now Alabama state finance director, managed the unsuccessful 1959 Alabama senatorial race of retired Navy R. Adm. John Crommelin. In his subsequent political campaigns, Crommelin became noted for his bitter anti-Negro and anti-Semitic statements.

Klan Backed Patterson.

In 1958, Meriwether managed the successful race of Gov. John Patterson of Alabama, who had the active support of the Ku Klux Klan in the state. In the campaign, Meriwether was understood to be on close terms with Robert Shelton, then head of the Alabama Klan.

The FBI agents are also looking into reports Meriwether was involved in a 1959 Alabama land deal in which an effort was made to obtain $180,000 in damages for a property owner.

The Mobile Land Commission ultimately decided that the owner of a piece of property outside Mobile had suffered only $1 in damages when mud, gravel and debris from nearby highway construction were dumped on his land. The debris served as a landfill and a shopping center later was built on the site.

The decision to name Meriwether as a director of the Export-Import Bank, if it goes through, would complete the removal of two career bankers, both Democrats, from the board of directors. Two Republican directors, one of them James S. Bush, a former St. Louisan, have been retained by Mr. Kennedy.

Docking Sworn In.

Former Gov. George Docking of Kansas was sworn in as a director Jan. 29, replacing Hawthorne Arey, who had been with the bank since 1938. Arey, considered by his fellow directors as one of the ablest men in the international banking field, had served as secretary, general counsel and executive vice president of the bank before becoming a director in 1949.

Gov. Patterson, who appointed Meriwether Alabama finance director, was an early backer of Mr. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination. He announced his support of Mr. Kennedy in January 1960, six months before the Democratic national convention. Five Alabama electors stayed with the Kennedy-Johnson ticket and six voted for Senator Harry F. Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, for President.

Although Mr. Kennedy announced Jan. 30 that he intended to name Meriwether to the Export-Import Bank, the nomination has not been sent to the Senate Banking Committee.

Alabama's Senators Lister Hill and John J. Sparkman, both Democrats, were not consulted before the President announced his intention of appointing Meriwether, the Post-Dispatch was told. Since then, they have taken a "hands off" stand on the matter.

With Meriwether as his campaign manager, Crommelin ran against Senator Hill in 1950 and was defeated. The retired admiral opposed Sparkman in 1954 and Hill again in 1956. His segregationist and anti-Semitic views became more pronounced in his later campaigns.

There have been reports that Meriwether was active on Crommelin's behalf in 1954 and 1956, as well as 1950, but observers of St. Louis, Democratic floor leader, was set up by the Senate for the first time this session to have initial control over all legislation proposing major new expenditures. It directed that the amended bill be referred to the Senate committee on local government for further study and action. This was the first bill reported by the Senate's new "super" committee.

Senator Frank X. Reller (Dem.), Wentzville, chairman of the Local Government Committee, said a hearing on the bill as amended would be held next Monday night.

Compromise Jobs Bill.

A compromise bill to liberalize Missouri unemployment benefit payments was approved yesterday by the Senate Committee on Employment Security. The measure had been stymied by a committee deadlock last week.

Under the new measure, maximum unemployment payments would be increased from $33 to $40 a week. A provision to extend the payment period an additional two weeks was eliminated, leaving the maximum payment period at 26 weeks.

The approved measure contains a new provision which would permit an unemployed person to obtain weekly benefits equal to one-half his normal earnings, up to a maximum benefit of $40 a week. Labor spokesmen who sponsored the original bill reported that the average salary in Missouri is now $88 a week.

in Alabama said there was no indication of this.

Robert Shelton, who at the time titled himself grand dragon of the Alabama Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, worked actively for Patterson in 1958. Shelton and Meriwether were on friendly political terms in the campaign, the Post-Dispatch was told.

Since then Meriwether has been at some pains privately to disassociate himself from the Klan leader, reliable sources said.

Blowers, who now fills the Export-Import Bank post, is a graduate of Harvard University and has had banking experience in New York, London, Singapore, Tientsin, Peking, Shanghai and Hongkong.

He was general manager of the Bank of Monrovia, Liberia, from 1938 to 1943, governor of the State Bank of Ethiopia in 1943 and governor and the Saudi Arabian monetary agency from 1952 to 1955, when he became a director of the Export-Import Bank.

At Bretton Woods Meeting. He attended the Bretton Woods monetary conference in 1944, the initial meetings of the International Monetary Fund in 1946 and many other international financial conferences. He headed the United Nations mission on the currency and banking problems of Libya in 1950.

Meriwether is a native of Memphis, Tenn., and a graduate of the University of Tennessee and the Cumberland College of Law. The Export-Import Bank lends dollars to foreign borrowers for the purchase of capital goods in this country. It also lends money to foreign borrowers to be used in retaining the services of American technicians. The loans must be repaid in United States dollars, with interest. In 16 years, the bank has netted about $700,000,000 for the federal treasury.

Its directors are paid $20,000 a year.

COUNCIL OF CHURCHES ON BIRTH CONTROL

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Representatives of the bulk of American Protestantism joined today in approving the use of artificial birth-control devices.

After extended discussion, the policy-making general board of the National Council of Churches endorsed such methods as morally Christian, an adjunct to wholesome home life, and an aid in world population problems.

The United States Government was asked to supply birth control help to countries that ask for it, a move previously avoided by Washington. The statement also deplored state laws restricting birth control services.

They "violate the civil and religious liberties of all citizens, including Protestants," the statement said.

It was the first collective Protestant pronouncement on the subject, although numerous individual denominations previously have taken similar action.

Eastern Orthodox churches, also members of the council, abstained from the vote by advance agreement. They traditionally have opposed contraception, as do Roman Catholics.

Otherwise the vote was unanimous. Dr. Harold Haas of New York City, a United Lutheran social welfare official, who presented the measure, said it sought to stress "the spiritual implications of marriage."

While upholding child-bearing as a "divinely ordained purpose" of marriage, it said the sustaining of mutual love between husband and wife, apart from reproduction, also was "ordained of God."

2 AFFTON SCHOOLS ENTERED; $250 IS STOLEN FROM ONE

Two Affton schools were entered by burglars over the George Washington holiday and between $250 and $300 was taken from a vault at the Junior High School, 8520 Mackenzie road, police reported.

Entrance to the high school was gained by forcing a window. The combination was knocked off the vault.

At Heege Elementary School, 8001 Mackenzie road, burglars searched desks in eight rooms and offices but found nothing of value. Entrance was through a cafeteria window.

Hennessy. The trustee said he will attempt to learn who owns the others, and ask that they be removed from the premises by nightfall.

Blames Dan Costello.

Use of the garage was authorized by Dan E. Costello, president of the board, Hennessy said, without consulting the other trustees.

"I have no objection to use of the garage by charitable or civic organizations, since we have plenty of room," Hennessy said. "But commercial enterprises ought to be paying rent or they should not be permitted to use these facilities."

He began an inventory of all equipment stored at the garage and said that everything will be moved out by tonight that is not covered by the board's insurance or that is not there by official permission of the board.

Under a temporary restraining order issued Dec. 19 by East St. Louis City Judge John M. Karns, Hennessy, Tolar and Molla have been prohibited from interfering with the orderly operations of the levee district. The order was issued on application of attorneys for Costello and George Duff, the fifth trustee. No hearing has been set.

The 3-2 division on the board became apparent in December when each faction elected one of its members president of the board while the other faction was absent. Costello was elected by a 2-0 vote, and later Tolar was elected, 3-0. However, Judge Karns' order also restrained Tolar from assuming the duties of president.

Costello and Duff are aligned with Mayor Fields. Molla and Tolar also were in the Fields organization in past years, but broke with Costello last December.

Hennessy is in the camp of Centreville Township Supervisor Francis Touchette, who is Fields' chief rival in East Side Democratic politics.

IN MEHLVILLE SCHOOL POST

Edward H. Roessler, a supervisor for Western Electric Co., has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the Mehlville R-9 School Board created by the resignation of George A. Keller last Thursday, it was announced today.

Roessler, of 3711 Will avenue, will serve out Keller's term which expires April 4. Keller's resignation grew out of several long-standing differences with other board members.

COUNTY WOMAN SEIZED AGAIN ON ABORTION COUNT

Mrs. Marie Stoll, Convicted on Previous Charge, Arrested With Husband.

Mrs. Marie M. Stoll, a convicted abortionist, was arrested last night at her Maplewood home on three new warrants charging criminal abortion. Her husband, Orville, was arrested with her and booked on suspicion of abortion and burglary.

The arrests followed three weeks of surveillance by St. Louis county detectives, who observed women entering and leaving the Stoll home, 7945 Lorine avenue. The warrants were issued by Magistrate James J. Egan on statements by three women who said they each paid Mrs. Stoll $100 for performing an abortion. One woman, a 30-year-old divorcee, required hospitalization after the operation, police reported.

Detective Capt. F. J. (Pete) Vasek served the warrants on Mrs. Stoll at 8 o'clock last night. Vasek was accompanied by a squad of detectives and two Maplewood officials, Chief of Police Leo Buck and Police Commissioner Fred A. Collins. Mrs. Stoll, 46 years old, and Stoll, 48, were watching television. There were no other persons in the one-story frame home.

Instruments Found.

A search of the premises revealed a leather bag of surgical instruments, rubber sheets and quantities of pills, police said. The women had told police the operations were performed on a bed covered with rubber sheets. Stoll and Mrs. Stoll denied knowledge of abortions, although admitting when booked that both had been arrested in St. Louis on abortion charges.

Stoll was booked by Maplewood police on suspicion of burglary after 35 bottles of whisky bearing the stamp of a Maplewood store were found in a chest in the home. He insisted he was keeping the whisky, and other quantities of liquor found in the house, for relatives.

The women interviewed in the investigation said they were told about Mrs. Stoll by a physician, police said. Telephone arrangements were made for Mrs. Stoll to take them to her home in her automobile, the women said. Following the operations the women were returned to the meeting place by Mrs. Stoll, police said. An automobile resembling one described by the women was parked in the Stoll driveway last night.

Held in Jail.

Mrs. Stoll was unable to furnish $30,000 bond on the three charges, and was held in jail at Clayton. She was also booked on suspicion of practicing medicine without a license. Stoll was released on $3000 bond returnable March 7 before Magistrate A. Bertram Elam.

The arrests followed information obtained by County Police Lt. Austin Duke that women were observed entering and leaving the Stoll home at night. Detective Sgt. Philip St. Onge and Detectives David Diehrich and Ronald Aldridge participated in the investigation.

In June 1957, Mrs. Stoll was sentenced to one year in jail by Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson on her plea of guilty to three charges of criminal abortion. She admitted performing 40 illegal operations in one year in her home, then in the 3800 block of Gravois avenue.

HOUSE GIVES RISE IN CIGARETTE TAX ITS TENTATIVE OK

Voice Vote on 2-Cent Boost Taken After Many Members Leave for Weekend.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23—A bill to increase the state cigarette tax from 2 to 4 cents a package, as recommended by Gov. John M. Dalton, was approved tentatively today by the Missouri House on a voice vote.

Representatives James G. Trimble (Dem.), Clay county majority floor leader, called for a vote after attendance at the session had dwindled as legislators headed home for the weekend. There was no discussion of the measure, which is estimated to yield $12,000,000 a year in additional income. All of it would be earmarked for the public schools.

The measure is now ready for final House action next week.

Old Age Bill Favored.

House members also approved tentatively, on a voice vote, a bill which would increase maximum old age assistance benefits from $65 to $72 a month and increase from $5000 to $6500 the value of property an old age pensioner could own and still remain eligible for benefits.

The bill would also permit old age pensioners to live with relatives or friends and still stay on the eligible list, regardless of the relative's income. It is estimated the measure would result in an additional expenditure of $30,000,000 annually.

Meantime, Senate Democratic leaders were planning an all-out push next week for passage of Gov. Dalton's tax withholding bill, which was passed yesterday by the House.

Emergency Clause.

The governor's key revenue measure was set for a hearing Monday before the Senate Ways and Means Committee, to which it was referred today. Senator Omer H. Avery (Dem.), of Troy, the committee chairman, said he hoped to get favorable action on the bill immediately after the hearing.

If that occurs, the bill would be reported to the Senate floor Tuesday and could be taken up for passage that day under suspension of the rules. Senator John W. Joynes of St. Louis, the Democratic floor leader, said he was confident that the governor's tax proposal had sufficient support in the Senate to assure its passage and adoption of the emergency clause.

Senate leaders hope to avoid the adoption of any unnecessary amendments, which would require that the bill be returned to the House for concurrence in the changes. Because of the closeness of the vote in the House, sponsors would prefer not to return the measure to that body. A bill continuing Missouri's speed laws on state and federal highways was passed by the Senate without a dissenting vote and was sent to the House for consideration. The speed law, effective since 1957, was scheduled to expire Sept. 1. The bill passed by the Senate would make it permanent.

ACTION ON AEC NOMINEE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senate members of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee approved today President Kennedy's nomination of Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg as a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Seaborg, a Nobel Prize winner and chancellor of the University of California at Berkeley since 1958, was praised highly by all of the committee members present. Mr. Kennedy has announced that Seaborg will be named AEC chairman as soon as he is confirmed by the Senate.

4 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH, 2 FROM ST. LOUIS AREA

County and Wood River Residents Lose Lives in Accident Near Greenville, O.

Two men from the St. Louis area were among four persons killed in the crash of a light plane 40 miles north of Greenville, O., early today.

Dead are: Raymond B. Hoelscher, 30 years old, 12079 Riverview drive, St. Louis county, owner of the four-place Cessna plane.

Thomas E. Mayberry, 23, of 63 Action Avenue, Wood River, Allen R. Irons, 30, regional sales manager for Hercules Chemical Products Co., who lived at Mount Gilead, O.

Rex J. McPeck, 30, an employee of Hydraulic Manufacturing Co., Mount Gilead, O.

The plane left Marion, O., at 12:30 a.m., bound for St. Louis. The crash, on a farm near the community of Brook, is thought to have occurred in a thunderstorm shortly before 2 a.m. The wreckage was found this morning by William Baltes, owner of the farm.

Irons chartered the plane Monday to fly to the bedside of his six-year-old son, who had been injured seriously when he was struck by an automobile in Mount Gilead, Irons, in St. Louis on business, reportedly was unable to obtain airline transportation because of the strike of engineers.

Hoelscher and Irons were accompanied by Mayberry, an employee of Walston Aviation at Civic Memorial Airport near Wood River, where Hoelscher based his plane. McPeck planned to accompany Irons to St. Louis and return to Mount Gilead in the latter's automobile. Irons, a licensed pilot, is believed to have been at the controls.

Irons is survived by three children and his wife, who is expecting another child.

The bodies were taken to an undertaking establishment at Greenville, O., where authorities made the identifications through credentials. The wreckage did not burn.

Hoelscher, unmarried, lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoelscher. The family operates a truck garden, and Raymond Hoelscher worked for his father and at a filling station owned by his two brothers.

PARTIAL TEXT OF KENNEDY MESSAGE ON NATURAL RESOURCES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP).

A partial text of President Kennedy's special message to Congress on natural resources:

FROM the beginning of civilization, every nation's basic wealth and progress has stemmed in large measure from its natural resources. This nation has been . . . especially fortunate . . . Our entire society . . . is dependent upon our water . . . land . . . forests, and . . . minerals. How we use these resources influences our health, security, economy, and well-being.

. . . If we fail to chart a proper course of conservation and development . . . we will be in trouble within a short time. In the resource field . . . we face a future of critical shortages . . . By the year 2000, a United States population of 300,000,000 . . . will need far greater supplies of farm products, timber, water, minerals, fuels, energy, and opportunities for outdoor recreation.

Present projects tell us that our water use will double in the next 20 years; that we are harvesting our . . . high-grade timber more rapidly than the development of new growth; that too much of our fertile topsoil is being washed away; that our minerals are being exhausted, . . . and that . . . remaining undeveloped areas of great natural beauty are being rapidly pre-empted for other uses.

Wise investment in a resource program today will return vast dividends tomorrow, and failures to act now may be opportunities lost forever . . .

This is not a matter of concern for only one section of the country . . . every citizen in every state of the union . . . has a stake in a sound resources program under the progressive principles . . . first forged by Pinchot and Theodore Roosevelt . . .

This statement is designed to bring together . . . the widely scattered resources policies of the Federal Government. In the past, these policies have overlapped and often conflicted. Funds were wasted on competing efforts. Widely differing standards were applied . . . funds and attention devoted to annual appropriations or immediate pressures diverted energies away from long-range planning for national economic growth . . .

To Issue More Orders. To co-ordinate all of these matters . . . I will shortly issue one or more executive orders or directives:

1. Redefining these responsibilities within the executive office and authorizing a strengthened Council of Economic Advisers to report to the President, the Congress and the public on the status of resource programs . . .

2. Establishing, under the Council of Economic Advisers, a presidential advisory committee on natural resources . . .

3. Instructing the budget director . . . to formulate within the next 90 days general principles for the application of fees, permits and other user charges at all types of federal natural resource projects . . . and to re-evaluate current standards for appraising the feasibility of water resource projects.

In addition, . . . I shall ask the National Academy of Sciences to undertake a thorough and broadly based study . . . of the present state of research underlying the conservation, development, and use of natural resources, . . . giving particular attention to needs for basic research and to projects that will provide a better basis for natural resources planning . . . Pending the recommendations, . . . I have directed my science adviser and the Federal Council for Science and Technology to . . . determine ways to strengthen the total Government research effort relating to natural resources.

I. WATER RESOURCES
Our nation has been blessed with a bountiful supply of water . . . We now use over 300 billion gallons of water a day . . . By 1980 we will need 600 billion gallons a day.

Our supply of water is not always consistent with our needs . . . Floods . . . may be countered in . . . other sections by the severe water shortages which are now afflicting many eastern urban areas and particularly critical in the West. Our available water supply must . . . give maximum benefits for . . . hydroelectric power, irrigation and reclamation, navigation, recreation, health, home and industry . . .

Our federal reclamation and other water resource programs will have to give increased attention to municipal and industrial water and power supplies . . . and I am so instructing the Secretary of the Interior, in cooperation with the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Army.

1. Planning and development.
A. We reject a "no new starts" policy. Such a policy denied the . . . potential on which our economic growth hinges and took a heavy toll in added costs and even human life . . . by postponing essential flood control projects. I have requested the director of the Bureau of the Budget . . . to schedule a progressive, orderly program of starting new projects, . . . taking into account the availability of funds, and . . . the very excellent . . . reports of the bi-partisan Senate Select Committee on National Water Resources . . .

B. This Administration accepts the goal urged by the . . . committee to develop comprehensive river basin plans by 1970, in cooperation with the individual states. I urge the Congress to authorize . . . planning commissions for all major river basins where adequate co-ordinated plans are not already in existence . . .

C. A major reason for such planning is the ability to identify both the need and the location of future reservoir sites far in advance of construction . . . I urge the Congress to enact legislation permitting the reservation of known future reservoir sites . . .

D. The full development of the power and other water resource potentials of the Columbia basin is a vision that must be fulfilled. The Columbia River Joint Development Treaty with Canada is before the Senate for approval. I urge the Senate to approve this treaty at the earliest possible time, to permit an immediate start on the immense efforts that can be jointly undertaken in power production and river control in that basin.

E. This Administration is committed to strengthening and speeding up our flood control program as rapidly as our fiscal and technical capabilities permit . . .

I am asking all federal agencies concerned to provide data on flood hazards in specified areas to all 50 states . . .

. . . The small watershed projects, which are an integral part of our soil and water conservation program, along with terracing, strip cropping, grass waterways and other erosion prevention measures. Nearly 300 million of our nation's 460 million acres of farm crop lands still need these basic practices . . . I have asked the secretary of agriculture . . . to review the basic objectives of our soil conservation and watershed management programs . . .

2. Water and air pollution control.
Pollution of our country's rivers and streams has . . . reached alarming proportions. To meet all needs . . . we shall have to use and re-use the same water . . . in many areas of the country we need new sources of supply—but in all areas we must protect the supplies we have.

Current corrective efforts are not adequate. This year a national total of $350,000,000 will be spent from all sources on municipal waste treatment works. But $800,000,000 of construction is required annually . . .

For a more effective water pollution control program, I propose the following:

First, I urge enactment of legislation . . . extending the increasing federal financial assistance for the operation of state and interstate water pollution control agencies.

Secondly, I urge that this legislation increase the amount of federal assistance to municipalities for construction of waste treatment facilities . . .

Third, I urge that this legislation strengthen enforcement procedures . . .

Fourth, I propose an intensive and broadened research effort to determine the specific sources of water pollution . . . the effects upon the health . . . and more effective means of preventing, controlling, or removing the contaminants—including radioactive matter . . .

Fifth, I propose the establishment of a special unit within the Public Health Service under the department of health, education, and welfare, where control measures to prevent and limit pollution of our water will be developed.

Sixth, this same unit should provide new leadership, research and financial and technical assistance for the control of air pollution, a serious hazard . . . that causes an estimated $7,500,000,000 annually in damage to vegetation, livestock, metals and other materials. We need an effective federal air pollution control program now . . . the atmosphere over our growing metropolitan areas . . . has only limited capacity to dilute and disperse the contaminants now being increasingly discharged from homes, factories, vehicles, and many other sources

3. Saline and brackish water conversion

No water resources program is of greater long-range importance . . . than our efforts to find an effective and economical way to convert water from the world's greatest, cheapest natural resources—our oceans—in to water fit for consumption in the home and by industry. Such a breakthrough would . . . bring new hope for millions who live out their lives in dire shortage of usable water . . .

At my request, a panel of the President's Science Advisory Committee has been working with the Secretary of the Interior to assure the most vigorous and effective research and development program possible in this field.

I now pledge that, when this know-how is achieved, it will immediately be made available to every nation in the world who wishes it, along with appropriate technical and other assistance for its use. Indeed the United States welcomes now the co-operation of all other nations who wish to join in this effort at present.

I urge the Congress to extend the current saline water conversion research program, and to increase the funds for its continuation . . .

II. ELECTRIC POWER

To keep pace with the growth of our economy and national defense requirements, expansion of this nation's power facilities will require intensive effort by all segments of our power industry. Through 1980, . . . total installed capacity should triple if we are to meet our nation's need . . .

The role of the Federal Government in supplying an important segment of this power

. . . must continue. We will meet our responsibilities in this field.

. . . Hydroelectric power will be incorporated in all multiple-purpose river projects where optimum economic use of the water justifies such action.

The Tennessee Valley Authority will continue to use the financing authority granted it by the last Congress to meet the power needs of the area it serves.

Our efforts to achieve economically competitive nuclear power before the end of this decade . . . will be encouraged through basic research, engineering developments, and construction of . . . reactors by the atomic energy commission in co-operation with industry.

In marketing federal power, this administration will be guided by the following basic principles . . .

1. Preference in power sales shall be given public agencies and co-operatives.

2. Domestic and rural consumers shall have priority over other consumers in the disposal of power.

3. Power shall be sold at the lowest possible rates consistent with sound business principles.

4. Power disposal shall be such as to encourage widespread use and to prevent monopolization.

Finally, I have directed the Secretary of the Interior to . . . plan for further national co-operative pooling of electric power, both public and private.

III. FORESTS

Our forest lands present the sharpest challenge to our foresight. Trees planted today will not reach the minimum sizes needed for lumber until the year 2000. Most projections of future timber requirements predict a doubling of current consumption within 40 years. At present cutting rates, we are using up our old growth timber in western stands . . . We must . . . improve the productivity of our nearly 500,000,000 acres of commercial forest land.

Unfortunately, the condition of our forest land area is substantially below par: 45,000,000 acres are in need of reforestation; more than 150,000,000 acres require thinning, release cuttings and other timber stand improvement measures if growth rates are to be increased . . . Protection must be extended to areas now poorly protected . . .

(A) I urge the Congress to accelerate forest development on federal public lands both as a long-term investment measure and as an immediate method of relieving unemployment in distressed areas.

(B) . . . I have directed the Secretaries of Agriculture and the Interior to accelerate the program of building approved access roads to public forests.

(C) A more difficult and unresolved forest situation lies in that half of our forest land held in small private ownerships. These lands . . . must be managed to produce a larger share of our timber needs. Current forest owner assistance programs have proven inadequate. I am therefore directing the Secretary of Agriculture . . . to help small independent timber owners and processors attain better forest management . . .

The Federal Government owns nearly 770,000,000 acres of public land . . . equally important are . . . unreserved public domain lands, amounting to some 477,000,000 acres—a vital national reserve that should be devoted to productive use now . . .

Much of this public domain suffers from uncontrolled use . . . More than 100,000,000 acres of our federal grazing districts are producing livestock forage well below their potential. We can no longer afford to sit by

HEAD OF NEW YORK POLICE DECLINES REAPPOINTMENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP) — Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy declined reappointment to the $25,000-a-year post last night and Mayor Robert F. Wagner promptly named Inspector Michael J. Murphy as Kennedy's successor.

Wagner announced last Monday he would reappoint Kennedy, who said he would stay on as head of the 24,000-man force on his own terms.

The commissioner said he would have to be assured that his men would get a $600 pay increase to offset "moonlighting" — the holding of outside, part-time jobs.

attitude measure for the pending proposal, to demonstrate unanimous support of the measure. Thus far none has made any comment on the new proposal, he said.

In Jefferson City, it was reported the county's legislators were waiting for reaction to the bill from the St. Louis County Municipal League.

"The council's proposal would put us out of business," Mayor Vincent A. Bayer of Greendale, the league's president, said today.

He earlier had predicted the municipalities vigorously would oppose the bill because "all it leaves for the municipalities to do is to hire a janitor to sweep out the city hall and lock the door."

Bayer said he did not know whether the League would suggest to the council any changes that might make the bill more agreeable to the municipalities. He said he did not know whether any revisions at all would make the measure more palatable from the league's viewpoint.

The municipalities themselves thus far have not considered seeking any law revisions on the handling of public services, Bayer said.

"We're not asking anything; it's the county council that wants something," he said.

Aschmeyer has announced that he would be willing to introduce the council's proposal as a substitute for his own, providing the council first obtained unanimous support for the measure from county members in the Legislature.

Earlier he and Grantham had been in a dispute when Grantham accused him of endangering the county's legislative program by introducing similar measures on his own. Aschmeyer denied this and claimed Grantham apparently was attempting to blame him for what Aschmeyer termed the council's failure to reach timely agreement on its legislative program.

A county police tax bill which had been introduced by Aschmeyer was killed in a house committee.

Text

I am, therefore, directing the Secretary of the Interior to:

1. Accelerate an inventory and evaluation of the nation's public domain . . .

2. Develop a program of balanced usage designed to reconcile the conflicting uses — grazing, forestry, recreation, wildlife, urban development and minerals, and

3. Accelerate the installation of soil conserving and water saving works and practices . . . to proceed with the re-vegetation of range lands on which the forage capacity has been badly depleted or destroyed.

V. OCEAN RESOURCES

The sea around us represents one of our most . . . undeveloped areas. . . Continental shelves bordering the United States contain roughly 20 per cent of our remaining reserves of crude oil and natural gas. The ocean floor contains large and valuable deposits of cobalt, copper, nickel and manganese. Ocean waters themselves contain a wide variety of dissolved salts and minerals.

Salt (and fresh water) fisheries are among our most important . . . reservoirs of protein foods . . . This country alone will need an additional three billion pounds of fish and shellfish annually by 1980 . . . All this will require increased efforts . . . for rehabilitation of depleted stocks of salmon and sardines in the Pacific, groundfish and oysters in the Atlantic, lake trout and other desirable species in the Great Lakes. . .

VI. RECREATION

America's health, morale and culture have long benefited from our national parks and forests . . . yet these facilities and resources are not now adequate . . . The millions of visitor days which are now spent in federally-owned national forests, wildlife refuges and water reservoirs will triple well before the end of this century.

To meet the Federal Government's . . . responsibility for fulfilling these needs, the following steps are essential:

(A) To protect our remaining wilderness areas, I urge the Congress to enact a wilderness protection bill . . .

(B) To improve both the quality and quantity of public recreational opportunities, I urge the Congress to enact legislation leading to the establishment of seashore and shoreline areas such as Cape Cod, Padre Island and Point Reyes for the use and enjoyment of the public . . .

(C) . . . I am instructing the Secretary of the Interior, in co-operation with the Secretary of Agriculture and other appropriate . . . officials and private leaders to:

—Formulate a comprehensive federal recreational lands program:

—Conduct a survey to determine where additional national parks, forests and seashore areas should be proposed;

—Insure that land acquired for the construction of federally-financed reservoirs is sufficient . . . for recreational purposes, and —Establish a long-range program for . . . adequate open spaces for recreational facilities in urban areas . . .

I am directing the Secretary of the Interior to . . . develop a long-range wildlife conservation program—and to accelerate the acquisition of upper Midwest wetlands through the sale of federal duck stamps . . .

CONCLUSION

We must understand our resources problems, and we must face up to them now. The task is large but it will be done.

yesterday of reprisal shootings in Stanleyville.

The eight Belgian soldiers were captured several weeks ago after straying across the border into Oriental province from Rwanda-Urundi, a neighboring Belgian U.N. trusteeship. Concern about their fate had been expressed previously by the Belgian government.

Meanwhile, Hammarskjöld sought the help of Belgium in getting Belgian military personnel and political advisers out of the Congo. He sent a letter to Walter Lorrain, Belgian ambassador at the United Nations, containing suggestions from Hammarskjöld's Congo Advisory Committee.

The letter asked for Belgium's aid in carrying out the Security Council's latest Congo resolution, a subject on which the 18-nation committee planned a third private meeting for this afternoon. The resolution urged immediate withdrawal from the Congo of "Belgian and other foreign" military men and political advisers not serving with the U.N. force and called on all countries to prevent such personnel from going to the Congo.

It also empowered the United Nations to use force if needed to head off civil war in the Congo, called for an investigation of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba's killing and urged that the Congo Parliament be convened and Congolese troops reorganized and removed from politics.

Both Premier Joseph Ileo of the central government in Leopoldville and President Moïse Tshombe of Katanga province objected to the Council resolution and said any U.N. use of force would be met with force. Ileo interpreted the call for reorganization of Congolese troops to mean their disarming and said this constituted a "declaration of war."

Hammarskjöld's office had no confirmation of reports yesterday that Gizenga's Communist-backed regime had executed 16 followers of President Joseph Kasavubu in retaliation for Lumumba's death.

The United Nations headquarters made known that another six political prisoners had been shipped from Leopoldville, Kasavubu's stronghold, to Albert Kalonji's mining state in south Kasai province, where six other political prisoners from Leopoldville have been put to death and a seventh given a five-year prison term. The U.N. published a letter to Kalonji from Dayal asking what had happened to the latest deportees.

The U.N. announced it had canceled a contract with the American-owned Seven Seas Airlines for the charter of six planes to carry men and supplies for its force in the Congo.

The contract was canceled, the U.N. said, because another of the company's aircraft delivered one or more jet training planes to Tshombe's Katanga forces. The U.N. said this was "military assistance or potential military assistance not sanctioned by or channeled through the United Nations."

News dispatches said the airline carried a French Fouga Magister jet trainer to the Katanga capital, Elisabethville, last Thursday. The French delegation at the U.N. said there were reports that three such trainers had been sent to Katanga and denied France had authorized their export.

DEATH OF ALTON WOMAN
HOMICIDE, CORONER SAYS

The death of Mrs. Kathleen Joyce Buchanan, whose body was found last Monday night in her Alton home, was "undoubtedly homicide," Dr. W. W. Billings, Madison county coroner, said today.

Dr. Billings said he was convinced Mrs. Buchanan, 21 years old, had not died of natural causes or accident but he was unable to state the cause of death pending completion of an autopsy by a pathologist. Madison county authorities and Alton police said the body has no marks of violence.

Mrs. Buchanan is believed to have died Saturday night. Her husband, Specialist 3-C Ronald Buchanan, has been A.W.O.L. from Fort Leonard Wood and was last seen by neighbors in the company of his wife last Saturday.

LONG PROPOSES TWO MORE
U.S. JUDGES FOR MISSOURI

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Appointment of two more United States district judges for Missouri would be authorized by a bill introduced by Senator Edward V. Long (Dem., Missouri). One would be for western Missouri and the other for eastern Missouri. The bill was co-sponsored by Senator Stuart Symington (Dem., Missouri).

Long said the bill was introduced because of a heavy caseload in the courts of the two districts. The state has six federal judges, two of them roving judges.

Clothing on Museum's Diana Is Central Issue in Dispute

The clothing on the City Art Museum's $56,000 statue of Diana the Huntress was a central issue today in the most recent controversy over the authenticity of the terra-cotta work.

Harold Woodbury Parsons, a retired American art dealer living in Rome, said that the statue was a forgery because, among other things, its garments were "archeologically without precedent."

Charles Nagel, director of the Art Museum, reassured his belief that the statue is indeed a rare example of ancient Etruscan art, made about 470 B.C., and cited the conclusions of a noted German archeologist to support his contention.

Parsons said the statue was made by Alceo Dossena, an Italian art forger who died in 1937.

"Dossena was no archeologist," Parsons said. "He sought his inspiration in ancient statues such as a marble of Diana in the Naples Museum, but he did not copy, he created. He inadvertently composed a garment without precedent in the history of ancient costumes."

Not so, said Reinhard Herbig, director of the German Archeological Institute at Rome, who studied the statue and prepared a long report attesting to its authenticity in 1958.

Herbig termed the style of dress "peculiar and undoubtedly rare," but reported that he had established that such a style was once popular in ancient Greece and Italy, though briefly.

If the statue were the work of a forger, Herbig said, the forger must have been very learned in the fields of archeology and art history. Of other features of the statue which allegedly are not in accordance with the sculptural style of the Etruscan period, Herbig said:

"Anyone who goes so far as to draw the conclusion from (these inconsistencies) that the work is that of a forger overlooks the fact that such a forger would long ago have learned to avoid glaring errors or mixtures of style or eye-catching anachronisms."

Herbig's report was prepared for the museum the last time the Diana's authenticity was challenged by art authorities, in 1958. At that time, Mrs. Margaret Bieber of Columbia University raised the same points about the clothing now being brought up by Parsons.

Nagel dismissed these claims today as "Christian Dior criticisms."

The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York announced last week that three of its statues of Etruscan warriors were forgeries.

In his report for the St. Louis museum, Herbig had asserted that the Diana here is as important to the understanding of antique art as "the mighty terracotta figures of the warriors in New York."

In contending that the Diana is a fake, Parsons said also that he has photographs, made available by Dossena's son, which show the statue being made, and said that a private art collector in Rome has a half-length cast of the Diana which was taken from the same mold Dossena used to cast the statue here.

The assertion about the photographs is not a new one, but the claim to the existence of a cast is. The museum is satisfied that it has refuted the challenge based on the photographs

DR. GUY W. WATERS FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Dr. Guy W. Waters, East St. Louis dentist, will be tomorrow at 11 a.m. at the Kurrus undertaking establishment, 2525 State street, East St. Louis. Burial will be at Belle Rive, Ill.

Dr. Waters, 75 years old, died Monday of a heart ailment at his home, 614 North Thirty-seventh street, East St. Louis. His offices were in the Spivey Building, 417 Missouri avenue. A graduate of the School of Dentistry of St. Louis University in 1913, he had lived in East St. Louis since his youth.

Surviving are his wife, a son, William Guy Waters, Red Bud, Ill.; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Zody, Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Howard Harris, East St. Louis; a brother, William E. Waters Sr., East St. Louis, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Hood, also an East St. Louis dentist.

through affidavits, opinions of art experts and plain logic. The photographs in question simply could not have been taken at Dossena's studio, as asserted, art scholars here and elsewhere have said.

Of the cast, Nagel remarked: "I think it is about time that Mr. Parsons stopped holding press conferences and started coming forth with his evidence."

"If he will publish something, we will be glad to study it and weigh it against the evidence we have attesting to the Diana's authenticity. We are willing to submit the statue to any known test."

Nagel shrugged off as insignificant the fact, brought out by Parsons, that the statue was listed on an export register as "a modern forgery derived from Etruscan prototypes, with a declared value of $128" when it was shipped from Italy to the United States in 1952.

UNION IS FORMED BY PHYSICIANS AND DENTISTS

© New York Times News Service
NEW YORK, Feb. 23—What is believed to be the first collective bargaining organization of doctors in the United States has been formed by physicians and dentists of the New York City Department of Health.

The organization, known as the Doctors' Association of the Department of Health, has the certification of the City Labor Department, the support of the Health Department and the neutrality of the American Medical Association.

Salary increases, tenure and pension rights are among first objectives to be sought for more than 1000 persons who have worked on a provisional basis with the department since the late 1930s.

Its first meeting is to be held tonight. The organization, quietly in formation for three years, already has 700 members. Its president, Dr. Robert M. Robbins, said.

Dr. Robbins and the organization's general counsel Joseph G. Glass, said the group, independent of any organized labor group, is unique in this country and is expected to form a pattern for others to follow.

Airline Strike

United Air Lines must be represented by one union.

The engineers, saying they feared submergence in the Air Line Pilots Association, three times as large—and accompanying loss of their jobs—refused to fly. That grounded most jet and other four-engine flights under rules requiring a qualified engineer aboard.

Ron A. Brown, engineers' union president, and fellow officers were called to the Department of Labor today for a meeting with the three-member panel Mr. Kennedy set up to conduct an inquiry into the dispute.

Would Train Engineers.

Don Byrne, a spokesman for the union, criticized the A.L.P.A. Noting that Goldberg had announced two days ago that the A.L.P.A. had promised to maintain the status quo during the commission's inquiry, Byrne said Western had asserted it would train pilots for engineers' work aboard planes.

(The A.L.P.A. struck Western for three and a half months in 1958, finally going back to work when an arbitration award was agreed on. It gave top paid pilots $1597 a month, an increase of $108.)

Byrne said also the F.E.I.A. had received a copy of a letter from Senate Democratic majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana asking the Senate Labor Committee to investigate the National Mediation Board in connection with the case.

Byrne said Mansfield wanted to know why the board established an outside group to investigate the U.A.L. situation.

Stating that "there will be no deal without Western," the union spokesman said headquarters in Washington has more than 1000 telegrams to that effect from its 3500 members, 2700 of them on strike.

(Three major airlines reported today they had cut salaries of management personnel still on duty in Los Angeles, United Press International said. Spokesmen for American, T.W.A. and Pan American said salaries of supervisors had been cut by as much as 60 per cent. The Pan American spokesman said his line planned to eliminate company officers' salaries if the walkout continued.)

The union spokesman said attorneys for the strikers and the operators met until after 3 a.m. today and worked out many of the other problems.

The issue immediately involved is that of a return to work and not final settlement of the dispute that caused the walkout.

Deadline Set.

The pressure was taking these forms:

Five major airlines, joined at times by a sixth, told the strikers last night that if they "have not reported their availability for service" by noon today the carriers would withdraw their no-reprisals assurances.

Goldberg said after meeting with executives of the six lines yesterday that "there is no reason or justification to continue the walkout."

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, joined Mr. Kennedy in appealing to the strikers to return.

The optimistic note was sounded by panel chairman Nathan Feinsinger. After the commission met yesterday, he said it was proceeding "on the assumption that there will be a resumption of passenger service tomorrow."

The airlines issued their threat late yesterday after a conference arranged by the government in an effort to end the strike.

The union at first said it would poll its members. Later, the union announced that the vote was delayed because many of its officers were tied up in litigation started by the airlines and because of Western's position.

The Long Island newspaper Newsday says it has learned that striking flight engineers will disregard any orders of national union leaders to return to work unless their messages contain a secret code word.

The purpose of this device, the newspaper says, is to make it appear that the walkout is a "wildcat" strike over which elected union officers have no control.

"Elected officials could face legal action for encouraging the walkout if it could be proved that they co-ordinated the strike in the face of a court restraining order," Newsday says.

The newspaper says it learned of the secret code plan when one of its reporters, Don Drake, managed to slip undetected into a closed meeting last night of 140 members of the New York F.E.I.A. council employed by American Airlines.

No matter how many times Washington officials of the union direct zone leaders to end the airline strike, Newsday quoted a union leader as saying, no union member will go back to work unless a message contains a code word known to the local leaders.

Joining in the threat were Pan American, American, Trans World, Eastern and National. Flying Tiger, a cargo carrier, changed its position several times. The last word from its Burbank, (Calif.) headquarters was that the line had agreed to hold off a few hours on a plan to replace 85 striking engineers with pilots.

Feinsinger's panel planned to meet today with all parties concerned to discuss the mechanics of the inquiry.

Eastern, American and T.W.A. have been shut down completely. Pan American, National and Western have operated on drastically curtailed schedules.

You are probably thinking of SPRING PLANTING!

A TO Z NURSERY

would like to help you plan your landscaping this spring. You should not start spending money for plants until you have some definite plan in mind. Too many mistakes are made by people who do not know how to arrange plants properly. You should take into consideration the color of your home when selecting plants so that all the color of your plants blend well with your building. Size is another important factor, you should know how large plants will grow so that you do not plant them too close together or too close to a building.

If you will send us a picture of your home . . . tell us the color and the width of the front of your home, plus the size lot you have, we will make those landscape plans for your type of home. We will give you the size of each plant that we suggest and the price of it.

We will give you some good advice on how to buy plants and not be overcharged. If you were buying clothing you could not be overcharged because you know how much a pair of shoes should cost . . . but . . . do you know how much a Spruce tree, a Pine tree or some kind of Juniper is worth? Seedlings for these plants DOES NOT OBLIGATE YOU in any way, but it will give you some good ideas as to how to do a nice landscape job and the prices you should have to pay for different plants. We want you to take these plans and shop around. Now, if our prices were not competitive, we would not ask you to do this.

Labor Urges Stronger Steps Than Kennedy's Against Slump

By the Associated Press.
BAL HARBOUR, Fla., Feb. 23 — Labor's leaders warned yesterday that unemployment would rise to 8,000,000 by the beginning of next year if national output stayed at present levels. This would represent an increase of 2,600,000 over the present unemployment level.

The union chiefs asserted that even if Congress approved the full recovery program recommended by President Kennedy they expected joblessness to go up by at least 350,000 over the January figure of 5,400,000.

They estimated that the country's production of goods and services would have to go up three times as fast as the Kennedy program contemplates if anything approaching full employment was to be achieved by the end of this year.

These forecasts, the gloomiest yet made by any major group, were contained in an economic report made public by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations at its midwinter meeting here.

The report was prepared by the federation's economic policy committee, under the chairmanship of Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers.

It set forth labor's belief that much stronger anti-recession measures than any now pending in Congress were needed. The federation called specifically for a temporary cut of five billion dollars a year in withholding taxes to increase consumer purchasing power when the unemployment rate reaches 7 per cent. It predicted that this point would arrive with the publication of the official job figures for this month.

The report suggested an immediate start on a two-year program to "halt the decline and get the economy on the road to sustain full employment as rapidly as possible."

"An all-out effort is needed now to achieve a 15 per cent increase in national production in the two-year period between the end of 1960 and the final months of 1962," the federation said. "If such effort is not undertaken, joblessness will probably remain high throughout this year and in 1962 as well."

The report revives the campaign argument over what rate of economic growth the country required to restore prosperity. The Kennedy Administration, which had been critical of the Republicans for failing to achieve an adequate rate of economic expansion, has set itself a gross objective of a little under 3½ per cent a year.

The union chiefs contended that a 10 per cent gross would be necessary this year "to reduce unemployment to a level that approaches minimum joblessness and full employment." This would have to be followed by a 9 per cent increase next year to sustain jobs at a reasonably high level, the federation said. It believes that vastly expanded programs of slum clearance and public works and other pump priming measures will be required.

By the Associated Press.
The business recession is hitting hard at organized labor's own management operations, federation leaders said today. Lacking employment has reduced AFL-CIO dues-paying membership from about 13,500,000 to about 12,500,000, it was said. While dues revenue has been declining, union expenses have been increasing.

A retrenchment program is expected to result in some layoffs on the AFL-CIO headquarters staff in Washington as well as a tighter rein on donations to various causes which have been running about $1,000,000 a year.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council was expected to levy a temporary special assessment of two cents a member on affiliated unions to counter a general fund deficit that has climbed to about $700,000 in the last eight months.

The temporary additional dues payment, amounting to about $2,000,000, would continue until the AFL-CIO holds its next convention here in December when a permanent dues increase is expected to be proposed.

PLANE HITS HALL HALF HOUR AFTER 30 DANCERS LEAVE

DAVENPORT, Ia., Feb. 23 (AP)—Two Wisconsin men were killed last night when their private plane crashed into a suburban community hall where 30 young persons attended a dance a half hour earlier.

Members of the Assembly of God church next door were filling out of a prayer meeting when the plane came out of the heavy fog and rain, hit the community building and burst into flames. None of the churchgoers was injured.

The crash occurred in Green Acres, a residential district north of Davenport which the city recently annexed.

Authorities identified the occupants of the two-engine plane as Clarence A. St. Peter, a deputy sheriff at Port Washington, Wis., and Curtis A. Patient, Waterford, Wis.

THREE YOUTHS IDENTIFIED AS FOOD SHOP ROBBERS

Three youths were identified today by the operators of a food shop at 401 North Taylor avenue as the robbers who stole $27 in a holdup Feb. 12, police reported.

Police identified the three as William (Gene) Autry, 20 years old, 3500 block of Clemens avenue, who was released last December from Alcoa Reformatory where he served a term for automobile theft; Leon C. Winschel, 18, 4100 block of Fairview avenue, who was released three weeks ago from Alcoa after serving a two-year term for robbery; and James R. Morton, 4200 block of McPherson avenue, who has a record of six arrests as a juvenile.

The food shop operators, Al Mueller and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Florence Mueller, said two of the robbers displayed revolvers and the third a shotgun. The shotgun was discharged accidentally in the holdup. The three wore handkerchief masks. Central District Detectives Robert Tuckey and Jesse Rander arrested the three after receiving a tip.

POLICEMAN FIRES 3 SHOTS AT MEN TRYING TO ROB AUTO

Patrolman George Strebler fired three shots at two fleeing men whom he surprised late yesterday as they were trying to loot an automobile in an alley at the rear of 2015 Market street. The men got away.

Strebler said he saw the men scramble out of the parked machine and run as he drove into the alley in his one-man patrol car. He called to them to halt. When they continued running, the officer fired. The men, who apparently were not hit, fled through a vacant building. Dogs of the canine corps were called, but could not pick up a scent. A ventilator on the machine had been pried open to gain entrance to the car, Strebler said, and efforts had been made to get into the locked trunk through the back seat. The windshield was broken in an apparent effort to get the city license sticker, Strebler said.

U.S. GRAND JURY CHECKING LONGSHOREMEN'S RECORDS

A federal grand jury today began a preliminary investigation of recent financial records of the International Longshoremen's Association, Local 1820, to determine whether the union has violated the Landrum-Griffith Act.

The investigation was ordered by the Organized Crime and Racketeering section of the Department of Justice in Washington prior to the time Robert F. Kennedy became United States Attorney General.

The Government is interested in inspecting payments made by the local union to its officers, it was learned. United States Attorney William H. Webster, who will assist the grand jury in the inquiry, said, "We do not know if there is a violation of federal statutes here, or not."

Bull Wrecks Airplane.
WARSAW, Ind. (AP) — Red flags aren't the only thing which anger bulls. A 1100-pound bull escaped from his pasture and battered a parked red airplane at the Warsaw Community Airport to the tune of $500 damage.

CRANE IN REVERSE WHEN IT FELL INTO MISSILE SILO

ROSWELL, N.M., Feb. 23 (UPI)—The Army Corps of Engineers and the Air Force reported yesterday that a 20-ton truck crane was in reverse gear last Thursday when it backed into an Atlas missile silo near Roswell, killing six men.

The report was the outcome of an investigation which has been going on since the accident, which injured 14 civilian workers.

The report said that in the process of swinging the crane's boom, an unidentified oiler started the engine. The truck crane had been parked with the gears in low reverse, and when the machine started backing toward the silo, the oiler leaped from the cab, the report said.

eral agencies to reserve in advance sites that will be needed later for water reservoirs.

3. Allow joint development with Canada of power and flood control projects in the Columbia River Basin in the Pacific Northwest. This would be made possible through approval of a proposed treaty with Canada now pending in the Senate.

Two steps already taken by the President to strengthen flood control efforts were outlined. Under one, federal agencies are being asked to furnish data concerning flood hazards to all states. The objective is to assist in establishment of zoning regulations that would curb construction in areas subject to flooding. Under the other, Freeman has been asked to review the basic objectives of soil conservation and watershed programs, the message stated.

Problem of Water Supplies.

Mr. Kennedy disclosed that he has instructed Udall to see to it that needs for water supplies for municipal, industrial and power uses are given increased weight in the formulation of national policy.

The President warned that effective conservation programs are essential because of increasing demand for water supplies. He said the present usage of about 300 billion gallons of water daily is expected to double by 1980.

The message called for a sharp increase in efforts to control pollution of streams. The President expressed approval of pending legislation that would make about $125,000,000 in federal aid available annually for a series of projects including construction of local sewage treatment facilities. A bill that would have provided $300,000,000 yearly for such works was vetoed last year.

Mr. Kennedy said the proposed legislation also should strengthen the hand of the Federal Government in forcing local and state governments to clean up river pollution. It also should increase federal financial assistance for the operation of state and interstate water pollution control agencies, he added.

'Current Actions Inadequate.'

Calling for new efforts to determine the causes and means of control of water pollution, Mr. Kennedy stated: "Current corrective actions are not adequate. This year a national total of $350,000,000 will be spent from all sources on municipal waste treatment works. But $600,000,000 of construction is required annually to keep pace with the growing rate of pollution. Industry is lagging far behind in its treatment of wastes."

In a related field, the message called for stepped-up federal research and assistance in efforts to control air pollution. Details of this program were not spelled out, but the scope of the problem was suggested by an estimate that polluted air causes damage amounting to $7,500,000,000 annually to vegetation, livestock, metals and other materials.

Mr. Kennedy called for doubling present efforts to find an economical way to make ocean or brackish water fit for human consumption. Administration spokesmen said this would hike the federal outlay to about $10,000,000 a year.

In this connection, the President pledged that when the problem of converting saline water to fresh water is solved American knowledge "will immediately be made available to every nation in the world who wishes it, along with appropriate technical and other assistance for its use. Indeed, the United States welcomes now the co-operation of all other nations who wish to join in this effort at present."

Boosting Electric Power.

In outlining his views on electric power policy, the Chief Executive said present generating capacity must be tripled in the next 20 years.

He promised to utilize remaining sites for installation of hydroelectric power projects. Hydroelectric capacity also will be included in all multiple-purpose river projects where justified, he added.

The message did not spell out Mr. Kennedy's views in any greater detail nor did it list dam projects that might be undertaken.

Mr. Kennedy said that, in marketing federal power, preference will be given to public agencies and co-operatives. He noted that he has directed Freeman to develop plans for the early interconnection of areas served by federal power agencies with adequate common carrier transmission lines and for further national co-operative pooling of public and private electric power.

The President said his administration would encourage basic research and engineering advances in the hope that economically competitive nuclear power can be achieved within the next 10 years.

Mr. Kennedy urged enactment of legislation that would accelerate forest development on federal public lands.

Wilderness Areas, Shores.

Other legislation recommended by the President included measures that would protect certain wilderness areas as national monuments and establish Cape Cod and other seashore areas as part of the national park system.

Mr. Kennedy said he had directed formulation of a comprehensive federal program governing recreational areas, including the location of such areas in major urban areas. He has also ordered a study to determine where additional recreational areas should be to meet future needs and an effort to eliminate conflicting policy in wildlife conservation programs.

The President warned that "a proper course of conservation and development" is essential if the nation is not to exhaust its natural resources in the near future.

"Present projections tell us," he said, "that our water use will double in the next 20 years; that we are harvesting our supply of high-grade timber more rapidly than the development of new growth; that too much of our fertile topsoil is being washed away; that our minerals are being exhausted at increasing rates and that the nation's re-maintaining undeveloped areas of great natural beauty are being rapidly pre-empted for other uses."

The message generally did not refer to specific projects that might be undertaken under the general policies enunciated by the President. Legislation detailing these is expected to go to Congress later.

BONN CURB ON WEAPONS

BONN, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Bundestag approved legislation yesterday to make punishable by fine or imprisonment any unauthorized manufacture or transport of military weapons to troubled areas endangering peace. The measure now goes to the upper house where approval is regarded as certain.

In the last year the French have seized numerous West German vessels alleged to have had weapons aboard destined for Algerian rebels.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN ON MUSIC, FINE ARTS

Courses in music and fine arts will be offered to students at St. Louis University who want to major in the two fields at Webster College, under a co-operative agreement of the two schools, it was announced yesterday.

Sister Jacqueline, vice president for development at Webster College, said at a special student assembly that the college hopes to open a fine arts center in the fall of 1962 on the Thompson House property, which was acquired last September in an exchange of real estate with the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri. The property is across Big Bend boulevard from the college.

St. Louis University does not offer degrees in music or fine arts, but students can minor in the two fields. The university said in a statement that it "has been definitely decided that this minor will not be developed into a major program."

Sister Jacqueline said the university will provide academic courses for men enrolled in the fine arts center at Webster College. Students majoring in the two fields, she said, will receive their degrees from the college's center.

"We feel that this kind of co-operation will enable us to make a much needed contribution," Sister Jacqueline declared. "There is no fine arts center in Catholic higher educational institutions in this area and very few in the entire country."

She said the center will be started with the possibility in mind of accepting students from other local colleges as well as St. Louis University.

Sister Jacqueline also announced that four fields will be dropped as major curriculum subjects by Webster College. They are home economics, dietetics, medical technology and psychology.

Fontbonne College already has geared its facilities and faculty development in the areas of home economics and dietetics, she continued. "To duplicate their efforts would be an injustice to the sources on which we are all dependent for building funds," she asserted.

She stated that St. Louis University "has an excellent medical technology program in connection with its degree nursing program." Sister Jacqueline said that research into university graduate programs in psychology shows that they prefer an 18 to 20-hour concentration in psychology with a major from another field as a basis for graduate work in psychology.

The Webster College official added that the college plans to open a music hall in the main house on the old Thompson property in the next few months.

Plans for the fine arts center call for providing complete facilities for the college's departments of arts and drama.

TUCKER HAILS CITY BOND ISSUE VOTES

The role of St. Louis voters in providing funds for public improvements in recent years was extolled last night by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker in an address to the Twenty-seventh Ward Regular Democratic Organization.

Tucker, a candidate for re-nomination, said that a series of bond issues approved by the voters since 1933 had enabled his administration to provide badly needed improvements denied in the previous decade because the attention of St. Louisans had been diverted by national and international problems.

Mark R. Holloran, who opposes Tucker for the Democratic nomination for mayor in the primary March 7, announced today that he will not accept funds from corporations in his campaign.

Holloran said he had directed his campaign manager, Thomas J. Guilfoil, to ascertain the legality of using corporate funds in a primary election. Guilfoil questioned Circuit Attorney Daniel P. Reardon Jr., who replied that Missouri law prohibits a corporation from "directly or indirectly endeavoring to procure the election of any person to a public office by the use of money belonging to the corporation."

"The most subtle evil is not direct corporate contributions," Holloran said, "but those indirectly made through associations, non-profit groups or other intermediaries. If there is any suggestion that a candidate is receiving the benefit of corporation funds, I am sure that appropriate law enforcement agencies will take effective action."

BURGLARY AT HIGH SCHOOL

An undetermined sum of petty cash was stolen from Maplewood-Richmond Heights Senior High School, 7539 Manchester road by burglars who knocked the combination off a vault, school authorities said today.

A basement window was forced to gain entrance to the building on the holiday for the George Washington's birthday. The theft was discovered by a custodian early today.

SHIRKING OF DUTY ON POLLUTION CITED

Many industries are spending a great deal of time and money to help alleviate river pollution but there are still many companies shirking this responsibility, Richard Nelle, chief of the Illinois Bureau of Stream Pollution Control, said last night.

Industry has a responsibility not to deprive of water others who have an equal claim on this resource, he declared. He spoke at a meeting of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers at the Elks Club in Granite City.

He did not name any of the companies.

"An industry must recognize a stream's capacity to assimilate waste," he said. Four "freedom" which rivers should be given, he added, are freedom from floating debris, freedom from substances which cause odor or color, freedom from anything that might settle and freedom from substances harmful to animal or aquatic life.

Another speaker, Clair N. Sawyer, director of research of Metcalf and Eddy Engineers, Boston, listed six basic considerations in industry's role in minimizing pollution.

These were aesthetic factors, or keeping a river free of floating, coloring or odorous matters; chemical pollution which might be poisonous; solid materials that settle and create sludge banks and fill channels; biochemical oxygen demand, or materials that take oxygen from the stream; public health aspects, or disease-causing elements, and thermal pollution, or water used for cooling which results in raising a stream's temperature and endangering fish life.

"It is commonly accepted that the problem from industrial waste and domestic waste is about equal," he said, "but industrial waste has a multitude of characteristics and hence will have a variety of effects."

FAKED FARM OUTPUT FIGURES, 2 IN UKRAINE GET 3 YEARS

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP)—Two district agricultural officials in the Ukraine have been sentenced to three years in prison for faking vegetable production figures, Pravda reported last night.

The two, identified as Khorol district agricultural inspector N. I. Shevchik and purchasing agent S. I. Didenko, are believed to be the first agricultural officials to get prison terms in the drive to spur farm production.

An Agriculture Ministry experimental farm has been slaughtering and selling prize cattle on the black market in Moscow, the newspaper Komsomolskaya

Pravda charged yesterday. The paper did not say what has happened to the director and his staff.

Kennecott Copper Subsidiary In Chile Makes Big Profits, Under Heavy Political Fire

Substandard Housing in Company Towns Provides Ammunition for Communists, Socialists—Good Pay Helps Make Up for Hardships.

This is another of a series of articles by a Post-Dispatch team investigating Communist infiltration in South America.

By RICHARD DUDMAN

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEWELL, CHILE, Feb. 23.

THE CASE OF the Braden Copper Co. shows some of the profits and problems encountered by a United States firm operating in a key industry in Latin America.

Profits last year can be judged by the fact that Braden paid the Chilean government $51,000,000 in taxes based on a scale that slides from 50 to 75 per cent of net earnings.

As for the problems, Communist and socialist signs plaster the company's mine, mill and smelter and the tenements of the workers. Braden's company towns are expected to swing heavily to the left in the congressional elections March 5.

Braden, a subsidiary of the Kennecott Copper Co., runs the largest underground copper mine in the world here at Sewell in the Andes mountains 50 miles southeast of Santiago in the province of O'Higgins. The company mills and smelts its own product and exports 40 per cent of Chile's total copper output. Communists and socialists, close allies in Chile, complain that "Yankee imperialists" are robbing the country of its birthright. They call for nationalization of the copper industry. A common slogan is "Chile's copper for Chile."

ON A MORE specific complaint, the government itself recently had something to say. The government copper department, in a formal report two weeks ago, singled out Braden for criticism of the way it houses its employees.

Most of the old tenements at Sewell and at Caletones, where Braden has its smelter, "do not meet adequate social and hygienic standards," the report said. Braden has made no public response to the charge. Part of the answer may be that the copper department is in a bureaucratic struggle over its own future and wants to show its importance. But a more important factor is that the criticism is accurate.

Workers in the mine and mill live in barracks-like frame buildings ranged up the side of the mountain of copper ore that Braden has been working for 50 years and expects to work for another 50 to 200.

The hillside is so steep that streets are mainly stairways and catwalks. These serve as play areas for the many children as well as routes for their parents to take to work or the company store.

The tenements, mostly built in 1922, have four or five floors each, with eight or 10 families to the floor. At each level is one cold-water spigot to supply the entire floor. Each level also has a common bathroom and lavatory for the men and another for the women.

A TYPICAL apartment has three rooms, each 12 feet square, regardless of the size of the family. A man and wife and their four children managed to find sleeping space for the whole family by using folding beds.

There are no closets or cupboards. Some families store suitcases and winter clothes on improvised shelves near the ceiling. Tricycles, sleds and tin bathtubs are often hung out the window on hooks to save space inside.

In winter, 12 feet of snow is not uncommon at the 7000-foot elevation and families must stay crowded inside their small apartments. Liquor is forbidden. The only way in and out of the company town is on the company train.

Good pay helps make up for the hardship. Workers get $3.70 to $5.50 a day plus statutory fringe benefits such as pensions and year-end bonuses.

In addition, they get free living quarters, utilities, medical care in a 120-bed company hospital staffed with 12 doctors. The company provides buildings for government schools and adds to the teachers' salaries.

THESE PAY rates are high by Chilean standards. A family can save a good deal in a few years of inconvenient living. But part of the earnings go into household appliances and overstocked furniture, bought through time payments deducted each week by the company.

Partly because of complaints and partly for improved efficiency, the company now wants to invest $200,000,000 in a project to dig a 10-mile tunnel for a new mine entrance at the 1700-foot level of the central valley. This would permit building a new town out of the snow zone and off company property. The company plans to pay the government $20,000,000 to help finance individually-owned houses.

The new city at Codelgua would hold all the present 7000 employees plus probably some additional hands. The new tunnel is expected to increase production from the present 500 tons of copper a day to close to 800 tons.

Approval by the Chilean Congress is necessary for the change. Leftist parties may stand in the way if they made big gains in the elections next month. The Communists and Socialists prefer the company town, where the workers are hemmed in and the company can be blamed for everything.

Copper is by no means Chile's largest industry, being less than half as big as manufacturing and only about half as big as agriculture. But copper does produce three-quarters of Chile's foreign exchange and earns for the government about $100,000,000 a year in direct revenues.

Braden and the Anaconda Copper Co. together produce more than 90 per cent of Chile's copper. They inevitably will be political targets whenever there is trouble.

FBI Chief in White House Visit

Symington Disputes Missile Gap Denial, Says It May Be 10 to 1

By THOMAS W. OTTENAD

A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.

SENATOR STUART SYMINGTON (Dem., Missouri), yesterday disputed published reports denying that Russia holds a missile lead over the United States and asserted:

"There is a long-range ballistic missile gap today and there will be one for some time to come."

Figures he used indicated the present Soviet lead over the United States in intercontinental ballistic missiles may be as wide as 10 to 1.

The figures hinted strongly that the United States stockpile of intercontinental ballistic missiles totals no more than 15 while the Russians' may amount to 150.

In a speech to the Senate late in the afternoon, Symington attacked reports published by some newspapers about three weeks ago. These accounts said studies made by the Kennedy Administration showed the predicted missile gap between the United States and Russia had not developed.

SYMINGTON, who is regarded as an authority on defense matters, said: "If there are those who wish to believe, in spite of the evidence, that the Russians have not possessed a considerable missile production capability for the past two years and have produced no more missiles than one plant in the United States can produce in two or three months, then these people are easily comforted."

"It is a fact that our one long-

New Confusion Rises in Bonn On Foreign Aid

Officials Say Taxes Won't Be Levied to Meet Commitments.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

BONN, Feb. 23.

NEW CONFUSION has arisen about West Germany's economic aid program for underdeveloped countries less than a week after it was discussed by German officials and President Kennedy.

So many divergent statements on the issue have been made at high levels of the Bonn government since the Washington talks that the West German press yesterday described the situation as chaotic.

In the last 24 hours, at least two Bonn cabinet ministers have stated in one form or another that West Germany will not impose the taxes that would appear to be necessary to assure a German foreign aid plan of one billion dollars a year.

THIS SUM has frequently been mentioned as one that would provide meaningful relief for the United States balance of payments problem. Whether West Germany would raise the one billion dollars was the key issue discussed by Mr. Kennedy with a German delegation headed by Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano last week in Washington.

West German Finance Minister Franz Etzel said that an increase in taxes for this purpose was not only excluded at present but would remain so after next fall's national elections.

Hans Wilhelm, minister for government property, who flew to New Delhi yesterday to discuss German aid to India, made a similar statement. West Germany furnished some $250,000,000 to India in loans and technical assistance in that country's second five-year plan, and Wilhelm said that the German contribution to the third five-year plan would be of about the same order.

IN ADDITION, Vice Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, who also serves

Smith of Rules Committee Keeps Up Sniping at Rayburn

Seeks to Speed to House Those Bills Most Calculated to Annoy Speaker and Slow Down Machinery.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS

A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

© 1961, St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.

IT WAS A FAMOUS VICTORY, but in the cold gray dawn the leaders of the victorious legion are realizing that the war has just begun.

The victory was the five-vote margin by which the House enlarged the Rules Committee and thereby supposedly broke the control that Chairman Howard W. Smith exercised over the legislative right of way. But Judge Smith, as he is called with varying degrees of respect and affection by his admirers, is proving to be the original Br'er Fox of the House briar patch.

Like Mosby's raiders in his native Virginia in the War Between the States, the judge is directing a harassing operation, against his mortal enemy, Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. The judge is seeking to speed to the floor of the House those measures most calculated to annoy the Speaker and gum up the machinery.

Since the Rules Committee has no rules, meeting at the whim of the chairman, Smith has great powers. The test still to come in the continuing warfare is whether the new majority on the committee, created by the appointment of two pro-Rayburn Democrats, will assert authority and direct the functioning of the committee. In an initial skirmish, Smith went down to defeat.

TAKING A COLD and calculating look at the form sheets, Rayburn's lieutenants are not encouraged about the outlook for the major pieces of the Kennedy legislative program. On form alone—that is based on previous votes and on known attitudes—only the extension of unemployment benefits has a good chance of passage.

Minimum wage, area redevelopment, aid to education, medical care and other key proposals would be defeated by fairly substantial margins. That was the finding earlier this month of an analysis by the Congressional Quarterly which happens to coincide with a careful survey made by Representative Richard Bolling, a Rayburn lieutenant on the Rules Committee.

This analysis ignores factors which are in the end likely to

ADENAUER TALKS WITH MACMILLAN ON GOLD PROBLEM

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and West German Chancellor Adenauer agreed today the nations of the free world must get together to produce a long term solution of their money problems.

Britain's treasury chief, Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd, will go to Bonn early in March to discuss basic financial problems.

These problems arise specifically from the fact that gold reserves are flowing outward from such countries as Britain and the United States into the coffers of West Germany.

Macmillan and Adenauer talked for two hours today, as they did yesterday. A spokesman described the talks as "informal, easy and outspoken in the character of what is now the Anglo-German working friendship. The talks were extremely satisfactory."

On the political front, they undertook a review of East-West relations. It was understood Adenauer agreed with the general Macmillan thesis that an opportunity now appears to be opening up for fruitful negotiations with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

COURT BLOCKS CONFISCATION OF ART COLLECTION BY CUBA

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (UPI)—The art collection of the late Cuban sugar magnate Oscar B. Cintas has been saved from possible confiscation by the Fidel Castro government.

The $2,000,000 collection, including paintings by Hals, Rembrandt, El Greco, Velazquez and Gainsborough, is stored here, but has been released to the Cuban Art Foundation, Inc., under the terms of the sugar magnate's will. The will was written and filed in New York.

However, the paintings cannot be removed to Cuba unless the State Attorney General is consulted. This stipulation was required yesterday by Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz as a condition of his approval of a court settlement by four contestants who will share a total of $765,000.

Letters from the People

Congo and New Orleans

I was initially infuriated by certain elements, both white and colored, who were pictured demonstrating against the United Nations and the death of Patrice Lumumba. I later watched a television program which was a film documentary on the integration crisis in New Orleans.

I then compared my two emotions and asked myself how I would react in this supposedly free country if my children were similarly treated. I could not help but compare this ironic world situation:

1. Attempting on the one hand to sell the African on the attributes of Democracy over Communism and,
2. Using armed force in New Orleans to get a 6-year-old colored girl safely into a previously all-white school.

No wonder the American Negro is demonstrating. If President Kennedy is smart, he will concentrate on giving all Americans equal rights, letting the political chips fall where they may and then worrying about the economy.

America is now in the World Courtroom and the trial has begun. We will only be respected and win our case if we practice what we preach. Concerned White Man

Caroline's Turn

Unless I miss my guess, the sort of reader who felt a chauvinistic lump in his throat while reading your recent canonization of Caroline Kennedy as some sort of national asset is the same type who used to experience an unpleasant nauseous sensation in the T-zone during a previous era whenever "my wife Pat" would smile and wave to her throngs in one of those good-will foreign tours. . . . and vice versa. Inspect the Inspector

This is an alert and warning to unsuspecting housewives: Here's an experience a friend of mine just had.

A well-dressed man appeared at her door, flashing a badge, and announced that he was sent by the City Building Inspector's Office to inspect her premises for a purported gas leak. He came in, went to the basement and soon called her as he struck a match to a connection and flames shot up.

This, he said, was real proof of a serious gas leak, which would have to be taken care of forthwith, as it was endangering not only her life and property, but that of her neighbors as well.

He said she would be required to post a bond in the amount of $4500, which he called a sort of safety guarantee. This would be refunded to her if and when the trouble was remedied.

When she said she did not have that kind of money and started to call her attorney, he hastily departed, saying he would return the next day and the leak had better be fixed by then.

She then called the Laclede Gas Co. and they promptly sent out two men, who made a thorough inspection and assured her there was absolutely no leak anywhere. When she was still puzzled as to what caused the flame they said he evidently gave that part a quick shot of cigarette lighter fluid before touching a match to it, as this trick has been pulled elsewhere before.

Needless to say the impostor never returned. E. L. Richmond Heights

The Difference in Dismas

With the growth and success of "Friends of Dismas" have come queries as to the connection between it and the organization called "Dismas House Foundation." They are two different groups.

"Friends of Dismas" was founded by Mrs. Leo J. Lewis, Mrs. Harry Kessler and Miss Mary Margaret Cook; it intends to continue to aid the Rev. Charles Dismas Clark S.J. financially but, as in the past, with dignity, honesty, respectability and proper public relations.

It is governed by its board of directors — all women — and is responsible only to Father Clark.

It has "aided" other groups but "sponsored" only those projects that began with an idea conceived by its membership body and executed entirely by them.

It turns over to Father Clark without benefit of advice or second-person handling all proceeds from each benefit. It operates as a separate and independent organization and lends neither its name nor its support to any affair not considered by its members to be in the best interest of Father Clark and his work or designed to publicize or further personal interest of any one party.

Kennedy's Economic Goals

In the context of the Kennedy Administration's economic philosophy the new 21-member advisory committee on labor-management policy is something more than just another Government commission. Its announced purpose is to promote collective bargaining, industrial peace, sound wage and price policies and higher living standards. It is composed of top-flight representatives of the public, labor and industry, and it means to get results.

The chairman this year is to be Secretary of Labor Goldberg, who has advocated the creation of such a committee for some time. Mr. Goldberg outlined his ideas last year in a speech before a meeting sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers. It is perhaps no coincidence that President Kennedy's executive order establishing the committee contained language closely paralleling that of Mr. Goldberg's N.A.M. speech.

The Administration will use the committee as one of its instruments in the effort to control wage and price inflation, bring about and maintain full employment, strengthen the domestic economy and put the nation in a better position to compete in international markets. A recent analysis in The Wall Street Journal stated the goal as follows:

With a sense of high purpose officials intend to alter the inner working of the American economy in a basic way—by subordinating traditional market mechanisms for setting prices, and by superimposing the "public" will. Prices of all kinds will be affected if this philosophy is effectively carried into practice: The pricing of industrial products, farm commodities, money and human labor. Enormous pressures available to government will be applied, to force some of these prices up from present levels, and to hold others below what the market would bear.

There is no intention to institute formal wage and price controls of the wartime variety. The results are to be achieved by an aggressive use of the formal and informal means at hand. As an example of how the theory would work in practice, the Journal suggests that the Government will enter this year's forthcoming labor contract negotiations in the automobile industry even before the bargaining begins. (Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and Henry Ford II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., are committee members.)

We doubt that the Government will "enter" the contract negotiations in a formal way. But there are many ways in which the Goldberg committee could express the public interest in key labor-management negotiations at a time when the expression would be most effective.

That there is a public interest in the outcome of such key negotiations is indisputable. When the outcome is a damaging national strike, the Government inevitably steps in, but at a time when frozen positions may minimize its effectiveness. When the outcome is an inflationary wage or price increase, the public interest is self-evident, but by then it is too late for anything to be done about it.

Why should not the public point of view be made clear by the Government at a time when both management and labor can pay some attention to it? There is no need for Government to take over collective bargaining, but it can and should assert the national interest in the outcome of key negotiations.

Fortunately, there are many responsible business and labor leaders who realize that there is no place in the modern world for a strike such as occurred in the steel industry in 1959, with its final political settlement. The absent element has been Government initiative in representing the public. If this can be brought to bear in a vigorous and equitable manner the country will benefit.

Jets and Lagging Safety

An impressive example of how dangerously the jet airliner has outflown the nation's lagged air traffic regulations emerges from the Senate Aviation Subcommittee hearing.

Even Senator Monroney, a veteran flyer himself and also father of the Federal Aviation Agency, was shocked when he learned from a witness of the overlapping of some holding patterns, in which planes circle as they await instructions. The patterns were set 25 years ago in the day of the 180-mile-an-hour DC-3. This revelation is a reminder of the repeated warnings in aviation circles that traffic control is far behind the 600-mile-an-hour jets.

Another deficiency in airway safety was revealed in discussing the possibility of curtailing flights in crowded areas. Alan S. Boyd, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, indicated that a temporary reduction of flights could be ordered by FAA but cited litigation questioning CAB authority to curtail flights. It is to be expected that the hearing will bring to light more matters vital to air safety but these two revelations alone show how great was the need for the inquiry.

Priming for Clean Water

The expanded program for waste treatment plants which has been introduced in Congress offers an ideal combination of urgent public works undertaken at a time when they are needed also to combat unemployment. As proposed by Representative Blatnik and Senator Humphrey, both of Minnesota, it goes somewhat farther than the measure vetoed by former President Eisenhower last year, but no farther than is absolutely necessary to stop the worsening contamination of the country's water supplies. Nearly 400 of the sewage treatment plants whose construction it would spur are situated in areas of substantial unemployment.

Already the bare-minimum program of grants-in-aid which has been effective since 1956 has stimulated the heaviest sewage plant construction in the nation's history, with $1,000,000,000 of local funds invested at a rate of 4½ to 1 for every federal dollar spent to spur it on. If this demonstrably minimal encouragement has produced such spectacular results there is every reason to believe that a really adequate federal program will do even more. The objective of the measures now before Congress is to clean up the lag in waste treatment plant construction by 1970—an endeavor which will call for total investments of $600,000,000 a year.

On its achievement the prosperity of the nation's commerce and industry in the years immediately ahead will depend to a marked degree. For as every study of the water pollution problem in the United States has shown, growing production demands soaring quantities of clean water—and if the water is unavailable for use on account of pollution, the expansion of business—and of job opportunities—will be crippled. The Blatnik-Humphrey bill offers the means to keep the water supply up to our advancing needs.

Home Rule for Growth

St. Louis county seems to be on the verge of forfeiting for another two years the opportunity to remove the two most serious impediments to its economic growth. These are the county government's lack of power to provide county-wide services and its lack of effective authority to control land use.

The Aschemeyer "county powers" bill is presently in a state of suspended animation in a House committee at Jefferson City. It calls for a Constitutional change permitting the county, by Charter amendment, to perform municipal functions anywhere in the county. It also gives the County Council authority to prohibit the formation of new towns or to initiate incorporations, disincorporations and consolidations when approved by the people affected.

The County Council has endorsed a version that would permit the county to handle only a limited number of specific services. Rep. Aschemeyer has agreed to substitute this proposal for his own provided the Council can persuade all the remaining members of the county's legislative delegation to go along. But so far the Council has been unable to obtain sufficient commitments.

The Council's own proposal is unnecessarily restrictive, no doubt in deference to objections from the County Municipal League. Some members of the League, evidently including its president, are opposed to giving the county any area-wide powers at all.

But the county clearly needs certain area-wide powers now, and as it grows other needs not now apparent may develop. Who can read the future? Since a Constitutional amendment is involved (requiring a statewide vote for approval), the measure ought to be as general as can be, not narrow and limited, so that county voters would be free to do what they want to do when the need arises. The Council's proposal violates an elementary principle of constitution drafting in that it attempts to legislate specifics rather than speak in broad terms. Under it, if a need developed that was not spelled out a new Constitutional amendment would have to be submitted. The people of the whole state would make the decision rather than the people of the county alone.

We hope that the Council will abandon its limited proposal and muster all possible support behind the Aschemeyer resolution, which would be the most effective means of stimulating the rate of economic growth the county must attain to keep pace with its rising population.

Sugaring a Dictator

Congress ought to release the Kennedy Administration from the embarrassing predicament in which it put the previous Administration on sugar quotas. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has asked, in a letter to Speaker Rayburn, for authority to deny the Dominican Republic a share of the sugar purchases originally allotted to Cuba. When the Cuban quotas were cut, Congress reassigned them in a way that gave the Dominican dictatorship almost a tenfold windfall.

Mr. Rusk says this is "inconsistent with our opposition to dictatorship in Cuba." The United States joined other American republics in denouncing the Trujillo regime and in imposing economic sanctions. Congress ought to permit the government to practice what it preaches under a new sugar act.

Planning for People

Chairman William H. Harrison of the City Plan Commission believes that city planning must consider more than concrete and steel, roads and parks. Beyond physical improvements, the planner should, he says, take all aspects of urban living together. Hence he suggests that some new agency be formed to help acquaint new citizens of St. Louis with their rights and responsibilities.

St. Louis has accepted a large new population since World War II. The influx of newcomers, particularly those from the rural South, found St. Louis as unprepared for urban living. The statistics on decaying neighborhoods, crime rates and unemployment reflect a situation in which it is difficult to distinguish between cause and effect.

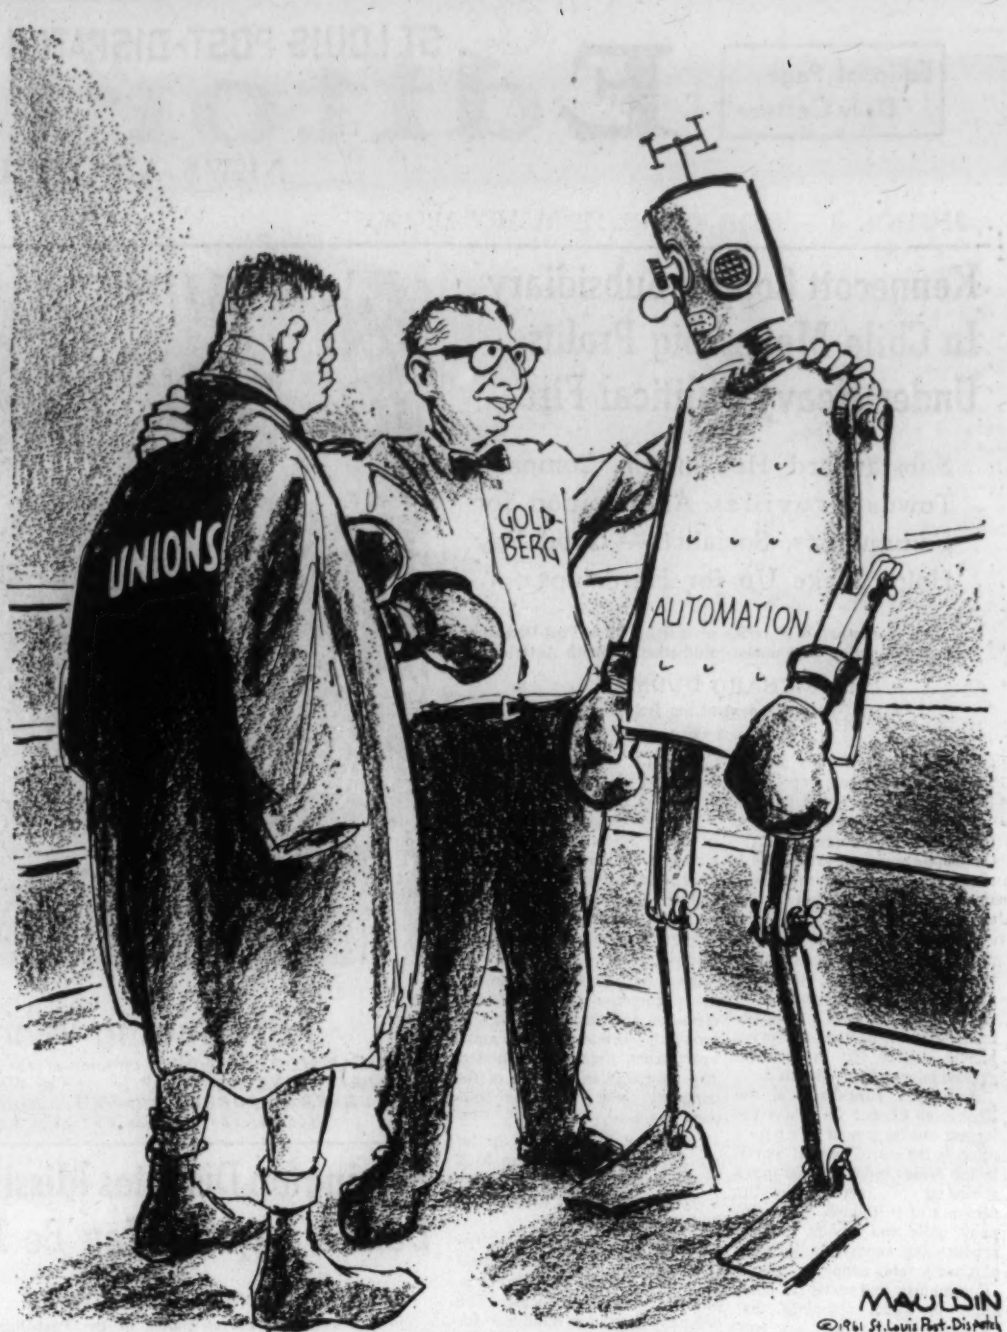

John Poland, commission planning director, recalls that Detroit distributed pamphlets on problems of city life to its new residents. A more personal form of guidance would seem advisable. In any case, Chairman Harrison is right in equating rights with responsibilities. If newcomers are to be advised of common duties toward the city, the city must be equally aware of their need for jobs and decent housing. As Mayor Tucker has said, the entire area suffers from under-utilization of its inhabitants. Bringing the city and its people closer together is a sound objective for city planners.

Progress on Laos

Hopes for a settlement in Laos received a setback, though perhaps a minor one, when Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Communist-line Pathet Lao guerrillas, denounced the declaration of Laotian neutrality recently enunciated by King Savang Vatthana. The King spoke "under armed pressure," Souphanouvong said in a statement reported by the Red Chinese news agency.

Neither Red China nor the Soviet Union, however, has yet been critical of the King's proposal. The United States has been seeking support of the King's plan to invite a neutral commission, composed of Cambodia, Burma and Malaya, to visit Laos and insure its non-alignment. Secretary of State Rusk called Soviet Ambassador Menshikov to the State Department to seek his backing; Mr. Menshikov later said only that he would report to Moscow.

The fact that the Soviet airlift of supplies to the Pathet Lao has been interrupted for several days could mean that the Russians are considering the new proposal, though it might be due to other causes. The airlift, which the Russians have not acknowledged, began in December. Meanwhile the United States is continuing to seek speedy formation of a neutral commission. This is a solution all sides can accept with honor.

Ethics for Congress Too

Congressional Attention to Conflicts of Interest Ought to Invite Self-Inspection

An Editorial in The Milwaukee Journal

The problem of conflict of interest is getting the extra attention it usually receives when a new Administration takes office and a new Congress convenes.

President Kennedy early announced his determination that his Administration shall have a high ethical tone. He has announced that in general he will accept no gifts and that any gifts that cannot be properly or easily refused will be sent to museums and other institutions, including orphanages. And he named a panel to look into conflict of interest only two days after he took office.

The report probably will follow a study prepared for the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Bayless Manning of the Yale law school, a member of the three-man panel making the survey for the President, directed the New York study. It emphasized the role of the President in serving as the example of the ethical tone of his Administration. It advocated some tightening of conflict of interest rules, co-ordinating and bringing together numerous laws governing conflict of interest and recognizing "the legitimate private economic interests of government employees."

Congress has bills before it dealing with conflict of interest and undoubtedly will do some studying of its own. Congress has been especially alert to any seeming conflict of interest on the part of Cabinet and sub-Cabinet appointees. The Senate Armed Services Committee, early in the Eisenhower Administration, insisted that Charles E. Wilson, former General Motors president, give up sizable holdings in that firm. It has applied the same rule to Defense Department appointees since, insisting that they hold no interest in firms with which the department does business. Robert McNamara, new Defense Secretary, had to give up the holdings he had in the Ford Motor Co., which he had headed. These are, as the committee says, "harsh" requirements. But they can be defended—at least until some other means is found for dealing with such conflicts.

But through it all Congressmen go unscathed. Senators and Representatives hold what stocks they choose, and vote blithely on bills affecting companies in which they are interested. Many have television or radio interests and do business with the Federal Communications Commission. Many hold partnerships in law firms that do business with government.

Congress should practice what it preaches.

Contraband Books From The Washington Post

The Treasury Department, like the Post Office Department, has been dabbling in censorship. We suggest to Secretary Dillon that he follow the splendid example set by Postmaster General Day in closing that chamber of pornographic horrors which his predecessor had maintained for the delectation of interested visitors. The Secretary of the Treasury could usefully instruct his Bureau of Customs to confine its activities to the discovery of contraband and to forgo the licensing of literature.

The Bureau of Customs makes a practice of seizing at the Port of New York, books which its inspectors do not wish their homecoming fellow-citizens to read.

Just what standards these uniformed Bureau of Customs censors apply to their seizures it is difficult to determine from the wide variety of literary works they have impounded; one can only say that they appear to be catholic in their distastes.

The American Civil Liberties Union rendered a service by challenging the seizure of three books from a returning traveler: Lawrence Durrell's "The Black Book," Paul A. LeBlanc's "I Hear Voices" and a volume containing three stories by Samuel Beckett. The Beckett and Durrell books are printed and available in the United States, and the Durrell book was a best seller.

The books were released to their owner when the A.C.L.U. made its complaint—a practice enabling the Bureau of Customs to avoid the embarrassment of a court test. As the executive director of the A.C.L.U., Patrick Murphy Malin, observed, the average citizen suffers the seizure of a book silently rather than risk the expense involved in contesting the seizure.

Consequently, judicial determination of whether a seized book is obscene is a comparative rarity. And what sense is there in giving customs inspectors such power? They employ it not to protect great numbers of innocent children and not-so-innocent adults from the poison of pornography but merely to keep one Government official thick in his intellectual consumption. This is pure officiousness, as ludicrous as it is unbecoming to a free people.

RESPONSIBILITY OF THE U.N.

The New York Herald Tribune
Despite the political mess, despite the reversion to tribalism, despite the collapse of so much of its social, medical and industrial structure, there is still hope for The Congo. Its resources could make it the richest state in Africa. But it must have peace and it must have time. This is the heart of the U.N.'s responsibility.

Between Book Ends A Rousseauesque Experiment

SUMMERHILL, by A. S. Neill. (Hart, 392 pgs., $5.75.)

Parents looking for a solution to the problem of what to do about a gifted child—or a retarded one—can find a fairly simple answer in this book: Leave him alone. Love him, provide him with food and shelter, surround him with other children and let him grow.

The author, A. S. Neill, is a practitioner of what he calls a "radical approach to child-rearing." Now in his late seventies, Mr. Neill has been carrying on his experiment at "Summerhill" for nearly 40 years. Whether "Summerhill" is a school, or could be more accurately described as a year-round camp or a juvenile Utopia depends on your definition of school. At any rate, it annually harbors from 40 to 75 children who are between 4 and 17 years of age.

They are given a minimum amount of adult discipline, no religion and only as much formal education as suits the individual tastes of each. Still, its graduates who are so inclined pass the university entrance examinations and go on to higher education, and it has been approved by government educational authorities. Needless to say this interesting institution is not in America.

Its director has a Rousseauesque notion of the nature of a child—a child is innately good, kind, ethical and moral, and if left to himself he will be all those things and mentally and physically healthy besides. "Summerhill" provides classrooms, instructors, workshops, laboratories, studios and playgrounds, and then it's the dealer's choice for each child. Most of them sooner or later choose to learn the three R's; but not all of them do.

One of Mr. Neill's favorite alumni left the school at 17 without having chosen to learn to read. He is now happily practicing the mechanic's trade, having chosen to learn to read on his own after he got a job. Mr. Neill is glad to let it be known that he would rather turn out a happy street-cleaner than a neurotic scholar.

Of course the fact that his pupils do not lapse into savagery may not be entirely due to the complete freedom he allows them. They do gradually learn that they must wash their faces, wear clothes and avoid obscene language, if only to avoid bringing shame on their school in the eyes of outsiders they encounter on their trips to the movies in the English village near the school.

Besides, though the director sees himself as powerless and self-effacing vis-a-vis his pupils, in reality his personality is the school. He is essentially an epitome of the tolerant, kindly, free-thinking, generous and witty British eccentric. His pupils sense the vast extent of his good intentions and humor him, though he fancies that they are entirely self-governing.

Along with Mr. Neill's book comes a small brochure with indorsements of his methods by 38 prominent Americans, ranging from Smiley Blanton, John Haynes Holmes and Palmer Hoyt to Dwight Macdonald, Paul Goodman, Erich Fromm and Ashley Montagu.

Hope for the Education Bill

WASHINGTON. THE FATE OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S AID-TO-EDUCATION bill will be determined by the extent to which he can convince the public that it is what he called it—stimulating, moderate and, above all, essential.

He has made a skillful effort to avoid the old patterns which have enabled opponents of all federal aid to divide and conquer. Some of the Kennedy proposals are unconventional and raise new questions, but at least he has opened escape hatches for members of Congress who agree with his basic thesis that education in this country can and must be improved.

Congressional veterans give the bill a better chance than any of the recent past, largely because of its new look. They are not prepared yet to be optimistic. Only hearings will develop the story of the present strength of the racial and religious battles which fought past acrid battles with each other and persuaded Congress that political safety lay in dropping the whole matter.

Will It Work?

Death and retirement have pared down the congressional bloc opposed in principle to any federal aid whatever. Nobody can say yet just how contemporary in thought and feeling their successors are. The change in the political complexion of Congress has not been overwhelming, and in the House particularly, where the education bill will meet its harshest tests, the party division is not hard and fast.

Educators have properly begun the debate about whether it will do what it is supposed to.

do, which is to both increase the volume of education and raise it to new standards of excellence. This argument should be fairly orderly and dispassionate, since the established forms of education are untouched. One way or another, institutions in being will get the money.

The areas of conflict remain, the most emotional being the church-state and segregation issues. Here the Kennedy footwork is fast if not fancy.

Segregation Problem.

He proposes federal grants only for public elementary and secondary schools, and this puts him in opposition to, among others, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York. On the other hand, the President supports scholarship grants to needy young people who can spend them to attend the colleges of their choice, including church-supported ones.

The President does not raise the question of whether segregated schools should get federal aid. But it is said for him that if Congress decides they should not, the Administration will enforce its edict.

On the budget front, Kennedy is clear-cut. He makes no proposals for matching grants by states. Experience in this area convinced him that it would be fruitless.

Last November the voters chose their first Catholic President. Many thought they would never do it, including a sizable band of Democrats. This sense of change is really what the Kennedy Administration counts on today to achieve its goals, including federal aid to education.

HUNGARIAN PIANIST
SYMPHONY SOLOIST

Miss Annie Fischer to Appear Tomorrow Afternoon and Saturday Night.

Miss Annie Fischer, Hungarian pianist, will be soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at concerts tomorrow and Saturday. Tomorrow's concert will begin at 1:45 p.m. at the Chase Hotel and Saturday's at 8:45 p.m. at Kiel Auditorium Opera House.

Edouard Van Remoortel will conduct the concerts which will be the last subscription pair before the orchestra leaves on a three-week tour of southern states.

Miss Fischer, who is making her first American tour, will be heard in the Liszt Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major and Mozart's Concerto in E Flat Major, K. 482. The Liszt work will be performed in observance of the composer's 150th birthday anniversary.

Also on the program will be the Beethoven Symphony No. 4 and excerpts from Albeniz's suite "Iberia," which will be played in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of Albeniz's birthday.

Miss Fischer studied with artists who taught in the direct and authentic Liszt tradition. While in this country she is appearing also with the Cleveland and Chicago symphonies and is giving recitals in other cities.

Her playing was so advanced that at the age of eight she made her debut in Budapest, playing Beethoven's C Major Concerto. Four years later she played Mozart and Schumann concertos in Zurich. Her years as a child prodigy culminated when she won first prize at the International Liszt Concert at Budapest in 1933. She was the youngest of 100 participants.

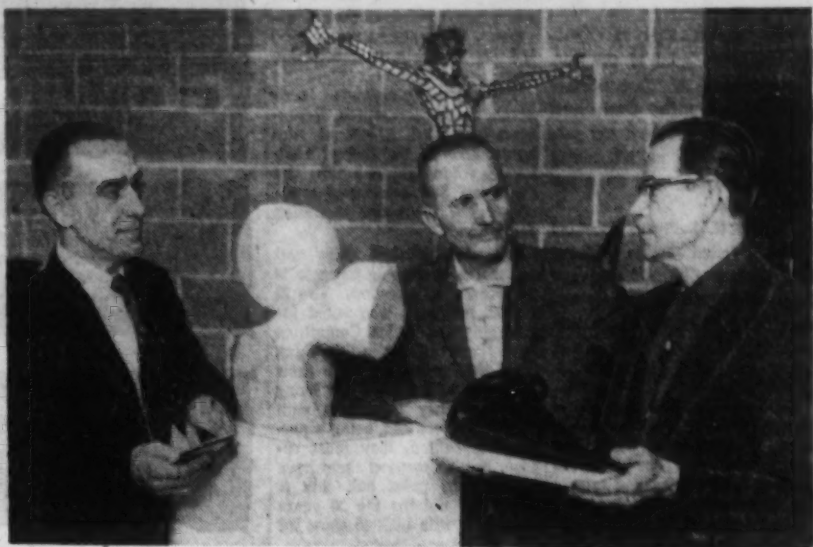

Miss Fischer, whose slight, austere figure contrasts with the strength and virtuosity which lie in her fingertips, is a favorite in European capitals.

The pre-symphony lecturer tomorrow will be the Rev. Francis J. Guenther, S. J., professor of classical languages at St. Louis University. The lecture will follow a noon luncheon at the Park Plaza Hotel.

Tickets for this week's concerts are on sale at the Aeolian box office and Kiel Auditorium. Violinist Zino Francescatti will appear as soloist at the next subscription concert March 24 and 25.

The symphony will give a "pop" concert Sunday at 3 p.m. at Kiel Opera House. Soloists will be Miss Jimmie Lee Caviness, St. Louis contralto,

CALLS ON CATHOLICS
TO LEAD IN SOUTH

Msgr. Molloy Urges Clergy, Laity to Work for Integration.

The Catholic clergy and laity in the South should take the lead in school integration to work for Christian treatment for Negroes, Msgr. Patrick J. Molloy, moderator of the Catholic Interracial Council of St. Louis, said last night.

Father Molloy, who recently was named to a national committee of 30 priests to further the work of improving race relations, spoke on local, national and international aspects of interracial justice at a testimonial dinner at Bradley Hall, 5017 Maffitt avenue.

He was honored for his work in race relations and his recent elevation by Pope John XXIII to a Papal Chamberlain with the title of Very Reverend Monsignor at the dinner observing the seventeenth anniversary of the local Catholic Interracial Council. About 240 persons attended.

Father Molloy, pastor of Most Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church, asserted: "We cannot give some of our citizens full citizenship or first-class citizenship and force others to accept a second-class citizenship, and maintain our national existence."

In traveling thousands of miles through the South during the last three years, he said, he found among clergy and laity hope that their bishops would take action on school integration. He called on priests and laymen in the South to inform their bishops that the "loud-mouthed articulate" pro-segregationists are in the minority.

Father Molloy suggested that the council concentrate on Catholic business men, labor leaders and real estate dealers here in efforts to improve race relations.

"If we do not provide better job opportunities for the people moving into our city and if we do not work for integration of our neighborhoods, the inner city will collapse," he asserted. He singled out Catholics because Quadruplets Born in Russia. MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (UPI)—Quadruplets, three girls and a boy, have been born to a 27-year-old woman in the Azerbaizhan town of Masally, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR SISTER EMILY MARIE

Funeral services for Sister Emily Marie S. L., the former Frances Mary Kohl of Belleville, will be tomorrow at 9 a.m. at All Saints Chapel at Webster College. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Sister Emily, 54 years old, died here yesterday of a heart ailment following a long illness. She lived at Webster College for five years as a semi-invalid. She had taught elementary grades at the old Loretto Academy here from 1940 to 1946. She also had taught at schools in Kansas City and Moberly, Mo. She entered the Sisters of Loretto order in 1927.

Surviving are four sisters, Miss Bertha J. Kohl and Mrs. M. J. Gaul of Belleville, Mrs. Emil B. Heckenkamp of Des Peres and Sister Katherine Therese S. L. of Denver.

"we can speak to them with greater force — we do agree on principle."

Father Molloy said the observations of an American Negro priest stationed in Rome that all Europe is interested in the race question in the United States "were brought home to us with force" last month.

The priest, the Rev. Paul Powell S.V.D., stated that the United States is on trial with regard to its treatment of Negroes and "this trial is being heard not only in Europe but all over the world, especially in Africa," Father Molloy told the group.

M. Leo Bohannon, executive director of the Urban League of St. Louis, and Judge Edward M. Ruddy of the St. Louis Circuit Court of Appeals praised Father Molloy and the Catholic Interracial Council for their work on behalf of interracial justice.

Also participating in the program were the Rev. Bernard Granich, assistant pastor at St. Ambrose Church; Rabbi Jerome W. Grollman of United Hebrew Temple; Ellsworth J. Evans, president of the Catholic Interracial Council; the Rev. James Schumacher, assistant moderator of the council, and Mrs. Margaret Brandford Davis, soprano.

CITY PARKING BILL HELD UP TO HEAR OPPONENTS

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23—Favorable action by the Municipal Corporations Committee of the Missouri Senate on one of the St. Louis Administration's off-street parking bills was held up yesterday at the request of unidentified opponents of the measure.

The bill would authorize St. Louis to use its parking meter receipts for the development of off-street parking facilities.

Senator Jasper Brancato (Dem.), Kansas City, chairman of the committee, announced there was opposition to the bill and scheduled a hearing for opponents next Wednesday.

He told a reporter he did not know who the opponents were but that a St. Louis lawyer had called to request a hearing for his clients in opposition to the bill. Brancato said he could not recall the attorney's name.

$300,000 a Year.
In support of the bill, St. Louis Comptroller John H. Poelker told the committee the city realizes about $300,000 annually from its parking meters and that this money could be pledged to help retire revenue bonds issued to build badly needed off-street parking facilities.

Both he and Senator John P. Barrett (Dem.), St. Louis, who introduced the bill, expressed surprise on hearing there would be opposition to the measure. All other cities of 1000 or more population in the state have the right sought by St. Louis.

Pending before another Senate committee is a companion bill in which the city seeks the right to condemn residential property for parking lots.

The municipal corporations committee approved two other St. Louis-sponsored measures. One would reduce the amount employers could retain in earnings tax collections, in compensation for the collection expense, from 3 to 1½ per cent.

It was explained that the amount was inadvertently doubled when the Legislature passed the last St. Louis earnings tax bill authorizing an increase in the levy. The reduction in the amount retained by employers would add about $225,000 annually to city revenues.

The other measure would permit St. Louis to use its own police and enforce its ordinances at Lambert-St. Louis Field and other properties it owns and operates outside the city limits. The city now pays the salaries of three St. Louis county police officers and 12 watchmen deputized by the county at the airport.

As expected, the committee ordered another hearing on a fourth city-sponsored bill to give the city the right to designate truck routes on certain arterial streets in the city.

The House appropriations committee heard President Elmer Ellis of the University of Missouri testify that if a full, four-year branch of the university were established in St. Louis it would attract 4000 to 5000 students within 10 years.

Pending before the committee is a bill to appropriate $1,950,000 to finance the construction of such a St. Louis branch and its operation for two years. Ellis said the branch was "educationally practicable" and would meet an existing need. He said the university would expect a site to be donated and he predicted it would be three or four years later before the four-year curriculum could be established.

Such a branch would mean an eventual savings to the state because no dormitories would be required, he said.

Formerly Not Interested.

Ellis told a reporter that when St. Louis University was seeking land in the Mill Creek Valley redevelopment area for expanding its campus, he wrote a letter to the Rev. Paul C. Reinert S.J., president, stating the University of Missouri had no interest in a site in the area. He said he was true at the time, he added, because the university had no plans for such a branch then.

A bill to authorize a St. Louis branch of the state school, is pending before a Senate committee. Chairman Paul M. Rerra (Dem.), St. Louis, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said it would not act on the university branch appropriation until after the regular appropriation measures have been disposed of.

Representatives of the Missouri Brewery Workers Council, AFL-CIO, protested to the House Ways and Means Committee against a provision of a bill to increase taxes on whiskey, wine and beer. The provision would set up a new method of collecting the tax through certified reports of sales by the makers instead of the present stamps affixed to the containers.

The brewery workers said the elimination of the stamps would cost their members 34 jobs and an annual wage loss of $225,000. On the other hand, John J. Christy, a representative of the brewers, and Hollis Ketchum, state liquor control supervisor, said the state would gain $225,000 in revenues for the next biennium by elimination of the stamps. No action was taken by the committee.

FOLK-SINGING WEAVERS TO PERFORM TOMORROW

The Weavers, a folk-singing quartet, will make their first St. Louis appearance at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at Kiel Opera House with a two-hour program entitled "Folk Songs Around the World."

The program will consist of 40 songs, including examples from England, Scotland, Israel, Spain, Chile and South Africa. Also to be presented are the group's major recording successes, "Goodnight Irene," "On Top of Old Smokey," "Kisses Sweeter Than Wine," and "Erie Canal." Organized in 1950, the quartet consists of Ronnie Gilbert, the lone female member, Lee Hays, Fred Hellerman and Erik Darling. Hellerman is the guitarist and Darling the banjoist. Tickets for the concert are on sale at the Aeolian box office, 1004 Olive street, and at Kiel.

REDS' INFLUENCE ON CLERGY DENIED BY FBI OFFICIAL

CINCINNATI, Feb. 23 (AP)—The chief inspector of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said yesterday the Communist party has not achieved any substantial success in influencing America's clergymen on a national scale.

William C. Sullivan, speaking at a "United States Citizens Day for the Clergy," said any impression that clergymen and religious leaders have been subjected to alarming Communist infiltration and influence is false.

Sullivan admitted that some well-meaning and patriotic persons of distinction, including clergymen, have been induced to give their names and talents to Communist fronts or causes "without apparently being aware of their true nature and purpose," but he added:

"The truth of the matter is that the Communist party, U.S.A., has not achieved any substantial success in exerting domination, control or influence over America's clergymen or religious institutions on a national scale . . ."

In his references to the President, Symington apparently was endeavoring to answer criticism that developed after publication of the reports that the new Administration had found no missile gap.

THE STATEMENTS denying existence of a lag spring from a briefing session held by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for some reporters. Later, it was said McNamara's remarks were intended to indicate there was no "destruction gap" or difference in overall armed power of Russia and the United States. They were not limited to missiles alone, it was said.

(United Press International said McNamara today issued a veiled warning to Russia that the United States will maintain a sufficient force to strike a "decisive counterblow" in the case of all-out nuclear war.

(McNamara said, "So long as the adversaries of freedom continue to expand their stockpiles of mass destruction weapons, the United States has no alternative but to insure that at all times and under all circumstances it has the capability to deter their use."

(He said that the United States retaliatory force "must be of a character which will permit its use, in event of attack, in a cool and deliberate fashion and always under the complete control of the constituted authority.")

Symington was critical of those who debate or deny that a missile gap exists. Warning that the Russians know how many missiles the United States has, he said: "The Soviets stole a march on us in the science of missile propulsion. Every informed American knows this today. Does it help to pretend that having gotten ahead of us in this important field, they are now just sitting around in idle missile factories just waiting for our production to catch up with them?"

On the initial test as the Rules Committee met for the first time since its enlargement both the broadcast proposal and the proposed curb on backdoor spending were defeated by an 8-to-6 vote. The four Republicans on the committee voted with Chairman Smith and Representative William M. Colmer of Mississippi.

This is interpreted in the House as a good omen for the Rayburn Democrats. But it does not mean that the war is over. Smith today scored a victory by sending to the House floor a fuel oils study resolution that is anathema to Speaker Rayburn and the oil interests of the Southwest.

The two newly-appointed Democrats on the committee, Representatives Carl Elliott of Alabama and B. F. Siak of California, voted against Smith. The chairman had personally sponsored the backdoor spending resolution.

How the political chips will fall in the continuing struggle is an interesting question. The 22 G.O.P. members who voted for enlarging the Rules Committee have been taking a drubbing from the conservatives in their party. In effect, they are being told that they must join with Smith's raiders and, being a party of opposition, they must oppose. But, as some of them have ventured to point out, this is what they did for the 20 years after 1932, with little to show for it.

LAST GIRL TO PUT ENTRY IN OVEN WINS PIE CONTEST

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—A 17-year-old West Virginia girl—the last of 50 contestants to put her pie in the oven—captured the 1961 national cherry pie championship yesterday.

She is Sherry Anne Shirley of Bunker Hill, a small community 72 miles from Washington. She is president of her senior high school class.

She spent a full hour yesterday draining the frozen cherries, while her mother, Mrs. Granville Shirley, and her chaperone and home economics teacher, Miss Ruhmah Miller, twisted handkerchiefs nervously.

As champion in the twenty-ninth annual contest sponsored by the National Red Cherry Institute, she won a $500 college scholarship in home economics to the school of her choice, an electric range and a trip to Washington, D.C. and New York with her chaperone. While in Washington, the champion traditionally presents the prize-winning pie to the White House.

Vote Amendment Tabled.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 23 (UPI)—A proposed United States constitutional amendment to let residents of Washington, D.C., vote in presidential elections was tabled by a House committee of the Tennessee Legislature yesterday after it had been passed by the Senate.

TAVERN OPERATOR SHOT IN KNEE BY WOMAN FRIEND

Harold Dobson, operator of a tavern at 2133 Salisbury street, was shot in the right knee early today by a friend, Miss Helen Cannon, 19, after a dispute in Dobson's apartment above the tavern, police reported.

Miss Cannon, who had been staying at the apartment, said she and Dobson began quarreling when he came in at 2 a.m. She admitted getting a pistol from a bedroom and threatening him, police said. When he told her she "did not have enough nerve to shoot," she fired one shot at him, she said.

Dobson, 49 years old, was taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital. Miss Cannon was booked suspected of assault with intent to kill.

Extension of Midland boulevard from Lindbergh boulevard 3.6 miles west to Creve Coeur Memorial Park was urged at a citizens' committee meeting in Maryland Heights last night.

St. Louis County Councilman John J. Dowling, who attended the meeting, was told that a recent population increase in the Maryland Heights area made the Midland connection essential. Midland was improved east of Lindbergh with 1953 bond issue funds.

A spokesman for the county 1955 bond issue program called only for right-of-way acquisition for Midland west of Lindbergh. Highway construction would be under a future bond issue. No right-of-way yet has been acquired.

LONDON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—The Earl of Harewood, a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, may become the first member of the British royal family to visit the Soviet Union since the 1917 revolution. He has been invited to Moscow next month and his secretary said last night it is quite likely that he will accept.

BOY, 14, ADMITS 2 BURGLARIES, OTHER THEFTS

A 14-year-old boy has admitted that he committed two burglaries, stole a woman's purse and tried to steal purses of two other women, turned in 30 false fire alarms and broke open 10 parking meters, police said today.

Detective Sgt. Robert Scheetz and Detective Cpl. Louis Reynal arrested the youth in their investigation of a $300 burglary last week at a newspaper distribution office at 2441 North Spring avenue. The office was broken into again last Sunday. Some newspapers were stolen, and the office was ransacked and set afire. Damage was about $50.

Officers learned that a youth had taken some newspapers to a nearby confectionery last Sunday and had asked the owner to sell them for him.

Admits He Had Key Made. Police said the boy admitted having had a key made for the padlock on the office door. He implicated his 15-year-old brother and another 13-year-old boy.

The 14-year-old admitted the $300 burglary and setting the place on fire when he found no money there last Sunday. Scheetz said he admitted stealing the purse of Mrs. Loretta Stucke, 3517A Jefferson avenue, last Feb. 12 as she was walking in the 2900 block of Hebert street. The purse contained $20. The boy said he turned in about 30 false fire alarms, because "I like to see the fire engines come."

The money he stole from parking meters was used to buy candy, he told officers.

Kriwanek Burglary Solved. In another burglary case, police reported that Austin L. Reeg, 17, of the 2000 block of Cherokee street, and a 16-year-old youth have admitted a burglary last Sunday at Kriwanek's Market, 3358 South Jefferson avenue. The loot was about $1000.

Detectives Gerald O'Connell and Kirby Conover arrested the 16-year-old, a former employee at the store, yesterday. He admitted his part in the burglary and implicated Reeg. Officers found $762 in cash hidden in the basement at Reeg's home, they said.

Kriwanek, who is well known as the marshal of many parades, told police $1564 was taken from the safe. He told them the safe was locked. Reeg said it was not locked. Police found no signs that the safe had been forced open.

A burglary warrant will be sought against Reeg, and the other youth was turned over to juvenile authorities.

EX-CONVICT PLEADS GUILTY OF PASSING BOGUS $100 BILL

Albert Young Brown, a former convict, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., pleaded guilty before United States District Judge Randolph H. Weber today of passing a counterfeit $100 bill in Downs Clothing Store, 328 North Grand boulevard, last May 4.

Brown was arrested on Olive street near the store after a clerk sold Brown $67 worth of clothing, then discovered the bill he had offered was counterfeit. Police found Brown looking in vain for a rented automobile which had been towed away from a parking space by police.

Assistant United States Attorney William C. Martin said 58 other bogus $100 bills were found in Brown's room at a downtown hotel. Judge Weber deferred sentencing until March 3 pending a report on an application for probation. Maximum penalty is 15 years in prison and $5000 fine. Martin said Brown served a term in Illinois for robbery in the 1930s.

KIRKWOOD POSTAL BRANCH TO BE AT TAYLOR, MONROE

United States Post Office officials have selected the northeast corner of Taylor and Monroe avenues for the location of a new Kirkwood branch, Mayor William H. Pfizinger announced today.

The property lies within the Fillmore Renewal Project, but the branch will not interfere with it, said W. Jan Chong, executive director of the Kirkwood Land Clearance Authority. The 50-529-square-foot tract has a 140-foot front on Taylor and is 360 feet deep along Monroe. It is zoned light industrial, and no rezoning is necessary. Construction is scheduled to begin in early summer.

A lot at 415 South Kirkwood road was recently rezoned for the post office branch, but later rejected because of cost and limited accessibility. The new branch will replace the one at 110 East Jefferson avenue.

CRIME INQUIRY UNIT PROPOSED IN ILLINOIS SENATE

By KENNETH JACOBSON
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 23—A Bill to create a 10-member crime investigating commission was introduced yesterday in the Illinois Senate. The commission would be authorized to hold hearings, issue subpoenas and grant immunity to witnesses in investigating organized crime and racket.

Sponsor of the measure was Senator Robert McClory (Rep.), Lake Bluff, who introduced also bills to prohibit "bingo-type" pinball machines and to tax and license coin-operated amusement machines that are not used for gambling.

McClory was the sponsor of a 1959 bill that outlawed pinball machines which reward players with credit or recorded rights of replay. This measure was approved in the House and Senate but was vetoed by former Gov. William G. Stratton on the ground that it was unconstitutional.

The crime investigating commission proposed by McClory would be composed of five members from the Senate and five from the House.

The commission would be empowered to investigate relationships between organized crime and government, business or industry.

Also introduced in the Senate was a proposed constitutional amendment to change the Illinois residence requirement for voting from one year to six months. A bill introduced in the House would prohibit discrimination in employment because of age.

Fish and Lamb on 'Good Buys' List

Other Values
Include Cabbage,
Lettuce, CeleryBy DOROTHY BRAINERD
Post-Dispatch Food Editor.

THERE IS ONE good thing to be said for the Lenten season; it brings fish into the spotlight. Even the homemaker who is not affected by dietary restrictions probably will take a long look at the well-stocked supplies of fresh and frozen fish and capitalize upon their possibilities.

Any woman who bemoans the monotony of meal planning will do well to ponder the great variety of fish awaiting her choice. Just run down the list and see how long it has been since each one appeared on the family dinner table.

In fresh fish, supplies of one and one-half to three pound red snappers are especially abundant this year. Lake Superior fresh whitefish, of approximately the same size, also are plentiful.

Crappie, yellow pike, white bass, Spanish mackerel, pompano and whole flounders; mountain trout as flavorful as though they had just come out of a Colorado stream—all of these have been assembled for your enjoyment.

Available, but not as abundant as usual, are fresh oysters and channel catfish. Just wasn't a good year for them, it seems. (Did you realize that "crops" of fish vary from year to year, same as the crops of the farm?)

Frozen fish cabinets offer still more treats. The frozen portions of haddock, cod, ocean perch, fillet of sole and catfish are economical and easy to prepare. (These come with four equal portions in each 10-ounce package).

Swordfish steaks, halibut steaks, salmon, and shrimp in many forms have endless menu possibilities.

Stuffed deviled crab in their natural shells are ready to go into the oven for 20 or 25 minutes before they come to the table; live lobsters may be ordered a day ahead of time and will be flown in from Boston in a matter of hours.

One of the newest gourmet's delights available in this area is frozen abalone steaks—truly one of the world's epicurean classics.

IN THE MEAT departments, look for values in beef and lamb. You should be able to find some especially attractive price tags on chuck roasts. Lamb is still plentiful, still reasonably priced. Pork is a little on the high side, although there may be some buys in hams. Veal definitely is not for the budget-minded.

Prices of broiler-fryers may come as a bit of a shock; they have increased considerably and are higher than they have been in months. Eggs have advanced only slightly. Keep an eye on turkeys; the quality is exceptionally good and there are plenty of them, so they may be offered at prices too thrifty to pass by.

THE FRESH PRODUCE picture has not changed appreciably since last week. Florida is temporarily between-crops on the midwinter tender vegetables, making supplies light and this, of course, is reflected in the prices of those items.

Rated as "good buys" for the week are cabbage, broccoli, celery (but watch the condition, there was some frost damage in California). Also in this category are iceberg lettuce of excellent quality, onions (particularly the medium yellows), red and white potatoes, radishes, turnips, and rutabagas.

From strictly a price standpoint rhubarb would fall within the moderate bracket, but considering its excellent quality it really should qualify as a good buy.

Lemons are low in price, a fortunate fact since they have so many Lenten uses.

Several items fall within a category which can be described only as "low to medium"—not quite bargain priced, but in the lower half of the medium bracket. These include beets, carrots, cauliflower (which is quite plentiful), green peppers with the exception of the large sizes which cost more money, and grapefruit which represents one of the better citrus fruit buys.

Moderately priced are bananas, eggplant (quality only fair), artichokes, endive and escarole, apples, oranges (with prices ranging to high on the large size navel), sweet potatoes, tomatoes and pears.

High in cost are limited supplies of excellent quality asparagus, cantaloupes, corn, cucumbers, pears, nectarines, peaches, plums and strawberries.

THERE WILL BE four special treats awaiting you at your

WHAT'S COOKING?

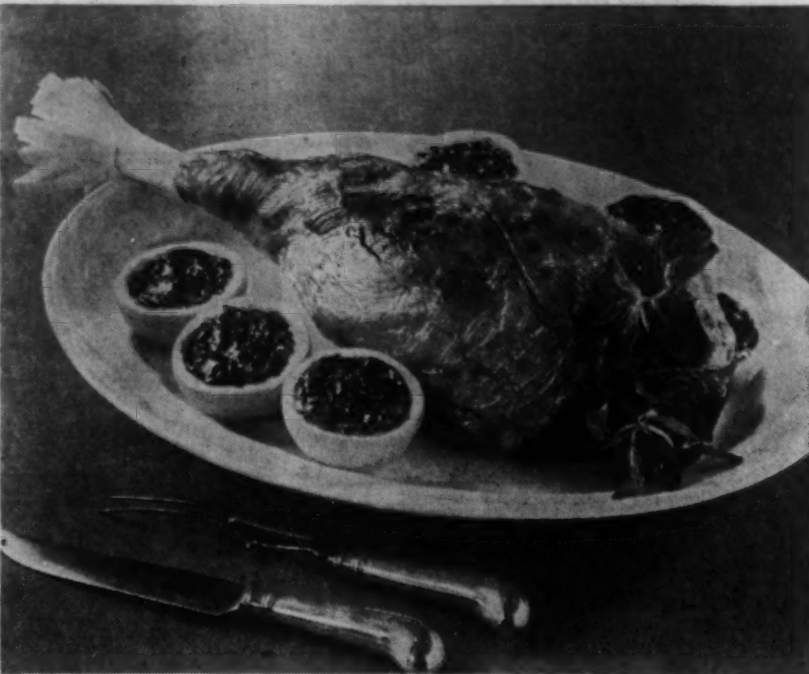

READ

MAGAZINE

An elegant dish indeed is a leg of lamb, garnished with scooped-out orange halves filled with mint jelly. Story also includes recipe for using any meat left from the roast.

Take Your Choice
Of These Lamb Recipes,
Thrifty or Elegant

LAMB IS RANKED among the best values in today's marketing column, thus making it a logical candidate for your weekend shopping list. If your plans include entertaining and your budget is in healthy condition you probably will choose a leg roast or one of the chops which lend themselves to oven broiling such as rib, T-bone or sirloin chops.

However, if this is to be just a "homelinks weekend" and, like a wise one, you are fattening the piggy bank for extra Easter expenses, do select one of the thrifty cuts. If you take time to season or sauce it carefully you will have a meal to serve the family with pride.

Ponder those words for a minute—season or sauce. Because lamb is bland in flavor, it does need an accent of some sort. A bit of rosemary, marjoram or thyme used in cooking; a vegetable or fruit served as an accompaniment, a skillfully blended marinade can be the touch that gives a stamp of distinction.

In preparing lamb by any method, remember that it should be handled tenderly. It needs slow, even cooking—low oven temperatures or low surface heat. Thrifty cuts such as lamb shanks, riblets or neck slices may be simmered slowly in a subtly seasoned sauce. If you are preparing a stew the secrets of success are browning the meat well before adding the liquid, seasoning knowingly and that all-important long, slow cooking.

A leg of lamb is a handsome dish when it comes to the table, the platter garnished with orange halves scooped out and filled with mint jelly. (Don't worry about leftovers; recipes for using them are included in this story).

Leg of Lamb
With Orange Cups.

One five to six pound leg of lamb.
Salt and pepper.
Three small oranges.
One-third cup firmly packed brown sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon nutmeg.
Mint Jelly.

Place lamb on rack in roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) two and one-half hours. Drain off drippings.

Meanwhile, cut oranges in half. Remove orange sections and reserve. Remove membrane from oranges; reserve orange cups. Combine orange sections, sugar and nutmeg; mix well.

Pour orange mixture over lamb. Bake 30 minutes or until meat thermometer registers 175-180 degrees, depending upon desired degree of doneness. Baste lamb frequently during cooking period with orange mixture.

Fill orange cups with mint jelly. Serve leg of lamb with orange cups; garnish as desired. Note: mint is the classic accompaniment for lamb. However, tart currant jelly, guava or plum also are delicious. If you prefer a spicy rather than a fruit flavor, use horseradish, spiced conserves or pickles as accompanying relishes.

FOR A SMALL FAMILY, a rack of lamb makes a nice roast.

Lamb Rack
With Orange Sauce.

One three-pound rack of lamb.
One-half cup melted butter or margarine.
One-third cup orange juice.
Two tablespoons grated orange rind.
Two tablespoons grated lemon rind.
Two tablespoons chopped parsley.

One-fourth teaspoon rosemary.
One large orange, sliced.
Place lamb on rack in roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) two to two and one-half hours or until meat thermometer registers 175 to 180 degrees, depending upon desired degree of doneness.

Meanwhile combine butter or margarine, orange juice, orange rind, lemon rind, parsley and rosemary; mix well. Coat orange slices with some of orange juice mixture; reserve orange slices. Baste lamb with orange juice mixture frequently during baking period. Serve lamb with orange slices.

STILL WORRIED over the leftovers? This seems to be a problem which puzzles many cooks. Here are two ways in which to use them:

Lamb Cheese Bake.

Four cups diced cooked lamb.
One eight-ounce can tomato sauce.

One - fourth pound Cheddar cheese, sliced.

One-half teaspoon oregano.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.
Arrange lamb, tomato sauce and cheese in shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with oregano and paprika. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes.
Yield: four servings.

Lamb Sandwich.

Two cups finely chopped

Have trouble getting the family to eat the vegetables they need? For a change of pace, try serving them cold in a salad rather than in the usual way. This salad combines raw and canned vegetables; Roquefort cheese dressing adds zest.

AN UNUSUAL salad that combines raw and canned vegetables can double nicely for the vegetable course of the meal.

Crisp greens, sliced onion and raw cauliflower form a nest for the canned beans and asparagus spears. A Roquefort cheese dressing adds just the right zip.

Vegetables Roquefort.

Crisp salad greens.
One small onion.
One cup sliced raw cauliflower.

One can (one pound) cut green beans.

One can or jar (14½ ounces) green asparagus spears.

Roquefort cheese dressing.

Line six individual salad bowls with salad greens and fill about half full with the greens.

Slice onion and separate into rings. Arrange onion, cauliflower

Lenten Dish:
Cheese Pie,
Creole Sauce

DAIRY FOODS play an important part in Lenten menus. Swiss cheese and milk are combined with eggs and seasoning in this main dish pie; which is served with Creole sauce.

A green salad and fruit dessert, or a fruit salad and ice cream with cookies might round out the menu.

Cheese Pie
With Creole Sauce.

One-half recipe for flaky pastry.

Three eggs, slightly beaten.

One-half teaspoon salt.

One-eighth teaspoon paprika.

One teaspoon worcestershire sauce.

Two cups milk, scalded.

One and one-half cups grated Swiss cheese.

Line nine-inch pie pan with pastry, fluting edge. Beat eggs slightly. Add salt, paprika, worcestershire sauce and blend.

Stir in hot milk and grated cheese.

Pour into pie shell. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for 10 minutes then lower to 350 degrees, bake 30 minutes longer, until custard is set.

Yield: six servings.

Creole Sauce.

One-half cup diced onion.

One-half cup diced green pepper.

Three tablespoons butter.

One teaspoon salt.

Two tablespoons flour.

One and one-half cups cooked tomatoes.

Lamb

One-half cup chopped celery.
One-third cup chopped parsley.
One tablespoon dehydrated minced onion.
One-third cup chili sauce.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.
Eight slices buttered bread.
Combine lamb, celery, parsley, onion, chili sauce, salt and pepper; mix well. Chill spread on bread to make sandwiches.

LAMB WAS THE FIRST meat used for shish kabob, and it is still hard to beat if you use cubes from a tender cut (leg of lamb is excellent because it cuts well into uniform meaty pieces). Care must be taken to use vegetables which cook in the same time as the meat if they are placed on the same skewers.

Tomatoes and sweet pickles are good accompaniments, but they take only about half as long to broil so it is wise to arrange them on separate skewers and put them on the broiler rack when the meat shish kabobs are turned.

To serve, place the skewers of lamb on the cut surface of a loaf of French bread, pour the remaining marinade over the meat and bread. Remove the skewers and divide the lamb and bread into serving portions. Arrange broiled tomatoes and pickles around the bread.

Zesty Lamb Shish Kabobs.

One pound boneless lamb cut into one and one-half inch cubes.
Three-fourths cup salad oil.
One medium-sized onion, sliced.

One-fourth cup white wine vinegar.

Two cloves garlic.
One bay leaf.
One teaspoon rosemary.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-half teaspoon thyme.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Heat salad oil in saucepan. Add sliced onion and cook slowly until onion is yellow and transparent. Remove onion. Blend in vinegar, garlic, bay leaf, rosemary, salt, thyme and pepper. Simmer over low heat for 30 minutes. Pour hot sauce over lamb cubes and store in refrigerator overnight.

Remove meat from marinade. Thread onto skewers and place on broiling rack in pan. Broil three inches from heat source for about 20 minutes, turning kabobs once. Serve hot on French bread with some of the remaining marinade poured over the meat.

Note: Be sure to remove the garlic cloves before serving the marinade.

KNOWN FOR HER THRIFT, the Scottish homemaker keeps a sharp lookout for recipes that stretch the budget. Well named indeed is this dish, attractive both in flavor and price. It is actually a casserole dish.

Scotch Lamb Chops.
Four shoulder lamb chops, cut three-fourths inch thick.
Two tablespoons lard or drippings.

One teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon pepper.
One cup barley.
Five cups water.
Two bouillon cubes.
Three-fourths cup boiling water.

One can (four ounces) mushrooms, drained.
One-half cup finely chopped celery.
One-fourth cup finely chopped onion.

One can (16 ounces) tomatoes.
One-half teaspoon marjoram.
One teaspoon salt.
Simmer barley in five cups water in a tightly covered saucepan one hour or until tender. Drain and rinse well.

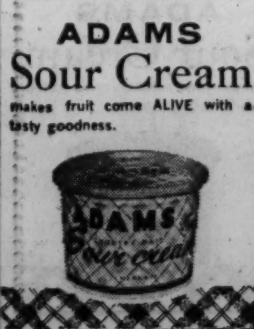

Brown chops in lard or drippings; pour off drippings and season with one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper.
Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Combine bouillon, cooked barley, mushrooms, celery, onion, tomatoes, marjoram and one teaspoon salt.

Pour barley mixture in a greased eight by 12-inch baking dish. Place lamb chops on top. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) one hour and 15 minutes. Yield: four servings.

Suggested Menu: Scotch Lamb Chops; Buttered Broccoli; Fruit Gelatin Mold; Corn Bread with Honey Butter; Cheesecake; Coffee, Tea or Milk.

LITTLE PATTIES of ground lamb are delicious. Here they are given the kabob treatment—broil them now, grill them later.

favorite bakery starting Monday, Feb. 27, as the retail bakers celebrate a week set aside to focus attention upon the delights they make it possible for you to bring to the dinner table with no effort on your part.

Irish soda bread usually is associated with St. Patrick's day but the traditional round, moulded loaf filled with raisins and caraway seeds will be available during this week. In case you want to plan a whole meal around it (and it's worthy of such billing) remember that it is a perfect complement to Irish stew.

Another country, another treat. This time it is Italy to which the bakers have turned for inspiration. Pizza has been turned into a breakfast goodie for this celebration. Fruited pizza coffee cake has wedges of fruit filling, topped with slivered almonds.

The third featured bakery product has its roots in the antebellum days of our own Deep South. From the era that gave us a heritage of such things as shrimp creole and black bottom pie comes Orange Meringue Pie to brighten next week's menus.

Also reminiscent of the past is the old-fashioned apple cake, rich and moist, filled with nuts and cinnamon.

All four of these bakery treats were developed especially in honor of next week's celebration: each one is unusual enough to make a welcome change in daily meals.

New in St. Louis Markets: In the spice and condiment sections of local stores you will now find meat tenderizer in instant form, developed for faster, more convenient meal preparation.

Thoroughly moisten one surface of the meat with water, sprinkle the instant tenderizer on evenly, like salt (about one-half teaspoon per pound of meat), then to insure penetration pierce with a kitchen fork at about one-half inch intervals.

Turn the meat and repeat on the other surface and the meat is ready for immediate cooking. The tenderizer is claimed to reduce cooking time about one-fourth.

The product comes in two forms: Unseasoned, or seasoned with a blend of spices.

on the outdoor barbecue. Note that the meat is first marinated in wine vinegar to give it extra moistness.

Lamb-Pineapple Kabobs. Two pounds ground lamb patties.

One teaspoon salt.
One large onion, chopped.
One-half cup wine vinegar.
One-half cup water.
One No. 2 can drained pineapple chunks.

Mix lamb with salt and form into balls about the size of a walnut and place in a shallow pan. Sprinkle onion over top, mix vinegar and water and pour over. Allow to stand three hours.

Remove meat from marinade and thread meat balls onto skewers alternately with pineapple chunks. Broil five minutes on each side or until well browned.

Yield: six servings.
Another excellent entree combining lamb patties and pineapple is this one: Arrange bacon-wrapped lamb patties, about one-inch thick, on the broiler rack so that the top surface is two inches from the heat. Place pineapple slices on the broiler rack alongside the meat. When the patties are brown, place the browned side down on the grilled pineapple slices and finish cooking.

rooms.
One-fourth cup sliced olives.
Cook onion and green pepper in butter until tender, about five minutes. Add salt and flour and blend. Add tomatoes and cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add sliced mushrooms and olives and cook three minutes longer.
Serve hot over Cheese Pie.
Yield: about two cups sauce.

Sea Island Club Sandwiches

From the shores of the swaying palms comes this recipe for Sea Island Club Sandwiches.
Spread slices of buttered white toast with mayonnaise. Cover each with a lettuce leaf, bacon slices and a drained canned pineapple slice. Add a slice of buttered whole wheat toast; spread with mayonnaise, and cover with drained canned boned chicken, or turkey. Top each with a second slice of buttered white toast. Cut sandwiches diagonally into quarters. Secure with toothpicks.

SCHOOL BOARD'S REORGANIZATION BILL INTRODUCED

By EDWARD H. THORNTON
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23—The St. Louis Board of Education's proposed administrative reorganization bill was introduced in the Missouri House of Representatives today.

The bill, sponsored by Representative William A. Geary Jr. (Dem.), St. Louis, provides for placing the school board's building and instruction departments under a single executive officer. Two other departments, those of the auditor and secretary-treasurer, would remain separate.

Measures introduced by Representative Joseph W. Beckerle (Dem.), St. Louis, offer amendments to the Constitution and state laws to permit passage of school bond issues by a simple majority. At present, bond issues require a two-thirds majority.

Under Geary's reorganization bill, a single executive officer, to be called the superintendent of schools, would be responsible for all functions of the educational system.

The measure would also transfer accounting functions—presently lodged with the auditor—to the secretary-treasurer's office, leaving the auditor with exclusively auditing duties.

In a statement issued by the Board of Education it was said the board's intention is not to eliminate existing departments, since the need for them "has long been established." Employment will not be diminished through passage of the bill, a school board spokesman said.

The St. Louis school system is the only one in Missouri which presently operates under a multiple executive officer type of organization, it was said.

Senator Michael Kinney (Dem.), St. Louis, offered a bill to submit a proposed constitutional amendment increasing the basic tax rate the Board of Education can levy without a vote of the people from 89 cents to $1 on each $100 assessed valuation. The present operating tax rate, approved by voters last year, is $1.71.

Vatican Postmen Motorized.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Vatican's postmen—all four of them—are being motorized. They will get motorcycles to make deliveries faster and easier. They used to walk, delivering letters to Pope John XXIII and the other 1000 or so inhabitants of the small state.

French Eating More Meat. PARIS, Feb. 23 (AP)—A Frenchman eats about 129 pounds of meat yearly, a 30 per cent increase over 10 years ago, the National Livestock Breeders' Confederation reports.

MUNICIPAL PAYROLLS RISE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Municipal payrolls increased again last year as the number of workers rose nearly 3 per cent and wage payments went up 6.5 per cent.

The Census Bureau said yesterday municipalities employed 1,700,000 workers last October, or 41,000 more than a year earlier. Wage payments at $583,000,000 were $35,000,000 higher.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—A United States district court today upheld an order for deportation to Sicily of Thomas Morgano, reputed crime boss of northern Indiana.

Morgano's attorney said the denial by Judge Michael L. Igoe of a petition to void the ouster order would be appealed. Igoe read a brief ruling that the Immigration and Naturalization Service had acted properly in August 1959 when it ordered Morgano deported on the basis of two convictions of evading liquor taxes.

SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS TRAIN HITS ROCK IN PENNSYLVANIA

road passenger train The Spirit of St. Louis struck a boulder four miles west of Huntingdon last night, partly derailing the locomotive.

There were no injuries among the crew members and none of the passengers was thought to be injured. The train was pulled back to Huntingdon by the engine of a passing freight train. Another locomotive stood by to take the train to Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

WARNS AGAINST MINIMIZING SOVIET OUTPUT, POTENTIAL

Russia's production achievements and ability to accomplish its aims should not be minimized by this country, William F. O'Dell, president of the American Marketing Association, told the group's St. Louis chapter yesterday.

Addressing a luncheon meeting at Lennox Hotel, O'Dell, described the Soviet Union as the first nation to successfully challenge this country economically. "One measure of this success is its ability to impress underprivileged and uncommitted nations with its achievements," he said.

O'Dell, of Chicago, visited Russia last summer. He said Russia downgrades production of consumer items to benefit production of heavy industrial products, but is being forced to continually increase consumer goods to give workers some reward for their labor. However, he said, in Russia the right to decide the wants and needs of consumer goods remains a government function.

BRITON CONFERS U.S. ON NUCLEAR TALKS STRATEGY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—British disarmament expert David Ormsby-Gore began talks today with Kennedy Administration officials to work out a joint strategy for forthcoming nuclear test bar negotiations with Russia. The nuclear test talks by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are scheduled to resume March 21 in Geneva. The Geneva talks were recessed during the United States change of Administration. President Kennedy asked for a postponement from February to March to give his administration more time to work out its policy. Separate task forces under White House disarmament adviser John J. McCloy have been studying both technical and political questions involved in the negotiations. Ormsby-Gore, British Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, began meetings at the State Department today with McCloy. He was expected to spend nearly a week here conferring with McCloy and other officials.

GIRL, 4, DIES OF BURNS; WAS PLAYING WITH CANDLES

Audrey Whittaker, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Whittaker, 1802 Garden street, Swansea, died early today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville, of burns suffered when candles ignited her clothing last Tuesday.

The child's parents had sent Audrey and her younger sister, Mrs. Mamie Whittaker, the children's grandmother, who lives behind the parents' home. While at play, the children went back to their own home, obtained the candles and lit them in the yard. Audrey's clothing became ignited and she was burned over her entire body.

POLICE RECRUIT TRAINING TO BE SPLIT INTO 2 PARTS

The 17 Police Academy recruits who will begin classes next Monday will be assigned to a temporary period of active duty at the end of four weeks, it was announced today. The recruits then will return to the academy for nine more weeks of classwork. In recent years the police students have attended classes for an uninterrupted 12-week period.

Police Chief Curtis Brostrom said that the recruits, when sent to active duty assignments, will patrol in police cruisers with sergeants.

One reason for the change, Brostrom said, is that training groups now number as few as five men, while better classwork is accomplished when there are about 36 students. Incoming recruits can be assigned to active duty for unspecified periods to permit them to be recalled to class in groups of about 36, he said.

N.A.A.C.P. OPPOSES JINKS FOR POST OFFICE JOB HERE

Consideration of Harold Jinks for appointment to the $17,500-a-year position as regional operations director of the Post Office here was criticized yesterday by the St. Louis branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Margaret Bush Wilson, president of the local N.A.A.C.P., attacked Jinks' views on segregation in letters sent to Postmaster General J. Edward Day and United States senators and representatives from Missouri.

She charged that as a regional representative of the Democratic National Committee, Jinks was responsible for initiating and promoting racial segregation in party activities in Little Rock.

2 HURT WHEN AUTO HITS TREE

Havener, the driver, said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. He suffered head injuries and McGraw suffered a possible fractured left hip. Both were taken to Homer control in O'Fallon park and G. Phillips Hospital.

SURVEY OF BUSINESS IN THE LOCAL AREA

The business economics department of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. in trade report for week ended Feb. 18 said:

"Last week's retail selling benefited from better shopping weather. Preliminary reports of sales of major department stores in this area indicated sales gains of as much as 10 per cent over the comparative week of last year. Compared with the prior week, retail sales registered a sizable jump, due principally to the difference in weather conditions. The two holidays, Lincoln's birthday and Valentine's day, called for the usual sales promotions.

"Both men's and women's apparel were in stronger demand last week. Food sales were comparable to a year ago, possibly showing some gain. One prominent dealer in home improvement and building and household supplies reported a 7.5 per cent increase in sales compared to the same week of last year.

"With an early Easter, and buying deferred because of bad weather, women's apparel retailers started buying heavily from apparel wholesalers last week. All lines sold well but particularly outstanding was selling of laminated jersey coats.

"Last week's initial claims for unemployment insurance totaled 3943, which was 1384 less than the previous week, 1694 above the comparable week in 1960, but 53 under the same week of 1958. The level of initial claims filed was the lowest this year. Continued claims filed last week totaled 25,809, compared to 25,541 the prior week, 15,410 for the same week in 1960, and 2318 for the comparable week in 1958.

"Industrial output in St. Louis continued at cut-back level. Steel producers in this area turned out 31,798 tons, with 32,010 tons produced the prior week, and 39,048 tons the same week of 1960.

"Collections were slower than a year ago. Four commercial failures were reported in the St. Louis area last week."

U.S. GOVERNMENTS BONDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP) —

The corporate bond market maintained a small plus advantage in moderate trading late today. However, the United States Government list, which Tuesday posted the best gain since early December, was irregularly lower.

Rails pushed over the upside after a mixed start to give corporates a unanimously higher appearance. Most gains were fractional in trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Many industrials, utilities and top grade investment issues are near or at 1960-61 peaks and some at the highest price level in two years.

Volume was running about 5 per cent behind Tuesday's pace. There was no trading yesterday.

Over-the-counter dealers in treasury securities quoted long range bonds off 2-32 to up 2-32. Intermediates lost 2-32. Dealings were termed exceptionally quiet.

In a mixed foreign list High Authority of the Coal & Steel Community 5 1/8 added a fraction at 100 1/2 and Union of South Africa 4 1/8 fell a bit at 90 1/2.

HEAVY BUILDING AWARDS UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP) —

Heavy construction contract awards during the week ended Monday rose to $397,200,000 from $329,100,000 the previous week and compared with $307,800,000 in the singular holiday week a year earlier.

Engineering News Record and Construction Daily said the total for the year to date is 13 per cent ahead of last year's pace.

DUTCH NEW GUINEA TO INSTALL COUNCIL

THE HAGUE, Feb. 23 (UPI)—Dutch New Guinea, part of the large island off the north coast of Australia, is taking its first step toward self-determination.

On April 5, the island will install its first representative council, the beginning of a parliament for one of the world's most backward populations. The eastern part of the island is administered by Australia.

Dutch Home Affairs Minister Edzo H. Toxopeus said that a year hence the council will be asked to advise the Dutch Government on how the island could proceed toward self-determination.

A 10-year development plan has been set in motion that will cost the Dutch Government about 100,000,000 guilders ($30,000,000) in the first year, and then rise in the next three years to about 120,000,000 guilders a year, the minister said.

It is within this period that Holland hopes to be able to advance the people of Dutch New Guinea — about 700,000 Papuans in all—to a stage where they might be able to determine their own political future.

The Dutch envisage free choice for the Papuans among independence, federation with the Australian part of timor, alignment with Indonesia, maintenance of links with The Netherlands, or whatever else they may choose.

Indonesia is claiming Dutch New Guinea as its territory and a Communist-backed military build-up is causing anxiety lest some aggressive action might be launched against the island.

The Dutch Government recently increased the garrison of the island somewhat, and coastal defenses are alerted to intercept any infiltrators.

The new "council for New Guinea" is to be a body of 28 members, the majority of whom will be Papuans. Sixteen of the total will be elected this month. The rest will be appointed. In the near future, the council's membership is to be extended to 48.

The plans include the build-up of a small Papuan volunteer force, starting with battalion strength. There already is a Papuan police force.

JAPAN LISTED AS WORLD'S TOP SHIPBUILDER IN 1960

LONDON, Feb. 23 (UPI)—Japan built one-fifth of the world's shipping in 1960, Lloyd's Register of Shipping reported yesterday.

Launchings by all nations totaled 2020 vessels of 8,356,444 tons, a decrease of 389,260 tons from the previous year.

Japan built 649 ships of 1,731,656 gross tons, or 20.7 per cent of the world's total. Britain was second with 253 ships of 1,331,491 tons, or 15.9 per cent.

West Germany, Sweden, France, The Netherlands and the United States followed in that order. The United States totals were 60 ships of 484,978 tons, compared to 47 ships of 596,757 tons in 1959.

K. STATE SHOO-IN FOR N.C.A.A. AFTER BEATING KANSAS U.

DePaul, Dayton Add to Laurels

MANHATTAN, Kan., Feb. 23 (AP)—Coach Tex Winter's Kansas State Wildcats are in line for their third crack in the last four years at the N.C.A.A. basketball championship.

The Wildcats, bidding for their fifth Big Eight title in Winter's eight seasons as head coach, just about put away the N.C.A.A. berth last night when they shrugged off a slow start and whipped arch-rival Kansas, 81-63, here.

The Cats and the Jayhawks, who won the tournament spot in a playoff last year, are tied for the conference lead now with 8-2 records. Iowa State and Colorado, both at 5-5, are the closest challengers. But Kansas is out of tournament consideration this year and next because of probationary action by the N.C.A.A. And with a three-game lead and only four left, including home matches with Missouri, Nebraska and Colorado, it doesn't seem possible for the Wildcats to miss.

Senior Ced Price, sophomore Dave Nelson and junior Larry Conley got the job done for eighth-ranked K-State last night, leading a drive that turned an early nine-point deficit into an 11-point halftime lead.

Two Out of Three.

Price wound up with 21 points, Nelson with 19 and Conley with 16 in a balanced attack that made it two-of-three for Kansas State against the Jayhawks this season. Kansas won the match at home Jan. 20, 75-66, but K-State earlier had beaten the Jayhawks in the final of the conference Christmas Tournament, 69-66, in overtime in Kansas City.

St. Joseph's (Pa.), winning its tenth straight, moved within one game of nailing the Middle Atlantic Conference's N.C.A.A. berth, and N.I.T. entries Dayton and DePaul won major tests in other features of the night's activity.

St. Joseph's, now 7-0 with one conference game left, pulled away in the late going for a 92-67 rout of Bucknell.

Dayton, pushing its winning streak to six for a 17-6 record, routed Xavier of Ohio, 94-71, as Garry Roggenbuck scored 24 points. DePaul, trailing at halftime, fired in 12 straight points soon after the intermission and downed N.C.A.A.-bound Louisville, 75-47. The Blue Demons, now 14-7 after winning their first 11 games of the season, got 19 points from M. C. Thompson and 18 from little Howie Carl in handing the Cardinals their sixth loss in 24 starts.

Idaho State Stopped.

LaSalle and Seattle, a couple of tournament possibilities, won again — the LaSalle Explorers (14-5) thumping Lafayette, 104-86, with Bill Rafferty and Bob McAtter each scoring 29, and Seattle (15-7) snapping Idaho State's 11-game winning streak, 64-57.

Clyde Rhoden took 11 shots, hit 10, and scored 24 points as Arkansas won a Southwest Conference game from T.C.U., 96-76, and Paul Jelus' 20 points and 12 rebounds and Bob McDonald's 19 points and 15 rebounds triggered Maryland's 77-62 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over Virginia, now a hapless 3-21.

Two of the nation's top ten scorers had big nights. East Tennessee's Tom Chilton, who ranks No. 2 with a 31.5 average, scored 35 points and plucked 21 rebounds in an 82-79 triumph over Wofford. Gettysburg's 5-10 Ron Warner set a school career record of 1155 points although he's only a junior—netting 30 in an 87-60 rout of Elizabethtown (Pa.).

Florida, challenging for the Southeastern Conference's N.C.A.A. berth, nipped non-leaguer Florida State, 75-74, and Soph Bill O'Connor's 34 points led Canisius' 83-78 whipping of Syracuse. Frank Burgess scored 39 points in a losing cause as Gonzaga lost to Montana State, 97-80.

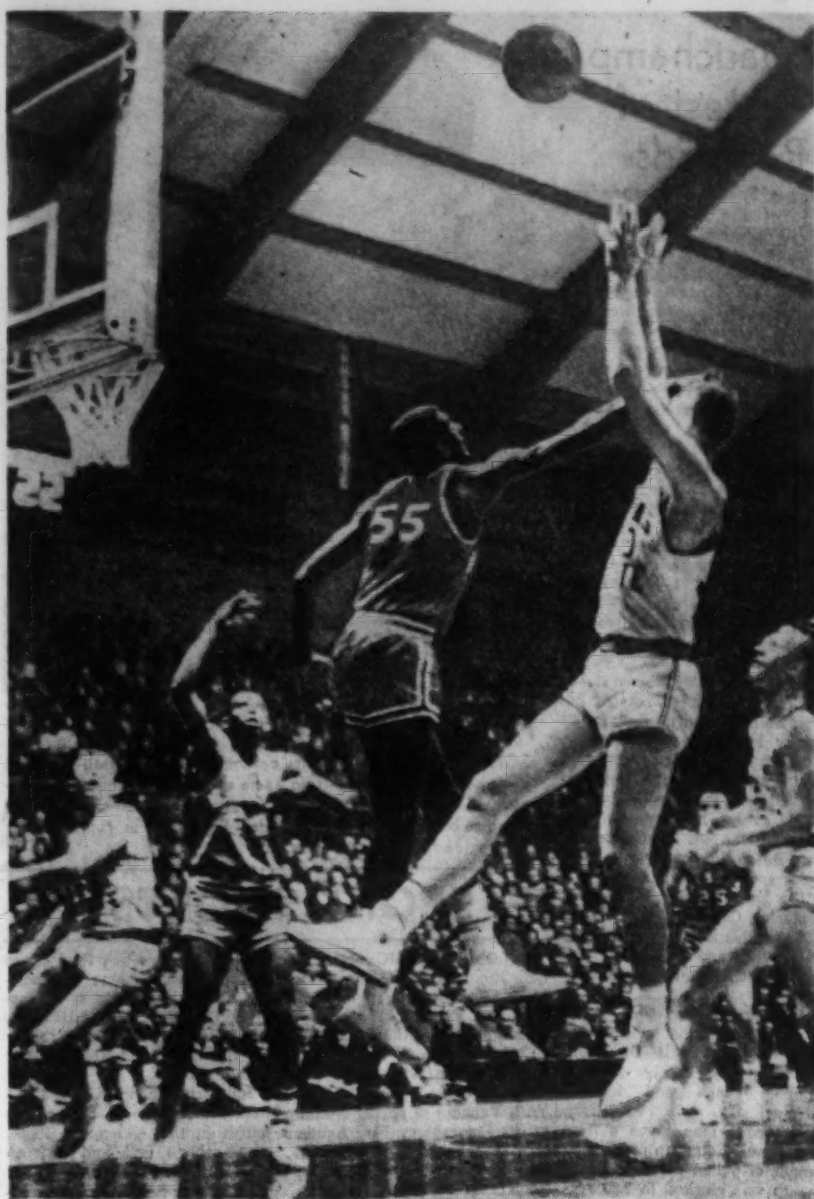

Big Crowds, Fights Plunge British Soccer in Turmoil

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Stampeding crowds and a struggle between players and police plunged British soccer into wild, unprecedented drama last night.

At Leicester, an estimated 17,000 fans were locked out of an English Cup re-match, in which Leicester City beat Birmingham City, 2-1. More than 200 persons, including children, were hurt as the crowds tried to break past the barriers. Many were knocked over and trampled. At Edinburgh, Barcelona of Spain figured in fantastic scenes near the end of its inter-city Fairs Cup game against Hibernian of Scotland.

West German referee Johannes Malka awarded Hibernian a penalty shot and the entire Barcelona team chased him around the field in protest.

Malka fell headlong, apparently after being tripped. Immediately 100 policemen rushed onto the field and grappled with the Spanish players. The game was

Hightower Not High Enough

Kansas State's MIKE WROBLEWSKI (in white suit) sinks a looper despite the frantic leap of Kansas University's WAYNE HIGHTOWER (55), as K-State's Wildcats downed the Jayhawks, 81-63, at Manhattan and tied them for the Big Eight Conference lead. At left are PHIL HEITMEYER, K-State, and ALLEN CORRELL, Kansas. The Wildcats' DAVE NELSON is at right.

Crippled Billikens Revise Their Lineup For Game at Tulsa

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch
TULSA, Okla., Feb. 23—St. Louis University Coach John Benington provided a lighthearted touch as his basketball team faced tonight's game against Tulsa U. with another Billiken regular sidelined.

A starting lineup revision was necessary after senior guard Glen Mankowski was ordered to skip the game to avoid risk of further injury to a bruised eye. "Dave Harris and George Latinovich will be our guards," said the coach of the team that has been buffeted by an injury and illness jinx. "Maybe it will be faith, hope and charity on the front line."

The 6-foot-3 Mankowski suffered a ruptured muscle in one eye when it was hit during the Houston game at St. Louis last Saturday. He played an outstanding game at Notre Dame Monday but, after medical examination on his return home, was advised to avoid the possibility of being hit in the eye again.

"We won't know until later whether he can play at Wichita Saturday night," Benington said. Earlier this season regular Gordon Hartweg was sidelined by illness, and the Billikens lost their senior center, Bevo Nordmann, who was injured in December.

Hartweg, soph Bill Nordmann, and Donnell Reid likely will be the starting front line for the Bills with Tom Kieffer serving as swing man, relieving either at forward or guard. Mankowski's absence from the lineup hurts St. Louis' chance of improving its 15-7 record and maintaining a good position in the Missouri Valley Conference race. Tulsa lost by just seven points (54-47) in an earlier game at St. Louis and has the potential to be difficult.

The Tulsa team, however, has a mediocre record, eight victories and 13 defeats. In conference play Tulsa has just a 2-7 record, compared with St. Louis' 4-4. At times Tulsa has been tough. It lost by only 88-84 at Drake last week. Dave Voss, with a 17.5 average, Gene Estes, 15.0 and Gary Havelone, 13.1, are Tulsa's best scorers.

There are two other Valley Conference games tonight — Bradley (7-2) at Wichita (5-4) and Drake (5-5) at North Texas (0-8). Leading Cincinnati (9-2) has a non-league game at Houston U.

The league race has reached the stage where it seems Bradley will have to win its last three conference games to tie Cincinnati for the title. Wichita, St. Louis and Drake are scrambling for third place, undisputed possession of which probably would bring a bid from the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

March 4 is the date of the final league games and the N.I.T. starts March 16, so there is plenty of time in which to determine this selection. The runner-up or co-champion playoff loser in the Valley also undoubtedly will go to the N.I.T.

22 Gloves Finals at The Chase

Fists will fly in an unusual setting tonight when the Golden Gloves Finals get under way at 7:30 o'clock in the Khorassan Room of the Chase Hotel.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the tournament for the fourth year, will present eight bouts in the open division and seven each in the novice and sub-novice classes.

An official decision permitted a switch in the pairings which may set up the best bout of the night. Harvey Walters of the Franklin A.C. was disqualified when he failed to show up for the Sunday weigh-in. But Gloves officials reviewed his case and permitted his reinstatement when he presented a legitimate excuse and made the weight for his light-heavyweight novice bout with Tom Toniskoetter, Pal A.C.

Both are knockout artists. Toniskoetter flattened his opponent in the semifinals in 1:37 of the first round and Walters stopped his man in even less time—31 seconds.

Other outstanding bouts should be those of the two defending champions, Don Cobb, 135, Leisure A.C., and Stanley McKissick, Sportsman A.C., at 160. They will meet tough aspirants in Willie White, Sportsman, and Norbert Cody, Pal.

Harry Kessler, who has refereed many professional championship fights, will join his brother, Benny, and Jimmy Parker, Paul Spica, Glen Reed, Jim Richie and Glen Newman on the Gloves staff of "third men."

Tickets may be obtained at the Dick Esser Ticket Agency in the Arcade building or at the entrance to the Khorassan Room. They are priced at $2 and $3.

Hawks Play Syracuse; Hagan Has Sore Back

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 23—St. Louis pride was at stake in previous games between the Hawks and the Syracuse Nationals. But now that the Hawks have clinched the season series, the Nats should be favored when the clubs meet in a National Basketball Association game here tonight.

St. Louis has the Western Division crown assured and is anxious to give key players as much rest as possible, while Syracuse is certain of a playoff spot, but could still nose out the Philadelphia Warriors for second place in the Eastern Division.

Cliff Hagan, who has a sore back, will definitely sit out tonight's game.

In earlier visits Hawk Coach Paul Seymour was anxious to beat the Nats because he had coached Syracuse for four seasons and was a player with the Nats for seven campaigns in addition to those in which he was coach. The fans, stirred up by newspaper stories, were eager to see their old favorite get shellacked.

In addition, the Nats are coached by Alex Hannum, the man who in 1937-38 led the Hawks to their only national championship. The Hawks' management would have been embarrassed if Hannum's team had bested Seymour's St. Louisans.

But the season series is safely in St. Louis hands. The Hawks have a 6-2 edge, with just two games remaining. A March 9 contest also will be in Syracuse.

Tomorrow night the Hawks will be in New York to play the Knicks at Madison Square Garden.

Bob Ferry Floored But Stars

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23 (AP)—Time is running out on the Cincinnati Royals in their quest for a National Basketball Association post-season playoff berth.

The Royals, last in the western division, lost ground to both the second-place Los Angeles Lakers and third-place Detroit Pistons last night. The first three finishers in each division qualify for the playoffs.

Cincinnati dropped a 132-131 decision to the Philadelphia Warriors in the opener of a double-header at Detroit. The Pistons then broke a seven-game losing streak in the second game, downing the New York Knicks, 123-117.

The Lakers kept pace with Detroit, whipping the Boston Celtics, 105-93, before 13,401 fans—the largest crowd to see a pro basketball game in Los Angeles.

As a result of the action, the Lakers remain a game ahead of Detroit and the Pistons are two games in front of Cincinnati. The Royals have only 8 games remaining while Los Angeles and Detroit have 10 left.

Philadelphia overcame a 130-125 deficit in the last two minutes, outscoring Cincinnati 7-1 in that span. A pair of free throws and a basket by rookie Al Attles in the sport helped sew it up for the Warriors.

Wilt Chamberlain paced Philadelphia with 41 points, 25 in the second half, and teammate Paul Arizin contributed 33. Oscar Robertson and Jack Twyman sparked the Royals with 39 and 34 points, respectively.

Bob Ferry's three-point play with two minutes left and the score tied at 113 put Detroit in front for good against New York. The game was enlivened by a scuffle between Ferry and the Knicks' Richie Guerin in the fourth quarter. Ferry was floored twice.

Gene Shue led the Pistons with 29 points, including six baskets in seven attempts in the final period.

Elgin Baylor's 38 points triggered the Lakers to only their second victory in 10 meetings with Boston's eastern division leaders. Baylor also snared 24 rebounds.

ground, including three seasons as pilot of La Salle College in Philadelphia, and a stint with the Lakers last year.

Ingo's Lost Moment

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C., Feb. 23—You could tell at a glance that promotion of the third Floyd Patterson-Johansson fight was in full swing at last, booming along under the sure, effective guidance of that matchless company of fumbler, Feature Sports, Inc. Bill Fugazy, president of F.S.I., flew from Miami Beach to New York to show slow motion movies of the second fight at a boxing writers' luncheon—and left the film at the airport.

This made it unfeasible to show the writers what they had seen last June, so Arthur Mercante, the man who tolled that altogether superfluous count of 10 over Johansson in the fifth round, told them what they had seen. Ingemar, the referee said, blew his title in the second round when he hurt Floyd but let him get away.

Up to a point, Mercante is correct. Johansson did land a heavy right that caught Floyd high, around the forehead or temple. The punch did daze Patterson, and for the next half minute or so he and his adversary waged total peace.

But if the Swede had moved in swiftly to press his advantage, would he have knocked Floyd out again or might he have got clipped then and there? Nobody knows, nor Johansson, nor Patterson, nor Mercante, nor any of us who were looking on, and we never will know. All we can do is reconstruct and speculate, in the immemorial manner of the fancy. It is always so with a big fight; for weeks the mob argues about what's going to happen, and immediately afterward starts arguing about what did happen.

Tale of Two Rights

Johansson has never tried to conceal or disguise his admiration for his own right hand. Before he ever turned it loose in this country he was talking about it in mystical terms, and when it destroyed Patterson in their first meeting it rose still higher in its owner's esteem.

From ringside Johansson seemed astonished and incredulous when Patterson stood up under the right in the rematch. It seemed that way to Floyd, too, or so he said in his dressing room. He said he saw a flicker of dismay in the Swede's eyes and rejoiced to see it, although the punch hurt. Johansson is a fighter of greater than ordinary discretion. We will never know whether it was habitual caution that stayed his hand after the blow landed, or amazement that Patterson didn't go down.

At any rate, Ingo didn't press the attack, and Floyd, drawing back, gained the time he needed to recover. In interviews since then, Floyd has dropped a remark or two that seemed to imply that his reaction to the punch was calculated, a deliberate and planned effort to lure Johansson into a trap. He hinted at nothing like that in his dressing room after the bout, however, nor did his Swedish, Cus D'Amato, who has been over and over into the dawn.

"I asked Floyd if he knew what was the difference between the right that caught him in the first fight and this one," D'Amato reported. "I said, 'You saw this one, and you never saw the first one. That's the only difference.'"

Puncher's Chance

There was a more important difference between the punches which D'Amato didn't bring up. The first was a bull's eye, the second a miss. One caught the jaw, the other landed high as Patterson started to duck. All this makes fuel for discussion, resolving nothing. Two points have been clearly established: (A) Both men are punchers; (B) both can be knocked out.

It would be foolish to suggest that Johansson couldn't knock Floyd loose from the heavy-weight championship on March 13, because he has proved that he owns a punch good enough to do exactly that. He needs only to put it in on target.

To be sure, except for that half minute in the second round, he never looked any part of a winner last June. Patterson outboxed and outfought him, and finished him off in a manner that cast some doubt on the quality of Ingo's chin. Left swings don't flatten fighters who can take a good punch, but swings left Ingo dazed for quite a while after the fight.

So that only proves that either man can win by a knockout. If either has any doubts of that, he has films to prove the point.

As we creep south toward the scene of battle, a dispatch from Miami advises that both fighters have movie cameras in camp, so that they can observe themselves in training and, presumably, correct technical errors. This strikes a note of fine technological authority, but unfortunately the films will show only how they operate against sparring partners, not against each other.

Machen Knocks Out Sawyer in Fifth; Rademacher Wins

Flanagan Victor On T.K.O.

STOCKTON, Calif., Feb. 23 (AP)—Eddie Machen of Portland last night scored a fifth round knockout over Garvin Sawyer of New York. Machen weighed 195, Sawyer 200.

Machen, No. 2 N.B.A. heavy-weight title contender, was in command throughout. At the end of the fourth round of the scheduled 10 Machen knocked Sawyer down with a hard left hook to the jaw and Sawyer was saved by the bell at the count of three.

Sawyer moved to his corner groggily and at the start of the fifth Machen swarmed out and bloodied Sawyer's nose with a left hook. He knocked Sawyer down with another left hook and Sawyer took a count of nine. Machen landed a straight right to the jaw and flattened Sawyer. Referee Pete Morelli raised Machen's hand and didn't bother to count.

Machen looked fast and sharp throughout. The taller Sawyer jabbed a little and threw a few punches but was outboxed.

Former Olympic champ Pete Rademacher, weighing 201½, Columbus, Ga., knocked out Harvey Taylor, 187, Los Angeles, in 2:48 of the first round last night in a bout at Yakima, Wash.

Rademacher, 31, leveled Taylor three times. On the first two, Taylor took the automatic eight count. Referee Pat McMurtry signaled the end of the fight the third time Taylor went down and ruled it a knockout.

Balding Pete had his speedier opponent outclassed from the start. The winner's record is now 13-3-1.

A crowd estimated at 4000 watched.

Del Flanagan, at 165½ pounds, St. Paul, scored a technical knockout over Ernie Smith, 162½, Pittsburgh, in the fifth round of a 10 round middleweight fight at Rochester, Minn., last night.

Flanagan, staging his latest comeback, looked sharp as he staggered Smith with a right hook to the jaw early in the fifth. The Irishman slammed Smith into a corner and pounded him until the fight was over.

Bonnies Have Won 98 Straight In Their Narrow 'Snake Pit'

OLEAN, N. Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—The basketball court in the Olean Armory, home-base for second-ranked St. Bonaventure, is regulation length and almost regulation width. But the shallow bleachers on the sides and the deep stands at the ends give it the appearance of a long hall.

There are several lights. They look like the kind you see over outdoor fire escapes.

This is no place for a driver unless he likes people. On a give-and-go down the middle, he lays up his shot and is instantly in the fourth row of spectators.

Smoking is not allowed. So at halftime, the entire crowd of 2000 pushes out into the small foyer and lights up. It gets kind of close, so somebody opens the front doors. This blows all the smoke back into the gym, and when the teams return to the floor the players need radar to find the bench.

The whole bit is painted a sickly green.

Got Him Over a Barrel

TERRY BROWNE, former world champion barrel-jumper, who will perform and race in Silver Skates Carnival at The Arena, March 5.

Barrel-Jumping Star To Perform, Race At Skates Carnival

By Neal Russo

Terry Browne, a daredevil on ice who is in no mood to swap his skates for soft slippers, will jump barrels and race at the Silver Skates Carnival on Sunday afternoon, March 5, it was announced today.

Browne, who had to interrupt his phoned entry because the alarm rang in his firehouse in Detroit, is 41 years old now but won the world barrel-jumping meet as recently as two years ago. He jumped 16 barrels then, spanning 28 feet 8 inches to share the world record with Leo LeBel of New York.

Jim Waldo of Minneapolis became the third to clear 16 barrels, when he won the 1961 world meet. Browne, who had held that title from 1951 through '54, was third this year.

Browne also will jump over the barrels backward and do a walk step over barrels.

"I started jumping with skates as a kid when we'd leap over park benches," Browne said, "but I didn't begin jumping seriously until 1941. Why try something as dangerous as this? Well, I had nothing to lose. I was going into the Army in two weeks anyway."

Browne has entered all four senior men's races in the Post-Dispatch-sponsored Silver Skates. As a sprinter, he hit his peak in 1948 when he missed making the Olympic team by a mere tenth of a second.

"I never got hurt jumping barrels, except for a few bruises, but missing the Olympic team sure broke my heart," said the luckless Irishman.

Taking advantage of the seven artificial outdoor rinks in Detroit, Browne won the North American outdoor speed-skating title once and tied for first twice. He was runner-up three times in the National Outdoor, won the Michigan outdoors crown nine times, took the state indoor title five times and tied for it three other times.

Browne, always interested in speed, ran the dashes on his high school track team, doing the 100 in 10.1 seconds. He made all-city in football as a halfback. Once he ran 86 yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass.

Why did this cool man on the ice warm up to a fireman's job? The desire for speed showed up again in his answer: "I always liked to rush to fires as a kid."

Terry and his wife Helen have one child, 13-year-old Janet Ann. "She was born when I was competing in a Chicago meet," Browne said. "And wouldn't you guess it, our second child is due the weekend of the Silver Skates here."

Aces Win Title

The Aces won the Neighborhood Association senior girls' volleyball championship. Members of the championship team are: Sue Azenhofer, Bonnie Burnett, Kate Cordes, Pat Dirkers, Sophia Czarniecki, Lucille Fox, Polly Rueckert, Dot Vonder Haar, and Kate Young.

The student body, in an effort to balance the situation, leans over backward to be fair and well-mannered, albeit loud.

The whole business is somewhat touchy. The Bonnies concede they have trouble getting tonight opponents for Armory games. There are plans afoot for a new field house. This, of course, would solve the problem. But it could create another one.

St. Bonaventure is not a member of a major conference. So its hard-won national reputation is based on the kind of independent schedule available only in a big city arena like Buffalo's.

Would a return to a campus gym, however posh, set back the clock of Bonaventure basketball? Fans wonder.

Beauchamp Fastest of Redbirds

HOMESTEAD, Fla., Feb. 23—

The accent definitely is on speed at the baseball Cardinals' early camp. Good examples are the speed of the pitches thrown by young prospects like Clint Stark and the fleetness shown by youths like Jim Beauchamp in yesterday's time trials on the bases.

Stark, celebrating his 19th birthday along with George Washington fans yesterday, smiled as he told of another example of speed.

"I was driving my new car—less than 24 hours old—to the airport," Stark related, "and you know about those Los Angeles freeways. Well, I had to stop because of an accident. When I did, someone plowed into the back of my brand-new car—$500 damage."

Stark, explaining why he signed with the Cardinals, pointed out that he had sized up the various major league park dimensions. For example, he discovered that Mel Parnell was the last successful lefthander with Fenway Park as his home port. Thus, Fenway was out. But Clint noted that Busch Stadium was a much safer spot for southpaws.

The hard-throwing blond from Anaheim, Calif., had a 12-11 record at Tulsa last season. He had a 3.77 earned-run mark and struck out 132 men in 186 innings.

Another rookie at camp, Beauchamp, proved the fastest Redbird in time trials conducted yesterday by Sonny Randle, running coach and football Cardinal star.

With each man given a five-yard running start to reduce the danger of pulled muscles, Beauchamp was clocked in 2.85 seconds and 3 seconds flat for 90 feet. Speedy Curt Flood was timed at 3.1 twice, Gary Kolb and Don Landrum were caught at 3.05 and 3.1, Julian Javier at 2.95 and 3 flat, Charley James 3.1 and 3.5, Bill White 3.1 and 3.2.

Surprisingly, Gene Oliver was clocked at 3.25 and 3.3. He has lost about five of the 17 extra pounds he started with at camp. Other times: Ray Sadecki 3.2 twice, Tim McCarver 3.2 and 3.1; Bob Miller 3.2 and 3.25; Jim Hickman, 3.25 and 3.3; Stark 3.3 and 3.35; Jerry Buchek 3.25 twice; Red Schoendienst 3.40 and 3.45.

Hal (The Turtle) Smith, timed in 3.4 twice, protested, saying, "They didn't stop the clock at the right time." Smith wasn't the slowpoke champion, however. That title went to Hal Deitz, pitcher who is not on the parent roster. Deitz was clocked at 3.5 and 3.6.

Unfortunately, no one had the watch on Landrum when he made the greatest run of the day. With the center fielder at bat, Javier loaded a large ripe tomato in the pitching machine. Landrum swung mightily, connected and wound up with a red face and a red uniform. Both Landrum and Javier reportedly threatened distance track records in the ensuing chase.

McKendree Loses; Lead Shifts 14 Times

MacMurray College defeated McKendree, 71-66, last night at Jacksonville in a hard-fought struggle that saw the lead shift 14 times.

MacMurray took a 56-65 lead with two minutes left and held it. McKendree led at halftime, 40-38.

Don Eddington, who first won by default from Ed Barlington of Morris, blasted Arnold McClain of Danville with a second round T.K.O. for the 126-pound open title, and was named the tournament's outstanding boxer. In addition, he won the Sportsmanship Trophy for stepping back to allow McClain to regain composure after being knocked into the ropes.

Brooks Atkinson

Two Superlative Acting Jobs on TV

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.

DESPITE THE APPALLING BANALITY of most video entertainment, TV occasionally provides superlative acting. "Superlative" here refers specifically to the acting of Edith Evans as the eccentric duchess in Anouilh's "Time Remembered" and Julie Harris as the reticent Catherine Sloper in "The Heiress," dramatized by Ruth and Augustus Goetz from a Henry James novel. Although both programs are now filed in the catacomb of good causes, they deserve a second note of appreciation, not only because of their excellence, but also because they illustrate an ironic situation.

BROOKS ATKINSON

Nothing on Broadway this season has provided civilized parts that could support such marvelous acting. In this country Miss Evans has never had such a rich part. On Broadway Miss Harris has not had such a good one since her Joan of Arc in Anouilh's "The Lark" in 1955. On the stage her talents have been wasted on trash like "The Warm Peninsula" in 1955. Although her acting in the TV "The Little Moon of Alban" was superb, "The Little Moon" sank when it was turned into a stage play last December.

Since "Time Remembered" and "The Heiress" originated in the theater and both actresses come from the theater, TV cannot be credited with having created something distinguished out of its own resources. TV made use of materials that were already available, under the luminous direction of George Schaefer and Marc Daniels, respectively. But that bookkeeping fact does not diminish the pleasure of seeing great acting brought into the home. Nor does it alter the unhappy fact that Broadway this season has not served any actor as handsomely as two TV adaptations served Miss Evans and Miss Harris.

There is an extra satisfaction in the case of Miss Evans. In her middle 70s she is recognized as one of England's great ladies. Although she has played in all sorts of parts, including revues, she is most celebrated for her immaculate characterizations in stylized comedies like those of Wilde and Congreve. She is the acknowledged mistress of the medium. In 1946 she was created Dame of the British Empire because of illustrious work in the theater.

But she has had no equivalent success in America. In 1934 she played an uproarious nurse to the Juliet of Katharine Cornell, much to everyone's delight. But "The Lady of the Lamp" (1931) and "Daphne Laureola" (1950) were not popular successes here.

Now in 1961 American TV has given her the opportunity to display before millions of TV viewers the expertness of her technique, the cultivated grace of her manner and the sparkle of her wit. It must have been a pleasant experience for her as well as us.

Since Miss Harris is one of our own, American audiences, both theater and TV, have had many opportunities to see her. On TV she has had several excellent parts—in "A Doll's House," and "Ethan Frome" as well as "The Lark." In the midst of a dull period it must have been stimulating to her to have a part as congenial as the disciplined spinster in "The Heiress." She was made for it: her odd personality, delicate features and somber voice suit it perfectly. Being a superbly gifted actress she transmutes personality into characters that are imagined. In everything Miss Harris does, the spirit is quick, bright and illuminating.

Special dramatic programs, like these two, are not popular with sponsors. Although the potential audience is numerically vast, it is a fraction of the audience that standard entertainment satisfies. A sponsor can bring his product to the attention of more people at less expense and with fewer risks by relying on the familiar banalities.

Since it takes courage as well as taste to sponsor dramatic programs of high artistic purpose, Hallmark for "Time Remembered" and Breck for "The Heiress" are entitled to recognition as public benefactors. They have replaced the fool's gold of routine entertainment with the pure gold of great acting.

Hollywood Gossip

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23.

AS IT COMES to nearly all of us, Gina Lollobrigida is on a weight-losing diet. . . . The former Mrs. Edward G. Gladys is still buying and selling paintings, but the big love of her life is granddaughter Francesca, daughter of son Edward Jr.

WELCOME TO CALIFORNIA, Roberta Sherwood. She is moving here from Florida with her three sons. The famed singer—protégé of Walter Winchell—will be kept busy in Hollywood with television shows and films. . . . Alan Ladd, who said he would never return to Europe to make pictures after his long-ago 18-month tax sojourn there, will stay in Rome for two more movies.

IS ROBERT YOUNG playing the real-life role of Grandfather Knows Best? His married daughter and her baby have been staying with him and mother Betty. Robert is taking a vacation from his "Father Knows Best" TV series to return to 20th Century-Fox for the sequel to "Sitting Pretty" with Clifton Webb and Maureen O'Hara.

Talking of television, when Connie Bennett checked into Desilu for a spot on the Ann Sothern show, everyone wanted to interview her. Connie used to be one of the most glamorous of movie stars and made headlines earning a $30,000-a-week salary, with an unknown-at-that-time leading man, name of Ray Milland.

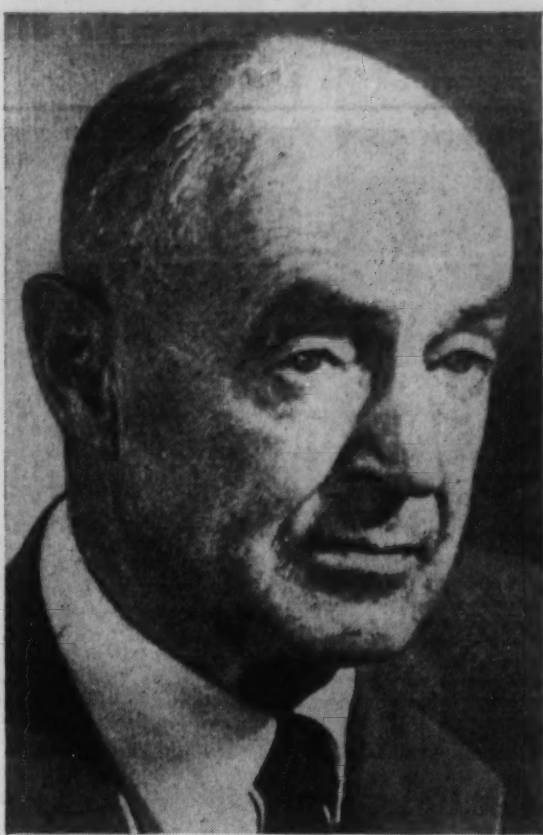

As for Ann Sothern, now a big business woman, she is interested in producing a series with Connie and John Emery. Ann will not act in it.

THE INGRID BERGMAN-Yves Montand-Tony Perkins starrer, "Goodbye Again," has a duplicate of the famed Maxim's restaurant in Paris. Director Anatole Litvak wanted complete authenticity, and his call sheet for the scene listed "30 couples, evening clothes, and 12 waiters, rude."

Rock Hudson drives an expensive car in "Come September." He wanted to buy a similar, convertible type, and went to the dealer. "Does the top work automatically?" he asked. "Why should it?" said the salesman. "The chauffeur does that."

WHEN FRANK SINATRA first zoomed to stardom, the girls who are now mothers and with young ladies of their own used to faint, remember? With Elvis Presley, the gals scream. Bobby has just signed a straight five-year contract with Liberty Records.

Man Who Built Toy for 10,000,000 Boys

The late A. C. GILBERT

By Jules Loh

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP). "ONE NIGHT I went up to the attic and messed around," wrote Stephen Smith of Gettysburg, Pa. "Then I saw a funny thing. I didn't know what it was."

"I opened it and it came to my mind it was an Erector set. When my father was a little boy he had an Erector."

"For Christmas I wished to have an Erector and a microscope and a lab set. And ever since then I did many things with both."

The youngster's letter, sincere if not altogether grammatical, didn't differ much from more than a million others written to A. C. Gilbert over the years, which shows that when he died Jan. 24 a part of American boyhood went with him.

With Gilbert's death, leadership of the company passed to his son, Alfred Carlton Gilbert Jr., who says he'll "make every effort to continue to create" the same type educational toys his father made famous.

In his later years, the elder Gilbert went to the office only three days a week and concerned himself mainly with choosing new toys to add to the existing line of 51 different sets in 11 science categories.

Among the new favorites are an electronics set with which boys can build transistor radios, burglar alarms and other gadgets; and a physics set which teaches the principles of hydraulics, thermodynamics and other scientific subjects modern boys are amazingly familiar with.

But none of Gilbert's inventions (he owned more than 150 patents) has had the success of the Erector—the original do-it-yourself gift that not only has occupied many a boyhood hour but also launched many an adult career.

"If you had read the hundreds of letters I have received from engineers who tell me their interest in their profession started with an Erector set," Gilbert once wrote, "you would know I had done something besides make money."

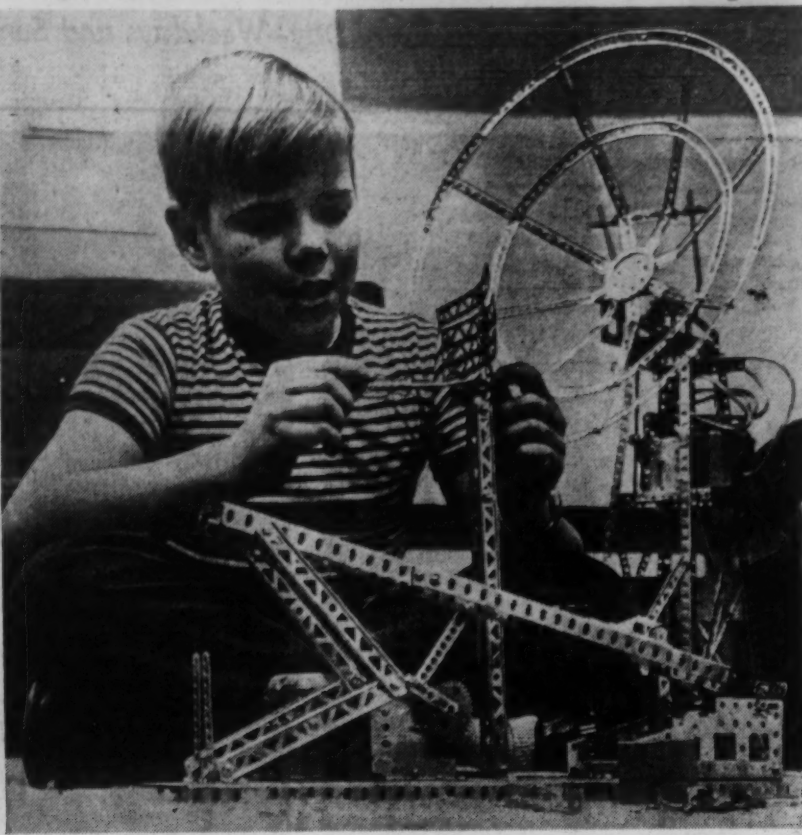

More than 10,000,000 boys have owned Erector sets, and who can say how many, like Stephen Smith, have added to the ones passed along to them by their fathers; because the thing hasn't changed a whit since A. C. Gilbert built the first one back in 1913.

Gilbert made friends through his other toys, to be sure, though company spokesmen say Erector represents "a substantial part" of its science toy business.

American Flyer electric trains account for one-third of the company's income and science toys two-thirds.

Gilbert insisted all his toys "had to do something." He would not allow his model airplane to remain motionless on a string. He put a rubber band in it and it flew—opening up a whole new hobby.

But no toy does more than the Erector, nor were its creations confined to the playroom. The prototype model of the dow seconds before he was about to demonstrate Salem's first parachute jump.

Gilbert was slightly built (5-foot-7 and 135 pounds in his prime) but was wiry and strong and took offense at biographers who described him as a "frail" boy.

In college he became captain of the track team, a star football quarterback and a wrestling champion. In 1908 he won the Olympic pole vaulting championship and set a world record (since broken).

When he decided he would like to become a physical education instructor he felt he should have a medical degree. He set out to get one at Yale, and helped pay his way by giving magic shows from a kit he had put together.

In 1909 he put on a demonstration in a variety store hoping to sell a few kits for Christmas money, and got orders for $600 worth.

"I sat right down and multiplied this figure by all the book stores, toy stores and department stores in the United States," he said, "and knew that I was soon going to be a millionaire."

The thought for the versatile Erector "seemed to come to me all of a sudden in the fall of 1911," said Gilbert, during a time when he was commuting by rail between New Haven and New York. Girders being put up to carry new electric cables gave him the idea.

It was a success from the beginning, which is the story of Gilbert's life.

He was born in Salem, Ore., Feb. 15, 1884, and tales from his adventurous boyhood read like a Mark Twain novel. The family barn was his haven, and was where his inventive knack began to bud.

He once rigged a fire house pole from the loft to the floor, for example, and the first kid to slide down landed on a lever which flung open the door. And one day his father, alerted by a gathering crowd, snatched young Alfred from an upper win-

Schoolmates Call Small Boy 'Shorty'

By Shirley Schraub

DEAR MRS. SCHRAUB: I could use some help. My son is quite small for his age. Both my husband and I are of normal height. The doctor says that some children just "shoot up" later than others and my son is probably one of those.

But the boys in school tease him unmercifully. They never use his name—they always call him "Shorty," "Peanut," "Squirt" or other such names. He hates it and is just miserable.

How can I help him understand that not all depends on height and not to let those names bother him so?

MRS. I. S. T.

Dear Mrs. T.: "Sticks and stones can break my bones, but names can never hurt me" is easier said than felt. Names can hurt deeply, too.

I think you should have a talk with the principal. He might give a short talk to the boys in question and, perhaps, all the other children, too (it wouldn't hurt for all to listen), on the subject of "It doesn't matter how we look outside—it's what we are inside that counts."

Tell your son the story of Napoleon—he was a "little guy who made good."

ROBERT JORDAN of Philadelphia won more master points in 1960 than anyone else and in doing so broke all previous records for one year by accumulating 871 points.

Master points are awarded by the American Contract Bridge League, in accordance with a set scale, to players who win or finish high in various national, regional and local tournaments conducted throughout the year by the A.C.B.L.

Jordan was South in the accompanying hand and was playing with Norman Kay, who finished second in the master point race last year with 779½ points. Their aggressive bidding style and close partnership co-operation are demonstrated in this deal.

Kay opened with a club on a hand which many players would pass. He had only 11 high-card points, but they were fortified by good distribution. Jordan couldn't find a convenient bid when East overcalled, and passed.

When West bid a no-trump, North and East passed, Jordan, having already limited his strength by passing, doubled. Kay realized that one no-trump doubled might be made (West would have made seven tricks with the normal spade lead) and felt obligated to take the double out.

But having no suit he could safely name, Kay cuebied the opponents's suit, diamonds, to force his partner to choose the suit. Jordan responded in his longest suit, spades, confident that Kay would have satisfactory support for spades.

West contested with three diamonds, which East would have made except that Jordan was unwilling to throw in the sponge so soon.

Jordan bid three spades, setting some kind of track record for rebidding his 9-8-5-4 suit. This became the final contract and Jordan ended by making 10 tricks for a good score.

West led a diamond. East took the ace and returned a low heart. The jack won the trick and a spade to the ten lost to the ace. Two rounds of trumps followed, after which Jordan took finesses in clubs and hearts, both succeeding, and lost, all told, two spades and a diamond.

They'll Do It Every Time

Jack Rice

Where Did Third Smith Brother Go?

A MAN SAID, "You mentioned the three bearded Smith brothers on the cough drop box. There are only two Smith brothers on the package. I take it you are slipping."

JACK RICE

Registered was his name. He was the brother on the far right.

The way I figure it Trade and Mark expanded and shoved Registered off the box I recalled from my childhood. I do not know what caused two Smith brothers to conduct themselves so toward their own flesh and beard but I hope it wasn't economic. I hope they did not go the way of licorice whips and shrink the product until there was only room on the box for two, and one brother had to go.

I'd rather hear there were only two Smith brothers all along and that I confused them with some other bearded family. The Gillette brothers, maybe. For once, it would be nice to be wrong and maybe I could convince myself I am wrong about the licorice shrinkage, too, but I doubt it. I have done too much research in licorice to be caught in error.

Licorice held a splendid position when I was a boy. Grown-ups did a double-take, wildly suspecting that this time the boy really might have chewing tobacco.

Some parents put out propaganda. They said licorice was made after-hours at the candy factory by the floor sweepers. They swept the floors and put the leavings into vats and it came out licorice.

I didn't believe the story then but I might now. I might believe the candy factories don't have the real good floors they used to have. Licorice has slipped woefully and is soft and chewy and does not come in hard plugs, like tobacco. The licorice whips are still made but there is no distance left in them.

My candy-buying uncle had a Model-T truck and a route of sorts. The part of the route I recall stopped at a candy store and proceeded from there to home, a distance of seven miles. He stopped at the candy store each day and bought me five licorice whips. Long licorice whips. So long that when we reached home I always had two licorice whips left, one for me and one for my sister. That was my way of going even with her. They don't make brothers like that any more, either.

Figure it out: Five licorice whips in a Model-T traveling 15 miles per hour. Total consumed on seven-mile trip, three licorice whips, or one licorice whip per 2.3 miles or per 9.3 minutes. I did more swallowing than chewing in those days, too.

Today, I buy five licorice whips at the grocery two miles from our house. When I reach home I have two whips left.

So what's different? Figure it out: five licorice whips in a '58 Chevrolet traveling 30 miles per hour. Total consumed on two-mile trip, three whips or one licorice whip per .66 mile or per 1.3 minutes. I got 1.7 more miles per licorice whip, and a full eight minutes more, from the old product than the shrunken new one. I also now must split the remaining two among myself and three children, instead of with one sister.

The point is, I don't appreciate being told that I am slipping because I threw in an extra Smith brother. For heaven's sake, the shape the world is in I'd think people would have more important criticisms. Instead of fussing about an added Smith brother tell me this: where did the missing licorice go?

Ann Landers

Their Dad Is Mean

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy 17 years old who doesn't know where else to go with his problem. It's my father.

ANN LANDERS

When business is bad (which is almost always) he is so mean to us kids that sometimes we think maybe we'd be better off if we left home.

We aren't perfect but we aren't as bad as he says, and we can't be in the wrong ALL the time. To listen to him he has never made a mistake in his whole life.

Mom can't help, so please don't suggest that she talk to him for us. She can't even talk to him for herself. He's very abrupt with her and I think she is as scared of him as we are. His bad temper is ruining our childhood. We are 14, 16 and 17. Please help.

Dear Bill: If you kids are 14, 16 and 17 your childhood is over. You'd better start to think in terms of adulthood. You aren't going to change your father's disposition. The best you can do is to try to understand it. When people are mean they are usually lashing out against the world because they are unhappy. Your dad probably feels that he is a failure and takes it out at home. Instead of holding a grudge against your dad, try to be especially nice to him and I'll bet his behavior improves.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why do I always wish that I had not said what I did—after it's too late? It doesn't matter whether it's a casual conversation over the back fence or a social function with several people listening. After I've spoken and think over what I've said (often many hours later) I realize I could have said it better—or worse yet—I ought not to have said it at all. Is there something wrong with me?

INFERIORITY COMPLEX.

Dear Complex: Your feelings of insecurity make you inordinately self-critical. It may be a comfort to know that every living man, woman and child experiences these same feelings from time to time. Relax, talk sense, and don't speak merely to combat the silence. Remember, a word once uttered, is like a dollar spent. It's gone.

'Life Is Just Beautiful' to Gertrude Berg

She's Here on Tour, a Grandmother Having Wonderful Time, With Career in Full Flower

CEDRIC HARDWICKE, GERTRUDE BERG and JOYCE FLYNN in a scene from the hit play, "A Majority of One," now at the American Theater.

By Virginia Irwin

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

TOURS MAY TAKE the starch out of some actresses. Not Gertrude Berg.

In "A Majority of One" now at the American Theater, Mrs. Berg plays the role of the Bronx widow who strikes up a ship-board romance with a very proper Japanese gentleman and winds up sipping sake and contemplating marriage in Yokohama. The play ran for 536 performances on Broadway, was a smash hit, and last August started on a cross-country tour. From now until June, Mrs. Berg and the play will be doing mostly one-night stands.

"Majority of One" gives Mrs. Berg a role that allows her full use of her talents which for 30 years made her a perennial favorite of radio and television followers of "The Goldbergs."

"I'm having the time of my life," the 60-year-old actress said. "The play is so wonderful I've never tired of it for a second. Life is just beautiful, thank God."

She is one of those incredible women who seem to grow younger with the years. For the role of Mrs. Jacoby in "Majority of One," she has lightened her black hair to a warm chestnut brown. She has the bounce and bubble of a woman half her age.

She has conquered radio, television and the legitimate stage but has no plans for retiring. Next October she will be back on network television with a new program, probably to be called "The Gertrude Berg Show."

Of her own conception, this show which she will write with her son, Cherney Berg, and another writer, will place Mrs. Berg in another grandmother role. She'll play a woman of advancing years who decides to fill the gaps in her education and goes back to college, much to the consternation of the faculty but to the delight of the student body.

Cedric Hardwicke, who plays the role of the Japanese gentleman in "Majority of One" and who learns to love chopped chicken liver while under the spell of Mrs. Jacoby's charms, will play the professor in the new TV series. He finds grandma Berg much more interesting than the cutest co-ed.

"In real life I'm a grandmother five times," Mrs. Berg beams. "My son has one boy and my daughter has three boys and a girl. Because I'm a busy grandmother I don't have time to get in my family's hair. All I ask is that they call on me when they need me. I'll see the family for the second Passover feast. There'll be a break in the tour then for a few days and we'll be able to all be together just like we have always been on Passover."

MRS. BERG as Molly Goldberg, her famous role on radio and television.

The family seder will be at Mrs. Berg's delightful home at Bedford Hills, in Westchester county, N.Y., which she has furnished with a notable collection of Early American furniture.

The story of Gertrude Berg who has come to be loved by millions began many years ago when the stage-struck girl was putting on amateur theatricals at a family resort hotel father owned in the Catskills. She temporarily gave up her dreams of theatrical fame when she married a promising young chemical engineer, Lewis Berg.

"Then everything happened at once," Mrs. Berg explained when this reporter first interviewed her years ago. "My father lost his hotel. My mother was sick and the doctor bills were piling up. The sugar refinery where my husband worked as an engineer burned down. I had a new baby and the rent wasn't paid."

Without knowing the first fine point of the radio business, she turned out a radio script and tried to peddle it. The radio executive whom she conned into reading the script found it an illegible mess of scribbling and asked her to read it to him. She did and with the wonderful inflections, gestures and asides which have since brought her fame. The executive knew a good script and a good actress when he saw them.

In 1929 "The Goldbergs" began a series that was to run for 22 years on radio and eight on TV. Lovable, philosophical Molly Goldberg was a favorite character of doctors, ministers, psychiatrists, priests, rabbis, educators and just plain folks. Once when Mrs. Berg was too ill to go on the air a substitute played Molly Goldberg and 11,000 listeners telephoned or wrote the broadcasting studio voicing concern over her health.

Incidents from her own life and those of her friends long served as inspiration for Mrs. Berg's TV and radio scripts. She was a familiar figure in New York's Lower East Side pushcart markets where she found and treasured the wonderful idiomatic expressions that put sparkle in her scripts.

In 1947 she appeared on Broadway in "Me and Molly," a play she wrote based on her radio characters. In 1950 she made the motion picture "Molly" for Paramount. She also created and appeared in a radio program "House of Glass" for NBC.

When "The Goldbergs" finally went off TV, Mrs. Berg was in demand for personal appearances, and became a familiar figure on such programs as the Milton Berle and Perry Como shows.

Now, in addition to the new TV program in which she will star, Mrs. Berg has another play ready for Broadway. Producers want it, and all Mrs. Berg has to do is find the time to star in it.

Success has not taken from Gertrude Berg the warmth that millions of her fans have felt. After all her years of fame, she still treasures three letters from among the hundreds of thousands sent her in the course of her career.

One reads: "My son is to be Bar Mitzvah in two weeks and would appreciate very much if you will send the speech your son Sammy delivered at his confirmation. (Sammy was her TV son in the Goldberg series). The second was from the Mother Superior of a convent: "One of the pleasures that the Sisters have given up for Lent is listening to the Goldbergs. We would all be very grateful, however, if you would send us the programs we missed—after Lent." The third was from a Nazi-persecuted refugee from Germany who asked, "Could I believe my ears that in this country there are Goldbergs on the radio? Coming from Germany, I could not believe to hear such a program."

Morse, 25 Beacon Hill, Creve Coeur, will leave St. Louis Monday by motor for Miami, Fla., to spend a few days. Mr. Morse plans to fly to the resort later in the week. The St. Louisans will fly to Eleuthera March 5 and will stay at French Leaven, a resort on the smart "out island."

Mr. and Mrs. David Randolph Calhoun, 58 Kingsbury place, have returned from a visit in the South. They were guests of Louis Maytag of Colorado Springs for quail shooting on his plantation near Union Spring, Ala. Later they went to Albany, Ga., to be with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Thomas, 609 South Watson road, Ladue, at the Thomases' plantation. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas remained at their Georgia home for a longer stay.

Mrs. Newell A. Augur, 6450 Ellenwood avenue, returned Monday from a visit in New York. She was joined there by her sons, Newell A. Jr., a student at Columbia University School of Medicine, and Harrison Augur, a freshman at Yale University. Mrs. Augur's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hitchcock, Chesterfield, are on a Mediterranean cruise. They are expected to return to St. Louis early next month.

Mrs. Paul Fusz Ring, 1112 Center drive, Hampton Park, Richmond Heights, and her debutante daughter, Miss Kathleen, departed Monday for Greenwich, Conn., to visit Mrs. Ring's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Former St. Louisan Wins Prize in East

"LONG, FULL-SKIRTED DRESSES swirled gracefully" as participants in the most recent meeting of Boston's Waltz Evening danced for hours at the Sheraton-Plaza, according to an account of the party published in a Boston newspaper.

The popularity of Waltz Evening, an organization made up mainly of young married couples, is evidence, said the writer, that the waltz, frowned on by the very young who have replaced it with fast tempo rock 'n' roll and its ilk, has made a comeback. At least in Boston.

A contest for prizes is held at each party and in May there is to be competition for a silver cup. Waltz Evening highlights Boston's social calendar and membership is sought by men and women who enjoy dancing to music by Strauss and Waldteufel. A similar organization, copied from the one in Boston, has been started in New York.

Prize winners at the Boston party, postponed to late January because of the previous heavy snow storm, included Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright Johnson Wainwright, who had just returned from Jamaica. For three weeks they visited friends whose island home is near the sea.

Mrs. Wainwright, the former Miss Jane Blackmer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Guy Blackmer, 5642 Kingsbury boulevard.

Mr. Blackmer is preparing for his eightieth birthday celebration. On Sunday he will be guest of honor, along with 11 former presidents of the Artists' Guild, at a pink champagne luncheon in the guild crypt. The following Sunday, March 5, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Albert E. Blackmer, of 205 Blackmer place, Webster Groves, will have a family party.

Pre-Wedding Parties for Miss Einstein.

COMPLETING A SERIES of pre-wedding parties for Miss Judith Einstein, who will be married Saturday evening to Edward Neisser, will be a dinner tomorrow night and a luncheon the day of the wedding. The prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Neisser, Highland Park, Ill., will be host and hostess tomorrow at the dinner in the Tiana Room of the Park Plaza Hotel. Saturday's party, at which the many out-of-town guests will be entertained, will be given by Miss Einstein's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lewis, at the same hotel.

The ceremony will be performed at 7 o'clock by Rabbi Julius J. Nodel at Westwood Country Club. Afterward Miss Einstein's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Major B. Einstein of the Frontenac, 40 North Kingshighway, will entertain guests at a reception at the club.

Parties in Honor of Miss Drum

MISS MARGARET ANN DRUM, who will be married March 18 to Elliott William Bergfeld Jr., has added a flower girl to her previously announced wedding party. She is Kathleen Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Wagner, 41 Log Cabin drive, Ladue.

Miss Drum, daughter of Mrs. Clarence G. Drum, 1412 Spode road, Frontenac, and the late Dr. Drum, has been honored at numerous parties. In addition to those already listed, a luncheon and shower were given by Mrs. William Duncan Thompson at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Jones, 23 Picardy lane, Ladue.

Another shower has been planned by Mrs. Walter H. Alf, 15 Chapel Hill, St. Louis county. The party will take place tomorrow. Miss Suzanne Chapman, one of Miss Drum's bridesmaids, will give a party in June when she returns to St. Louis after graduating from Vassar College.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. W. Davidson McDowell at Ladue Chapel at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Later guests will be entertained at a reception at the church and the bridal party will be served dinner at the Drum home. Mr. Bergfeld is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott William Bergfeld of the Montclair Apartments.

MRS. F. WILLIAM HUMAN has been named chairman of the alumnae tea honoring the senior class of Webster College. The tea will take place March 5 at her home, 501 West Polo drive, Clayton. The party is given each spring to welcome the seniors into the Webster College Alumnae Association. Mrs. John J. Anton, 1423 Azalea drive, Webster Groves, is president of the association.

To Attend Ball

MISS LUCETTA ANN GARDNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers Gardner, who will be a guest of honor at mid-winter festivities at the University of Virginia this weekend. She attends Sweetbriar College.

Janet Robinson Is Married to K. O. Peterson

OF INTEREST is the wedding, Jan. 28, in Roswell, N.M., of Miss Janet Spencer Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rowan Spencer Robinson, and Kenneth Otto Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peterson of Mountain View, Calif.

The bride, whose family has long been identified with Kirkwood, is the niece of Richard W. and Spencer H. Robinson.

The wedding, which was attended by the families and a few close friends, took place at St. Peters Catholic Church. Miss Anne Robinson was her sister's only attendant. Henry Mwalde of San Jose, N.M., was best man. Rowan Robinson Jr. served as an altar boy.

There was a breakfast afterward at the Robinson home.

Attending from here were Mrs. Robinson's two brothers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Corwin H. von Brecht and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest G. von Brecht. The bride's cousin, William Grey, whose mother is the former Anne Robinson, came from his home in Yakima, Wash.

Martha Carr's

OPINION

It's Up to the Wearer.

Dear Martha:
DO YOU THINK it is all right for a woman built pretty large to wear a bouffant slip? I am in my 40s and I think I look all right in them. I love to wear them but wonder if I'm not a little old for them. I have always believed in wearing what I wanted, regardless. Now I guess I'm getting self-conscious.

give up your crinoline. There's no moral issue involved so do as you please.

Dear Martha Carr:

THERE WAS A LETTER in your column recently about a TV travel film showing some natives in a natural. I agree heartily with your answer that this film was not filthy. It was very educational and these natives are no more animals than our own people. Why didn't you tell this man that every TV set has numerous knobs? One knob will shut it off completely; another will turn it to a different channel where the show is probably loaded with so-called moral people who are generally half-dressed and sometimes not even half. If he doesn't like this type of program tell him to leave it to the children whose young clean minds can understand that this is just another part of the world and the ways of another kind of people whose morals are probably much higher than ours.

M. M. C.

Dear Martha:
I SAW THAT LETTER about the old lady who loves helping others. I think she must be a wonderful and happy person. I have a lot of free time and a car and I would like to get acquainted with her and start doing the same things she has been doing for others. I would be glad to take her in my car so she wouldn't have to ride buses to the people she does things for. There should be more people in the world like this lady and this includes myself. I'd like to take your advice and start doing for others if I just knew how to get started at it.

MRS. O.
This column does not arrange personal contacts but you could start right this week doing for others if you will call the United Cerebral Palsy Association, Parkway 5-8853. This agency needs volunteers to provide transportation for cerebral palsied persons who would like to attend the Youth and Adult Center Program in the Church of the Ascension but cannot use public transportation because of their affliction. Here's your chance; and I know you'll be happy doing your bit for others who need you.

Dear Martha:
IN ANSWER TO a "Loyal Fan" who reported an unbearable situation existing in a ladies' ready-to-wear store in St. Louis county where women work 13 hours a day, six days a week for a miserable $40. I would suggest that she contact the Retail Store Employees Union. I am also employed in the retail field. I earn $89 a week for 40 hours, plus paid vacations, holidays, and various other benefits. In case you do not know, unions are made up of people such as "Loyal Fan" who individually cannot take care of themselves.

Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for Martha's leaflets, "Names for the New Baby" and "Prayers and Graces to be Said at Table."

Causes of Infarction

DEAR DR. MOLNER: Please explain pulmonary infarction. Can it be caused by pneumonia? Also, what is generalized arteriosclerosis?

body, and cause an infarction—in the leg or the pelvic region, for instance.

Pneumonia can be a cause of pulmonary infarction. Generalized arteriosclerosis may well have a bearing on an infarction, too. In fact, it is quite likely to be involved to some extent. Arteriosclerosis means hardening of the arteries. When it is prevalent throughout the body, then we say it is generalized.

As the arteries become hardened and lose some of their elasticity, they no longer can pass small clots as readily. In this state, they usually become somewhat caked with fatty material, further obstructing the blood's passage through them.

In the above letter, the mention of the two things, pneumonia and arteriosclerosis, would seem to indicate that the patient in question had both, and the infarction followed. The infarction could have been caused by either condition alone. However, the probability is that they worked together to cause the infarction.

Something to always keep in mind in safeguarding our health, is that while one particular thing can cause a certain type of injury, in most cases several factors more than likely will unite to do the mischief.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Dispatch for his booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," including with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Bill Vaughan Says

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S advisers say that the Eisenhower budget surplus was only imaginary. The same, unfortunately, cannot be said for the wheat surplus.

THE FLOW OF WATER over Niagara Falls can be regulated under the new power setup. Think of the responsibility of the man who has to remember to turn Niagara Falls on and off!

THE DIFFERENCE between the Kennedy and Eisenhower view of the nation's finances bears a strong resemblance to the difference between the bank and us as to what our balance is.

Some Rich Desserts From Britain

By Hoyt Alden

WHEN PEOPLE START dieting the first thing they think of giving up is dessert. One of these days we're going to look around and wonder what ever became of dessert.

I'm sure, however, there will always be a small band of sturdy souls who refuse to be intimidated into dieting, and it is for them that we write today. And when I speak of desserts, I mean desserts.

Right now, for instance, I am thinking with a great deal of pleasure of one of my favorites, the trifle. You can say what you want about English cooking, and there is much to be said on the subject, but one thing about the English, they know a dessert when they see one.

The English not only came up with the trifle, but they also are credited with the fool. Some perfectionists probably will point out that the fools came to England with the Norman conquest, and that they were originally spelled fouilles. But the fact remains that they are famous in England and you would have a hard time getting one in France.

However, to get back to the subject of trifles, there are, of course, variations. But the basic idea is sponge cake or lady fingers, custard, whipped cream and usually jam. The richer the better.

HERE'S A RECIPE for a Devonshire trifle, one of the best:

First the pudding. You can, of course, use prefabricated pudding, if you want to be that way. But if you're particular you'll start by beating five eggs slightly. Then heat three cups of milk in a double boiler and stir in eight tablespoons of sugar. Then pour the milk and sugar over the beaten eggs and stir them well and then put the mixture back in the double boiler and stir and cook until it thickens. Stir in two tablespoons of vanilla, then set it aside to cool.

For the foundation you can use either sponge cake or lady fingers, split them longwise, spread them with raspberry jam and put them together again. If you use sponge cake, cut it in slices, cut the slices in half longwise, spread them with jam and put the slices together in finger lengths.

Place a layer of these in the bottom of a glass dish. You can also line the sides of the dish; it's a matter of choice. Then pour over them a half cup of sherry, or a half cup of sherry and rum mixed. Cover with a layer of custard, then a layer of lady fingers, until you have three or four layers. Between layers sprinkle a few blanched almonds and then sprinkle some almonds on top.

Put the dish in the refrigerator for a few hours. When you're ready to serve, top it generously with whipped cream, stud it with almonds and candied cherries.

ANOTHER VARIATION of the same dish is made by using macaroons and vanilla wafers instead of cake or lady fingers. Crumble eight or 10 macaroons in the bottom of the dish, and line the sides with vanilla wafers.

And yet another variation is made without the pudding, like this:

Take a glass dish and fill it one-third full with broken sponge cake or lady fingers. Pour on, a little at a time, a mixture of four parts of milk to one of sherry—only as much as the cake will absorb. It should be saturated but not runny.

On this spread a half-inch layer of raspberry jam. On this spread a thick layer of whipped cream. Chill for three or four hours. Decorate it, if you like, with almonds and cherries.

THE FOOL IS a simpler dish but it's also delicious. It originated back in the days before the law decided how thick we could have our cream, and was made originally with heavy, clotted fresh cream. But those days are gone, so now we make it with whipped cream, whipped fool with frozen fruits. Thaw them and proceed as above.

To make apricot fool, soak dried apricots in water overnight. Stew them until they're tender, drain them. Then add half their weight in sugar and run them through the sieve. Chill and then mix in half as much cream as you have apricots.

IF YOU HAVEN'T already started for the kitchen, consider this rum cake, a delicious dessert:

First the filling, which is called zabaglione, and which is made like this:

Break eight egg yolks into the top of a double boiler and add eight level teaspoons of sugar. Beat it until it is pale lemon in color. Now add eight half eggshells of Marsala sherry. Give it another good beating. Put it on boiling water and cook it until it begins to thicken, stirring all the time. But DON'T let it boil.

Now take a sponge cake some 10 or 12 inches in diameter and slice it in three layers horizontally. Put the first layer on a plate and pour a third of a cup of sweet rum over it. Cover it with one third of the custard. Put on another layer of cake, soak and spread it with custard. Then the top layer. Soak it with rum, cover it and the whole cake with custard. Put it in the refrigerator.

You can eat it that way, or you can go a step farther—whip a half pint of cream, spread it on the sides and top and then scatter on a half cup of chopped, glazed fruit.

Uncle Ray's Column
Building the Pyramids

Uncle Ray awards a set of the World Book Encyclopedia to the sixth grade, Dwight School, Hartford, Conn. Classes of public, parochial and private schools are invited to send questions about science, history, biography or geography to Uncle Ray in care of the Post-Dispatch. Teachers of fourth through twelfth grade should select the best five questions from each class. For the best groups of questions, Uncle Ray will award 20-volume sets of The World Book Encyclopedia.

By Ramon Coffman

QUESTIONS ABOUT the pyramids of Egypt have been asked by a school class. Miss Patricia Dimmock, the teacher tells me that 35 pupils helped to frame these questions.

Q. How many slaves were required to build the Great Pyramid?

A. Exact records have been lost, but we have a statement left by a Greek traveler who lived 2300 years ago. He asked Egyptian priests the same question, and was told that "100,000 men labored constantly."

There is doubt that such a vast number of men were at work "constantly." There may have been many slaves among the workmen, but probably also many hired laborers.

It is likely that Negro slaves played a part in the mighty task. Egyptian armies made war on the dark-skinned natives of the Sudan area, and turned some of the captives into slaves.

Q. What happened if a pharaoh died before his pyramid was finished?

A. In that case, the best hope was that the next ruler would put the coffin in a safe place while the pyramid was being completed.

The "pyramid age in Egypt" lasted hardly 1000 years. During that period, it was the custom for each new pharaoh, or king, to set men to working on his pyramid at the opening of his reign. This was done by Khufu (called "Cheops" by Greek visitors) and we are told that 30 years passed before the Great Pyramid was finished. Khufu was alive after the completion.

Q. After a pyramid was completed, what was done to the slaves that helped to build it?

A. Tales have been told about "pyramid slaves" being put to death to keep the public from learning the secret of the location of the royal coffin. This may have happened to small numbers of slaves, but we are without good proof.
